State Will Spend $27,500 to Fix Underpass Drain

Mayor and City Engineer Authorized to Negotiate for Needed Easements —Will Build Drainage Line

The Board of Public Works yesterday moved to correct defects in the drainage system of the Broadway underpass which have caused flooded conditions during heavy rains.

Mayor Frederick H. Stang and City Engineer Arthur F. Hallinan were authorized to negotiate for easements on two properties after Hallinan announced that the state is prepared to let a contract for the project which will cost an estimated $27,500, all of which is to be paid by the state.

A drainage line is to be built from the 18-inch storm drain at the underpass to the 24-inch line in Jacob's Valley and easements will be necessary over lands of the Edward T. McGill Corp., and the Jelico Realty Co., Inc., on Susan street. Strips of property 10 feet wide will be required over these lands, the engineer said.

Will Separate Flows

The project will separate the storm and sanitary sewer flows at the underpass and the manhole covers in the underpass will be locked fast. These remedial steps along with other phases of the project will eliminate such floods in the underpass as have occurred several times since completion of the grade separation project.

Plans for the project were prepared for the state by the city engineer. The only cost to the city, if any, would be for easements. It is expected that the state will advertise for bids soon after easements are acquired.

The board delayed action on a proposal of the F. A. Bartlett Tree Expert Co., of Stamford, Conn., to prune trees in the city parks, and it was decided that the Mayor and Ernest A Steuding, public works superintendent, should confer with a Lions Club committee to determine details of the club's plan for a tree-spraying project in the city

The Bartlett company, in a letter, said it would do the pruning of park trees during the period between Feb. 12 and March 20 at $3 an hour per man.

Steuding said the cost to the city would be $12,715 and no city money had been designated for such purposes. He thought the proposal should be tabled pending further study. The project to be discussed with the Lions Club would deal only with spraying.

Proposal Sanctioned

A proposal for acceptance of a deed for extension of Fairmont avenue from Miller's Lane into Hillcrest Gardens, already approved by the city planning board, was sanctioned by the board on recommendation of City Engineer Arthur F. Hallinan.

A request by seven property owners for storm and sanitary sewers, curbing sidewalks and pavement between the railroad crossing and the end of South Pine street, was referred to the city engineer. The petition was submitted by Alderman Charles J. Cole, of the 13th ward. The owners would pay 75 and the city 25 per cent of the cost, under the usual city regulations.

It was decided to add to the regular street construction program the repair of defective grading on a section of Park street. The proposal had been submitted previously to the Common Council with a detailed report by City Engineer Hallinan.

Referred to Whitbeck

An order from Central Hudson Gas & Electric Corp., for replacement of a 100 candle power light at Wrentham street and Clarendon avenue with a 250 light was referred to Commissioner Raymond L. Whitbeck of the light committee.

Also referred to Whitbeck were requests from aldermen for im-

Trucking Concern Buys Barrel Plant

Rupps Will Use Building as Kingston Terminal After Changes

The former American Cooperage plant on Bruyn avenue and Cornell street has been purchased by the Rupp Trucking Company, Inc., and after alterations have been completed a portion of the plant will be used as a Kingston terminal for the trucking concern, Abe Novig, president, announced yesterday.

Novig, a former Kingston resident who operated a news service here prior to engaging in the trucking business, said the large two-story brick portion of the plant containing some 22,000 square feet of space would be leased for manufacturing purposes while the trucking concern

Troopers, Vassar Hospital Officials Help to Save Life

Team work by Highland state police and Vassar Hospital authorities in Poughkeepsie enabled physicians to treat, apparently successfully, a Kingston Hospital patient whose life was in danger Wednesday night, Dr. Herbert Derman, director of the Kingston City Laboratory revealed today.

Laboratory technicians were called upon for a rare type blood from group AB Rh-negative for a young mother whose condition took a turn for the worse.

When the Kingston blood bank's small supply of the rare type was exhausted, the laboratory contacted Vassar Hospital and was offered three pints.

Delivers Blood

A call to the state police Highland barracks enlisted the services of troopers, and Dr. Derman was told to call Vassar Hospital to have the blood containers ready by the front door, as a patrol car was already on the road and could be contacted by radio. This Dr. Derman did, and well within the hour after the first call to Vassar was made, Trooper Michael Lisman walked in the Kingston laboratory door with the needed blood, Dr. Derman reported.

Reports this morning indicated that the patient's condition was satisfactory and that the first blood administered from the local supply enabled her to hold her own until the additional supply from Poughkeepsie arrived, Dr. Derman said. The patient's name was not revealed.

Arsenault Names Trio As GE Reds

One of Three Charged Is of Opinion McCarthy Operates Klan Probe at Albany

Albany, Feb. 19 (AP)—A self-styled ex-Communist today identified three men to Sen. McCarthy as former members of a Communist cell at the General Electric plant in Schenectady, and one of the three charged that the senator was operating a Fascist Ku Klux Klan investigation.

Jean Arsenault, Jr., 26, who said he had been Albany correspondent for the Daily Worker, said a cell of about 15 workers had been active at the huge plant.

McCarthy, sitting as a one man Senate Investigations Subcommittee, promptly called all three to the stand. Each refused, invoking constitutional privileges, to say whether Arsenault's charges were true.

'Damnable Liar'

One of the three, Arthur Lee Owens of Schenectady shouted from the witness stand that he would tell a truly American investigation that Arsenault was "a damnable liar." But Owens declined to testify before McCarthy.

Lunging to his feet and pounding the witness table, Owens shouted, "I feel that before this Fascist committee I have no privileges."

Owens, a negro, challenged McCarthy to "persecute" people who, Owens said, were depriving the negroes of their rights. "These people are the enemies of America," Owens declared.

In a statement that was not admitted to testimony, Owens charged that the American constitution was being sabotaged by Jim Crow laws, "brutal violence and lynching."

Spectator Applauds

As Owens spoke, a spectator, Louis Altieri, a GE worker from Schenectady, applauded vigorously. McCarthy promptly ordered him to take an oath as a witness, but Altieri declined on the ground that he had not been served with a subpoena.

McCarthy said Altieri could return with a lawyer. If he still refused to be sworn, the senator said, Altieri would be cited to the Senate on a charge of contempt.

Arsenault said he himself had been a member of the Communist party from the summer of 1949 to February, 1952, then broke with the party and "worked with the FBI."

McCarthy declined to say where Arsenault now was living or where he had come from originally.

The other two men Arsenault named as Communists were Sidney Friedlander, a member of the executive board of the United Electrical Workers Union (Ind.) in Schenectady, and Robert P. Northrop, a member of the union's Schenectady Local 301.

Arsenault said he had attended party meetings at both their homes.

Friedlander and Northrop, who had been subpoenaed for the hearing, were called to the stand immediately. Both refused to say whether Arsenault's statements were true. They invoked the Fifth Amendment, under which a witness may refuse to testify on the ground he might be incriminated.

Arsenault said that while he was employed at the GE works in Schenectady he knew about 15 employes who were members of the Communist party and made up a GE cell. Some, he added, still are employed at the plant.

Two Are Arrested As Drunk Drivers; No Examinations

Two Sergeants Try to Get Physicians Without Success; One Man Fined $75

An example of what can happen when the police department has no assigned physicians came twofold yesterday and today when two men were arrested on charges of driving while intoxicated.

One driver was arrested late yesterday afternoon when the car he was driving allegedly struck a police patrol car on Washington avenue, and the other was arrested early today when the car he drove struck a light pole on the Broadway hill below Stuyvesant street.

Neither driver was examined by a physician. Sgt. Charles Hoehing noted on the police blotter that he "gave up trying to get a doctor" after several calls following the arrest yesterday and Sgt. Lemuel Howard noted that "no examination by a doctor" was made following the other arrest. Two police physicians recently gave notice of their resignations and others called apparently considered it unethical at this time to respond to such calls.

General Motors Is Employing More

Company Also Says Many Plants on Overtime —Sales Level High

Detroit, Feb. 19 (AP) — General Motors says its scores of thousands of hourly employes are working "more than 40 hours per week on the average."

The company also says it has 30,000 more persons on the payroll in the United States than it had at this time last year and that many of its plants are working overtime.

Reduced work weeks in some assembly are expected to be temporary, the company said.

The corporation made the statement yesterday in a comment on its labor lineup after the CIO United Auto Workers had complained over what they called GM's "short work weeks — or share the work schedules."

The union, in a letter to GM President Harlow H. Curtice, asked the company to readjust schedules in order to provide "40-hour work weeks for regular employes."

It complained over what it called "widespread short work weeks" for regular workers. The union said GM at the same time has hired new employes and instituted second shifts in some plants.

"This is causing a sharing of the misery," said the union.

Close to Year Ago

New York, Feb. 19 (AP) — Retail sales in the week ended Wednesday ran a little below the preceding week's high level but remained close to the record pace of a year ago, Dun & Bradstreet reported today.

Installment buying was down somewhat from levels of early 1953 but the amount of outstanding consumer credit stood considerably above a year ago. However, there was no noticeable slowness in collections.

Dun & Bradstreet estimated the total dollar volume to be from one per cent below to three per cent above the corresponding level of a year ago. Regional estimates varied from levels of a year ago by the following percentages: New England, up two to six; east and Pacific coast, down two to up two; south, up one to five; southwest, down three to up one, and northwest, unchanged to up four.

Firemen were called at 1:15 p. m., today to quench a grass fire at Spring and Hudson streets.

State Thruway Will Pass Close to Wallkill River Span in Rifton Area

Local interests are still determined to preserve Ulster county's historic covered wooden bridge across the Wallkill river between the towns of Esopus and Rosendale.

The century-old bridge, known as Perrine's Bridge, is generally conceded to be New York state's oldest covered bridge of its type. For 20 years it has been closed to vehicular traffic, and during that time there have been several movements to keep the bridge as a historic monument.

Renewed interest in the structure came about as a result of the construction of the New York State Thruway, which will pass between Perrine's Bridge and the iron structure that replaced it when Route 32 was re-located in the 1930's.

Will Be Close to Span

The thruway will cross the river about 150 feet from the covered bridge, placing it within sight of an expected thousands of motorists who will use the thruway when it is completed. At the same time, construction of the thruway, with accompanying blasting, threatened to collapse the structure, weakened by age.

Parents Warned Against Dangers Of Local Quarry

City Engineer Reports No Adequate Means to Protect Completely the Public

Mayor Frederick H. Stang yesterday called upon parents residing in the area of the abandoned quarry west of The High Road to cooperate with city officials and the police in efforts to keep children away from the area where a nine-year-old boy plunged 125 feet into a rock crevice Feb. 5.

Dangers of the quarry area were stressed at a meeting of the Board of Public Works yesterday, where it was found that no completely effective move could be made by the city to block it off from the public.

Stuart Werner, 9, son of Mr. and Mrs. Abraham Werner of 23 Chambers street, who had been playing with others in the quarry Feb. 5, fell into the crevice and was rescued by local police and firemen. He was hospitalized for injuries at Kingston Hospital from where he was discharged Feb. 11.

Engineer Gives Report

City Engineer Arthur F. Hallinan's report to the BPW yesterday indicated that the city was at loss to devise a plan that would completely protect the public from the dangers of the area.

In Hallinan's opinion there is "no practical fool-proof method of preventing persons who are bent on suicide "from entering the quarry section. He proposed that

Korea Talk Deadlock Is By-Passed

Exchange of Views Also to Be Held on Arms Situation; Vietnamese in Agreement

Berlin, Feb. 19 (AP)—The Big Four foreign ministers headed home from their Berlin meeting today to prepare for another conference in two months—this time to seek peace in Korea and Indochina. They wrote off any chance of agreement on European problems for the present.

The deadlock at Panmunjom was by-passed by the decision yesterday to open the long-debated Korean peace conference in Geneva April 26 with Red China among the nations to participate, not as a sponsor but by invitation. The ministers agreed the problem of ending the seven-year-old war in Indochina "shall also be discussed" at the conference.

The top diplomats of the United States, Britain, France and Russia promised also to "hold an exchange of views" on world disarmament under a resolution adopted by the United Nations General Assembly last Nov. 28. This resolution proposed secret big-power talks to speed arms reduction.

But the problems of Germany, Austria and European security were left unsolved when Soviet Foreign Minister V. M. Molotov, the chairman of the final session, rapped out adjournment at 7 p. m.

Secretary of State Dulles, due in Washington by plane late this afternoon, voiced "a large measure of regret" at the failures, which he attributed to a fundamental difference of views between the east and west.

In nearly four weeks of tiring and frequently acid debate, the ministers found they could not end the division of Germany or grant Austria the independence treaty she has awaited since the end of World War 2.

"Our failures," Dulles said, "are of a kind which could not have been avoided by mere diplomatic or negotiating skills at this conference. . . . All of our basic differences here have revolved around the question of whether it was right, or indeed safe, to give men and nations a genuine freedom of choice. The western powers were willing to place trust in the German and Austrian peoples. The Soviet Union was not."

Gather in Washington

With the Korean conference arranged, representatives of the United States and its 16 Korean war allies gathered in Washington today to formally write off their stalemated attempts with the Reds at Panmunjom to set up peace negotiations. U. S. special Ambassador Arthur H. Dean broke off those preliminaries Dec. 12 after seven fruitless weeks of talking.

The UN allies were expected to vote to forget about a Communist proposal, made Jan. 26, that the Panmunjom talks be resumed.

Rival demonstrations here last night reflected German dissatisfaction with the failure of the Big Four to agree on the unification of Germany.

Communist bosses ordered out about 150,000 East Berlin workers for a regimented march down snowy streets past the Soviet embassy.

About 500 of the Reds then poured into West Berlin, shouted "down with the EDC Treaty" and beat up several policemen. Police riot squads broke it up, arresting 16. Fifty Red agitators were arrested elsewhere.

About 15,000 West Berlin union men gathered in the downtown shopping area and marched by torchlight to their city hall in a grim, silent show of displeasure at Molotov's sabotage of the western plan that would have united Germany on the basis of free elections.

Decision Is Approved

Saigon, Indochina, Feb. 19 (AP)—Vietnamese officials said today they approve the Big Four's decision to meet with Red China in an effort to settle the Indochina war, but the settlement must make it impossible for the Communist-led Vietminh to take over Indochina.

They outlined these four conditions which they termed essential for a peace treaty or armistice:

1. Viet Nam participates in the peace negotiations and no settle-

Destroyer Escorts Patrol Area Near Site Where H-Bomb Tests Planned in Pacific

Pearl Harbor, Feb. 19 (AP)—Tough little destroyer escorts today patroled the Pacific west of the H-bomb proving grounds on a 24-hour alert.

They watch the skies and plumb the ocean depth with electronic eyes, alert for any strange submarines or—in the words of an officer—any sneak attempt by hostile parties "to set up shop" on deserted islands.

These sea patrols are closely allied with air patrols sweeping the skies from the Marshalls to Japan. The patrols go on all the time, but now with hints of impending H-bomb tests at Eniwetok, their presence is of even more significance.

Having just returned from one of these sea patrols, I can say that there is more than the usual alertness among the radar and sonar crews.

Everyone in the Pacific is tight-lipped about the test which soon may explode the world's most awesome weapon. But you may be sure the navy is quite aware of it.

Officers shudder if the word "atom" comes up in casual conversation. You hear this from top officers on down: "I don't know anything about it and I don't want to."

The air lanes around Eniwetok are so strictly regulated that no civilian planes are allowed and the only military planes going there are those specifically ordered.

A strengthened force of long range planes, based at Kwajalein, maintains special patrols for the upcoming tests.

One of the most potent weapons of the patrolling destroyer escorts is detection equipment for spotting submarines.

The destroyer escort captains never talk publicly about subs but it has been fairly well established that the Russians have a large submarine force.

One destroyer escort, the Hanna, put landing parties ashore at five islands on a recent sweep from the Bonine islands south through the Volcanoes and the Mariannas.

As a guest of Lt. Cmdr. J. C. Meredith of San Aselmo, Calif., I watched the Hanna maintain a constant alert for strange craft in the air, on the surface and below.

"We want to make sure no one sets up shop," explained the executive officer, Lt. D. D. Rayner, San Diego, after the checks disclosed nothing unusual.

Sonar equipment sweeping the ocean depths for subs or underwater obstacles picked up a sunken mountain 350 miles north of Guam between Ascension island and Agriham. The peak of the mountain was estimated to be 348 feet below the surface and the mountain was estimated to be 8,000 feet high.

Knight Says Eisenhower Policy Has Won in California

Palm Springs, Calif., Feb. 19 (AP)—The political advice President Eisenhower gets from Gov. Goodwin J. Knight of California is this: If you want to defeat the Democrats at the polls, be kind to them.

The Republican governor visited with Eisenhower for a half hour yesterday at the President's vacation retreat here. And Knight said to newsmen after the session:

"I told the President his recent announcement that the best kind of Republicanism is to avoid bitter condemnation of Democrats is very popular in California, because that is the way we have been beating the New Deal here for 20 years."

Knight was alluding to Eisenhower's statement Feb. 10 that he is against extreme political partisanship. He made the remark in commenting on a barrage of GOP criticsm directed against the Truman administration.

Knight succeeded to the governorship of California last September when Eisenhower named Earl Warren chief justice of the United States. Knight now is bidding for a full term in his own right, and so far is the only Republican to announce.

Knight visited Eisenhower with California Republican National Committeeman Ronald Button, who told reporters the President and his program rate high with Californians. Button said he gave Eisenhower a report to that effect based on a cross section study of sentiment in the state, a study which he declared included the views of Democrats and Republicans alike.

The President and Mrs. Eisenhower arrived here Wednesday

Installment buying was down somewhat from levels of early 1953 but the amount of outstanding consumer credit stood considerably above a year ago. However, there was no noticeable slowness in collections.

Dun & Bradstreet estimated the total dollar volume to be from one per cent below to three per cent above the corresponding level of a year ago. Regional estimates varied from levels of a year ago by the following percentages: New England, up two to six; east and Pacific coast, down two to up two; south, up one to five; southwest, down three to up one, and northwest, unchanged to up four.

State Thruway Will Pass Close to Wallkill River Span in Rifton Area

Local interests are still determined to preserve Ulster county's historic covered wooden bridge across the Wallkill river between the towns of Esopus and Rosendale.

The century-old bridge, known as Perrine's Bridge, is generally conceded to be New York state's oldest covered bridge of its type. For 20 years it has been closed to vehicular traffic, and during that time there have been several movements to keep the bridge as a historic monument.

Renewed interest in the structure came about as a result of the construction of the New York State Thruway, which will pass between Perrine's Bridge and the iron structure that replaced it when Route 32 was re-located in the 1930's.

Will Be Close to Span

The thruway will cross the river about 150 feet from the covered bridge, placing it within sight of an expected thousands of motorists who will use the thruway when it is completed. At the same time, construction of the thruway, with accompanying blasting, threatened to collapse the structure, weakened by age.

Parents Warned Against Dangers Of Local Quarry

City Engineer Reports No Adequate Means to Protect Completely the Public

Mayor Frederick H. Stang yesterday called upon parents residing in the area of the abandoned quarry west of The High Road to cooperate with city officials and the police in efforts to keep children away from the area where a nine-year-old boy plunged 125 feet into a rock crevice Feb. 5.

Dangers of the quarry area were stressed at a meeting of the Board of Public Works yesterday, where it was found that no completely effective move could be made by the city to block it off from the public.

Stuart Werner, 9, son of Mr. and Mrs. Abraham Werner of 23 Chambers street, who had been playing with others in the quarry Feb. 5, fell into the crevice and was rescued by local police and firemen. He was hospitalized for injuries at Kingston Hospital from where he was discharged Feb. 11.

Engineer Gives Report

City Engineer Arthur F. Hallinan's report to the BPW yesterday indicated that the city was at loss to devise a plan that would completely protect the public from the dangers of the area.

In Hallinan's opinion there is "no practical fool-proof method of preventing persons who are bent on suicide "from entering the quarry section. He proposed that

Korea Talk Deadlock Is By-Passed

Exchange of Views Also to Be Held on Arms Situation; Vietnamese in Agreement

Berlin, Feb. 19 (AP)—The Big Four foreign ministers headed home from their Berlin meeting today to prepare for another conference in two months—this time to seek peace in Korea and Indochina. They wrote off any chance of agreement on European problems for the present.

The deadlock at Panmunjom was by-passed by the decision yesterday to open the long-debated Korean peace conference in Geneva April 26 with Red China among the nations to participate, not as a sponsor but by invitation. The ministers agreed the problem of ending the seven-year-old war in Indochina "shall also be discussed" at the conference.

The top diplomats of the United States, Britain, France and Russia promised also to "hold an exchange of views" on world disarmament under a resolution adopted by the United Nations General Assembly last Nov. 28. This resolution proposed secret big-power talks to speed arms reduction.

But the problems of Germany, Austria and European security were left unsolved when Soviet Foreign Minister V. M. Molotov, the chairman of the final session, rapped out adjournment at 7 p. m.

Secretary of State Dulles, due in Washington by plane late this afternoon, voiced "a large measure of regret" at the failures, which he attributed to a fundamental difference of views between the east and west.

In nearly four weeks of tiring and frequently acid debate, the ministers found they could not end the division of Germany or grant Austria the independence treaty she has awaited since the end of World War 2.

"Our failures," Dulles said, "are of a kind which could not have been avoided by mere diplomatic or negotiating skills at this conference. . . . All of our basic differences here have revolved around the question of whether it was right, or indeed safe, to give men and nations a genuine freedom of choice. The western powers were willing to place trust in the German and Austrian peoples. The Soviet Union was not."

Gather in Washington

With the Korean conference arranged, representatives of the United States and its 16 Korean war allies gathered in Washington today to formally write off their stalemated attempts with the Reds at Panmunjom to set up peace negotiations. U. S. special Ambassador Arthur H. Dean broke off those preliminaries Dec. 12 after seven fruitless weeks of talking.

The UN allies were expected to vote to forget about a Communist proposal, made Jan. 26, that the Panmunjom talks be resumed.

Rival demonstrations here last night reflected German dissatisfaction with the failure of the Big Four to agree on the unification of Germany.

Communist bosses ordered out about 150,000 East Berlin workers for a regimented march down snowy streets past the Soviet embassy.

About 500 of the Reds then poured into West Berlin, shouted "down with the EDC Treaty" and beat up several policemen. Police riot squads broke it up, arresting 16. Fifty Red agitators were arrested elsewhere.

About 15,000 West Berlin union men gathered in the downtown shopping area and marched by torchlight to their city hall in a grim, silent show of displeasure at Molotov's sabotage of the western plan that would have united Germany on the basis of free elections.

Decision Is Approved

Saigon, Indochina, Feb. 19 (AP)—Vietnamese officials said today they approve the Big Four's decision to meet with Red China in an effort to settle the Indochina war, but the settlement must make it impossible for the Communist-led Vietminh to take over Indochina.

They outlined these four conditions which they termed essential for a peace treaty or armistice:

1. Viet Nam participates in the peace negotiations and no settle-

Destroyer Escorts Patrol Area Near Site Where H-Bomb Tests Planned in Pacific

They watch the skies and plumb the ocean depth with electronic eyes, alert for any strange submarines or—in the words of an officer—any sneak attempt by hostile parties "to set up shop" on deserted islands.

These sea patrols are closely allied with air patrols sweeping the skies from the Marshalls to Japan. The patrols go on all the time, but now with hints of impending H-bomb tests at Eniwetok, their presence is of even more significance.

Having just returned from one of these sea patrols, I can say that there is more than the usual alertness among the radar and sonar crews.

Everyone in the Pacific is tight-lipped about the test which soon may explode the world's most awesome weapon. But you may be sure the navy is quite aware of it.

Officers shudder if the word "atom" comes up in casual conversation. You hear this from top officers on down: "I don't know anything about it and I don't want to."

The air lanes around Eniwetok are so strictly regulated that no civilian planes are allowed and the only military planes going there are those specifically ordered.

A strengthened force of long range planes, based at Kwajalein, maintains special patrols for the upcoming tests.

One of the most potent weapons of the patrolling destroyer escorts is detection equipment for spotting submarines.

The destroyer escort captains never talk publicly about subs but it has been fairly well established that the Russians have a large submarine force.

One destroyer escort, the Hanna, put landing parties ashore at five islands on a recent sweep from the Bonine islands south through the Volcanoes and the Mariannas.

As a guest of Lt. Cmdr. J. C. Meredith of San Aselmo, Calif., I watched the Hanna maintain a constant alert for strange craft in the air, on the surface and below.

"We want to make sure no one sets up shop," explained the executive officer, Lt. D. D. Rayner, San Diego, after the checks disclosed nothing unusual.

Sonar equipment sweeping the ocean depths for subs or underwater obstacles picked up a sunken mountain 350 miles north of Guam between Ascension island and Agriham. The peak of the mountain was estimated to be 348 feet below the surface and the mountain was estimated to be 8,000 feet high.

Knight Says Eisenhower Policy Has Won in California

Palm Springs, Calif., Feb. 19 (AP)—The political advice President Eisenhower gets from Gov. Goodwin J. Knight of California is this: If you want to defeat the Democrats at the polls, be kind to them.

The Republican governor visited with Eisenhower for a half hour yesterday at the President's vacation retreat here. And Knight said to newsmen after the session:

"I told the President his recent announcement that the best kind of Republicanism is to avoid bitter condemnation of Democrats is very popular in California, because that is the way we have been beating the New Deal here for 20 years."

Knight was alluding to Eisenhower's statement Feb. 10 that he is against extreme political partisanship. He made the remark in commenting on a barrage of GOP criticsm directed against the Truman administration.

Knight succeeded to the governorship of California last September when Eisenhower named Earl Warren chief justice of the United States. Knight now is bidding for a full term in his own right, and so far is the only Republican to announce.

Knight visited Eisenhower with California Republican National Committeeman Ronald Button, who told reporters the President and his program rate high with Californians. Button said he gave Eisenhower a report to that effect based on a cross section study of sentiment in the state, a study which he declared included the views of Democrats and Republicans alike.

The President and Mrs. Eisenhower arrived here Wednesday

IBM Income Is $92,319,210; Capital Shares Bring $10.67

New York, Feb. 19 — For the year ended December 31, 1953, International Business Machines Corporation and subsidiaries today reported consolidated net income of $92,319,210 before U. S. federal income and excess profits taxes, an increase of $13,844,668 over 1952 earnings of $78,474,541 before taxes. Estimated U. S. federal income and excess profits taxes for the 1953 year were $58,200,000. Net income for the 1953 year after estimated U. S. federal income and excess profits taxes was $34,119,210. Equivalent to $10.67 a share on the 3,198,868 capital shares outstanding at the year-end, compared with $29,874,541 or $9.34 a share computed on the same number of shares, in the preceding year.

"Although more of the corporation's products were produced in 1953 than in any year in the history of the business, unfilled orders at the end of the year were higher than at the end of any previous year. In addition to the continued demand for the corporation's regular products, the corporation continues to be engaged in a substantial amount of defense work under direct contracts with the United States government," Thomas J. Watson, chairman of the board, said in his letter to stockholders.

During 1953 the corporation's increased volume of business and replacement of obsolete equipment required an investment of $122,221,975 in rental machines and parts, factory and office equipment, and land and buildings. Dismantled and obsolete equipment amounting to $34,828,020 was written off and charged against reserves, the report stated.

Kingston 'Necessity' Plant

As previously announced, construction of a research laboratory at Poughkeepsie, N. Y., which will add 179,000 square feet of floor space to existing laboratory facilities there is expected to be completed this fall; a new manufacturing plant which will provide 180,000 square feet of floor space at Greencastle, Indiana, is nearing completion; construction of a new building at Endicott, N. Y., which will add 139,200 square feet of floor space to existing manufacturing facilities is under way; and land has been acquired at Kingston, N. Y., as an additional plant site for the performance of a government contract. A necessity certificate has been granted by the government for this facility.

On November 19, 1953, the corporation took down an additional $40,000,000 of the $115,000,000 included in its agreement with Prudential Insurance Co. of America. As previously reported, under this agreement IBM will borrow a total of $115,000,000 against its 3¾ per cent notes to mature Jan. 1, 2052. The remaining $35,000,000 of notes will be issued in 1954. The notes may be converted as a whole at the option of either IBM or Prudential into 25-year 3½ per cent notes at any time after Jan. 1, 1960.

As of Dec. 31, 1953, IBM's long-term indebtedness totalled $215,000,000 on which the average interest rate is 3.26 per cent.

During 1953 IBM increased its employe minimum and maximum retirement benefits to $85 a month after ten years' service and $250 a month after forty-five years' service, respectively, both including social security. Retirement income, as heretofore, is based solely on length of continuous service, regardless of an employe's earnings or position with the company. During 1953 payments to the trustee under the employes' retirement plan totalled $3,642,070 of which $2,069,333 was paid under the IBM retirement plan and $1,572,737 from the Watson Fund for supplementing the IBM retirement plan. During the year $1,976,381 was added to the Watson Fund as voluntary reduction made by Mr. Watson in his percentage compensation under his employment contract in effect in 1953. The Watson Fund had a balance at December 31, 1953, of $5,462,352.

The report notes that the quarterly cash dividend of $1 a share payable March 10, 1954, is the 156th consecutive quarterly cash dividend paid by the company.

Foreign Investments

Net assets of IBM World Trade Corp. (wholly owned subsidiary) and its subsidiaries in Austria, Czechoslovakia, France, Germany, Hungary, Italy, Japan, Poland and the Balkan countries continued to be reserved to $1, the report stated. During 1953 the company adjusted its investment in these countries by $5,325,735 representing net income from current operations remaining in these countries, and added a similar amount to the reserve for foreign investment.

Foreign investment in all other countries at December 31, 1953, showed an increase of $2,505,975 over the previous year, the result of 1953 operations, and aggregated $41,529,517 at the year-end.

During 1953 IBM World Trade Corp's Canadian susidiary sold $5,000,000 of its 4¾ per cent Series B notes, due 1973, to seven Canadian insurance companies at par. The notes are guaranteed principal and interest by IBM.

On January 26, 1954, the canadian subsidiary dedicated a factory addition which provides an additional 200,000 square feet of floor space at Toronto.

"Our research and engineering laboratories are continuing their work on a number of important defense projects for the United States Government and on new and improved commercial products," Watson said.

New Products Added

"New products added to the IBM regular line in 1953 include an electronic calculator of increased capacity for commercial applications; an accumulating reproducer which performs combination operations not heretofore possible; an electronic capculator embodying the principle of storing information on a magnetic drum; a desk model card punch; a printing summary punch; an electric typewriter specifically designed for the preparation of telephone toll statements; new time equipment including a radio-supervised time control system, the master clock of which is controlled by the hourly radio broadcasting of a time signal provided by the U. S. Bureau of Standards; and toll recording equipment which greatly facilitates the handling and control of charges and records for toll highways.

"In 1953 the corporation also developed the second of a series of IBM electronic data processing machines. The new equipment is a digital-alphabetical system of great flexibility, designed to streamline accounting and record-keeping procedures in commerce and industry."

Press Gag Measure Will Be Smothered

Albany, Feb. 19 (AP)—Legislation to cut to the bone information officials could give out in advance of a criminal trial today appears headed for the scrap pile.

Opponents of a bill by Sen. Alfred E. Santangelo, Manhattan Democrat, were prepared to bury it as an attempt to gag the press.

The measure, indexed yesterday embodies a recommendation made last month by the Civil Rights Committee of the New York State Bar Assn.

The proposal drew heavy fire from newspaper groups and other lawyers. The association postponed action on the plan until its June meeting in Saranac Lake.

Santangelo's bill would bar law enforcement officials and attorneys from releasing pretrial information without court permission.

CYO Has Election And Plans Year's Project Program

At a meeting this week, officers were elected by the lay committee of Catholic Youth Organization, and plans were made for the year's activities, including the annual art-craft-hobby show scheduled March 5 and 6 at White Eagle Hall, Delaware avenue.

Mrs. Joseph Reis of Port Ewen was chosen president of the lay committee at the meeting in St. Mary's Hall, and officers elected with her were Kenneth MacNeil, vice president; Mrs. George McDonough, treasurer and Miss Marguerite Flaherty, secretary.

The primary function of the committee, according to Leo A. Schupp, Ulster county CYO director, is "to assist in the promulgation of a fourfold program for athletic and religious."

The committee formulated plans for the year, and expressed a desire that more members of the Catholic faith attend meetings.

Any information concerning the projects of the CYO may be had by phoning Director Schupp.

Information about the art-craft-hobby show is available at Catholic rectories, parochial schools or from Mrs. Sylvester Bujak, chairman of the general committee in charge of the event.

All Catholic youth between the ages of 6 and 18 years inclusive are invited to enter any of the divisions for the show, Mrs. Bujak said, and she is anxious for early registration.

Mrs. Bujak said she expects more than 300 entries of art pieces, crafts and hobbies.

Actress Found Ill

Hollywood, Feb. 19 (AP)—Actress Anne Sterling was found unconscious in her apartment early today but after a quick trip to a hospital where her stomach was pumped she was reported to be out of danger. Sheriff's deputies D. R. Gibson and D. Rinkwich said they found the 32-year-old blonde unconscious in bed with two pill boxes, one empty and the other containing 12 capsules, nearby. Her physician, Dr. Harold Mills, told investigators that she had accidentally taken an overdose of prescribed medicine. At first, after being taken to an emergency hospital, her condition was described as critical. But after the stomach pumping she recovered sufficiently to be removed to a private hospital.

Two Seized, Also Heroin

New York, Feb. 19 (AP)—Narcotics squad detectives reported they seized two men in an east Bronx apartment early today and confiscated 33 ounces of heroin said to be worth $165,000 on the illicit drug market. Taken into custody were Hector Garcia, 28, a laborer, of 681 E. 153rd street, the Bronx, and Edward Suarez, 25, of 1737 Madison avenue, Manhattan. One detective got into Garcia's apartment posing as a "buyer." Other detectives followed and confiscated the drug, they said. Garcia and Suarez were booked on charges of possessing narcotics with intent to sell.

No Decision Yet

New York, Feb. 19 (AP)—No decision in the glass industry contract negotiations is likely before tomorrow or Monday, a union spokesman says. Terms for a new contract, affecting 47,000 workers in 58 plants across the nation, have been discussed here since Tuesday by five-man subcommittees of the employers and the AFL Glass Bottle Blowers Assn.

Big Four Conference Ends . . .

ment is valid without the agreement of Viet Nam and her sister states, Laos and Cambodia.

2. Red China must agree to stop aiding the Vietminh and the western powers must guarantee China's word and make sure it is kept.

3. The Communist-led army and the political organization which Moscow-trained Ho Chi Minh calls a government must be destroyed.

4. Viet Nam must be completely united and will not accept any demarcation line, such as Korea's 38th parallel.

Premier Prince Buu Loc will go to Paris at the end of this month hoping to sign a treaty that will give Viet Nam independence from France. Observers here believe that a grant of absolute independence would permit a rallying of Nationalists who are now hostile to Viet Nam's chief of state, Ex-Emperor Bao Bai.

Declines to Predict

French Defense Minister Rene Pleven, currently touring Cambodia, declined to predict what might happen at the Geneva conference. Asked if he thought Communist China might be tired of helping the Vietminh, Pleven said the west was up against a complete lack of information but sooner or later internal problems would force the Peiping regime to limit its actions outside its own frontiers.

On the Indochinese warfronts action today was confined largely to the continuing French air assaults on Vietminh troop and supply concentrations around the Red-encircled French fortress of Dien Bien Phu, in northwest Indochina.

Patrols moving out from that heavily fortified plain reported that for the third day they had failed to encounter any of the estimated 36,000 rebels believed entrenched in the surrounding hills.

The French said there also had been no further movement noted by the Vietminh division which last week moved the bulk of its forces to within 45 miles of the Laotion royal capital Luang Prabang. French officials began to believe the rebel force might pull back out of Laos—as they did last year—without an assault on the capital.

evening for a five-day vacation at the Smoke Tree ranch home of Paul H. Helms, Los Angeles bakery executive. Aides to Eisenhower indicated, however, that he is enjoying himself so much his stay may be extended beyond Monday.

The President tentatively scheduled a round of golf today at the popular Thunderbolt course after shooting a reported 87 for 18 holes at the exclusive Tamarisk Country Club yesterday.

Newsmen heard that Ben Hogan, one of golf's top notchers and Tamarisk's pro, fired a four under par 68 as Eisenhower's partner. They teamed up against Helms and Paul G. Hoffman, board chairman of the Studebaker Corporation and, with Helms, co-host to the Eisenhowers on this vacation.

Hogan and a gallery of several hundred persons got a big kick when the President, on the ninth hole at Tamarisk, pitched a tough approach shot 50 yards to within three feet of the pin, then dropped his putt for a par four. Hogan also had a four on that hole, the only one newsmen got a chance to watch.

Trucking Concern

would occupy other units of the plant.

Alterations Planned

Plans for alterations are now being prepared by Architect Augustus Schrowang and Novig said the terminal facilities would be in use before April 1, weather permitting. It is planned to provide housing facilities for at least twelve units in the Kingston terminal now and the terminal will be expanded later.

The main portion of the former cooperage plant is served by a siding from the West Shore Railroad and the main line of the railroad runs along the plant. The main building has a built-in sprinkler system.

A rapidly growing business in the Ulster county area prompted the Rupp company to acquire the Kingston property and the new facilities will give improved service in the Kingston area. The main office of Rupp Trucking is located at 82 Dolson avenue, Middletown, and President Novig now makes his home in Middletown.

Other Terminals

At present the Rupp company operates terminals in Port Jervis, Monticello, Paramus, N. J., and in New York at 722 Washington street in addition to the main terminal and service station in Middletown. Harold Rovner is vice-president of the concern which presently operates 119 trucking units of which 45 are operated from the Middletown terminal Vice-President Rovner stated yesterday an order had been placed for 12 new trailers to be delivered this month.

Opening of the Kingston terminal will increase the efficiency of the pickup and delivery service in the Hudson valley area. Presently Rupp maintains an office in Kingston but operates trucking business in the Kingston area from the Middletown office.

Novig pointed out that purchase of the former cooperage plant here gave the company a considerable parcel of land for future expansion and stated truck service facilities might later be included in the local program.

GOP Club Tables Paper Criticizing Condon for Visits

Yonkers, Feb. 19 (AP)—The 12th Ward Republican Club last night sidetracked a resolution that labeled as unsatisfactory State Sen. William F. Condon's explanation of his visits to labor racketeer Joe Fay in Sing Sing Prison.

The resolution was tabled by a voice vote.

Some weeks ago the club wrote Condon, Republican Senator from the 29th District, asking him to explain the visits.

In a reply Condon admitted visits to the prison, but said that on each occasion he took labor leaders to see the prisoner and did not talk to Fay.

Not Satisfactory

The resolution, offered by J. Kennard Bosee last night, said: "The 12th Ward Republican Club finds your (Condon's) answer to its request for an explanation of your visits to Joe Fay unsatisfactory, and therefore invites you to come to our March meeting to address the membership and clarify your answer."

The measure was supported by Robert Maclea, Robert Stewart, Sheldon Covell, Alphonse Avella and others

Among those who opposed it was Mrs. Edward S. Frochlich.

Charles Palmer, president of the club, and Mrs. Margaret Emory expressed the belief that the club should not take part in the controversy.

When the resolution was put to a voice vote it was tabled, but the club decided to invite Condon to its March meeting anyhow.

On November 19, 1953, the corporation took down an additional $40,000,000 of the $115,000,000 included in its agreement with Prudential Insurance Co. of America. As of Dec. 31, 1953, IBM's long-term indebtedness totalled $215,000,000 on which the average interest rate is 3.26 per cent.

During 1953 IBM increased its employe minimum and maximum retirement benefits to $85 a month after ten years' service and $250 a month after forty-five years' service, respectively, both including social security. Retirement income, as heretofore, is based solely on length of continuous service, regardless of an employe's earnings or position with the company. During 1953 payments to the trustee under the employes' retirement plan totalled $3,642,070 of which $2,069,333 was paid under the IBM retirement plan and $1,572,737 from the Watson Fund for supplementing the IBM retirement plan. During the year $1,976,381 was added to the Watson Fund as voluntary reduction made by Mr. Watson in his percentage compensation under his employment contract in effect in 1953. The Watson Fund had a balance at December 31, 1953, of $5,462,352.

The report notes that the quarterly cash dividend of $1 a share payable March 10, 1954, is the 156th consecutive quarterly cash dividend paid by the company.

Foreign Investments

Net assets of IBM World Trade Corp. (wholly owned subsidiary) and its subsidiaries in Austria, Czechoslovakia, France, Germany, Hungary, Italy, Japan, Poland and the Balkan countries continued to be reserved to $1, the report stated. During 1953 the company adjusted its investment in these countries by $5,325,735 representing net income from current operations remaining in these countries, and added a similar amount to the reserve for foreign investment.

Foreign investment in all other countries at December 31, 1953, showed an increase of $2,505,975 over the previous year, the result of 1953 operations, and aggregated $41,529,517 at the year-end.

During 1953 IBM World Trade Corp's Canadian susidiary sold $5,000,000 of its 4¾ per cent Series B notes, due 1973, to seven Canadian insurance companies at par. The notes are guaranteed principal and interest by IBM.

On January 26, 1954, the canadian subsidiary dedicated a factory addition which provides an additional 200,000 square feet of floor space at Toronto.

"Our research and engineering laboratories are continuing their work on a number of important defense projects for the United States Government and on new and improved commercial products," Watson said.

New Products Added

"New products added to the IBM regular line in 1953 include an electronic calculator of increased capacity for commercial applications; an accumulating reproducer which performs combination operations not heretofore possible; an electronic capculator embodying the principle of storing information on a magnetic drum; a desk model card punch; a printing summary punch; an electric typewriter specifically designed for the preparation of telephone toll statements; new time equipment including a radio-supervised time control system, the master clock of which is controlled by the hourly radio broadcasting of a time signal provided by the U. S. Bureau of Standards; and toll recording equipment which greatly facilitates the handling and control of charges and records for toll highways.

"In 1953 the corporation also developed the second of a series of IBM electronic data processing machines. The new equipment is a digital-alphabetical system of great flexibility, designed to streamline accounting and record-keeping procedures in commerce and industry."

Press Gag Measure Will Be Smothered

Albany, Feb. 19 (AP)—Legislation to cut to the bone information officials could give out in advance of a criminal trial today appears headed for the scrap pile.

Opponents of a bill by Sen. Alfred E. Santangelo, Manhattan Democrat, were prepared to bury it as an attempt to gag the press.

The measure, indexed yesterday embodies a recommendation made last month by the Civil Rights Committee of the New York State Bar Assn.

The proposal drew heavy fire from newspaper groups and other lawyers. The association postponed action on the plan until its June meeting in Saranac Lake.

Santangelo's bill would bar law enforcement officials and attorneys from releasing pretrial information without court permission.

CYO Has Election And Plans Year's Project Program

At a meeting this week, officers were elected by the lay committee of Catholic Youth Organization, and plans were made for the year's activities, including the annual art-craft-hobby show scheduled March 5 and 6 at White Eagle Hall, Delaware avenue.

Mrs. Joseph Reis of Port Ewen was chosen president of the lay committee at the meeting in St. Mary's Hall, and officers elected with her were Kenneth MacNeil, vice president; Mrs. George McDonough, treasurer and Miss Marguerite Flaherty, secretary.

The primary function of the committee, according to Leo A. Schupp, Ulster county CYO director, is "to assist in the promulgation of a fourfold program for athletic and religious."

The committee formulated plans for the year, and expressed a desire that more members of the Catholic faith attend meetings.

Any information concerning the projects of the CYO may be had by phoning Director Schupp.

Information about the art-craft-hobby show is available at Catholic rectories, parochial schools or from Mrs. Sylvester Bujak, chairman of the general committee in charge of the event.

All Catholic youth between the ages of 6 and 18 years inclusive are invited to enter any of the divisions for the show, Mrs. Bujak said, and she is anxious for early registration.

Mrs. Bujak said she expects more than 300 entries of art pieces, crafts and hobbies.

Actress Found Ill

Hollywood, Feb. 19 (AP)—Actress Anne Sterling was found unconscious in her apartment early today but after a quick trip to a hospital where her stomach was pumped she was reported to be out of danger. Sheriff's deputies D. R. Gibson and D. Rinkwich said they found the 32-year-old blonde unconscious in bed with two pill boxes, one empty and the other containing 12 capsules, nearby. Her physician, Dr. Harold Mills, told investigators that she had accidentally taken an overdose of prescribed medicine. At first, after being taken to an emergency hospital, her condition was described as critical. But after the stomach pumping she recovered sufficiently to be removed to a private hospital.

Two Seized, Also Heroin

New York, Feb. 19 (AP)—Narcotics squad detectives reported they seized two men in an east Bronx apartment early today and confiscated 33 ounces of heroin said to be worth $165,000 on the illicit drug market. Taken into custody were Hector Garcia, 28, a laborer, of 681 E. 153rd street, the Bronx, and Edward Suarez, 25, of 1737 Madison avenue, Manhattan. One detective got into Garcia's apartment posing as a "buyer." Other detectives followed and confiscated the drug, they said. Garcia and Suarez were booked on charges of possessing narcotics with intent to sell.

No Decision Yet

New York, Feb. 19 (AP)—No decision in the glass industry contract negotiations is likely before tomorrow or Monday, a union spokesman says. Terms for a new contract, affecting 47,000 workers in 58 plants across the nation, have been discussed here since Tuesday by five-man subcommittees of the employers and the AFL Glass Bottle Blowers Assn.

Big Four Conference Ends . . .

ment is valid without the agreement of Viet Nam and her sister states, Laos and Cambodia.

2. Red China must agree to stop aiding the Vietminh and the western powers must guarantee China's word and make sure it is kept.

3. The Communist-led army and the political organization which Moscow-trained Ho Chi Minh calls a government must be destroyed.

4. Viet Nam must be completely united and will not accept any demarcation line, such as Korea's 38th parallel.

Premier Prince Buu Loc will go to Paris at the end of this month hoping to sign a treaty that will give Viet Nam independence from France. Observers here believe that a grant of absolute independence would permit a rallying of Nationalists who are now hostile to Viet Nam's chief of state, Ex-Emperor Bao Bai.

Declines to Predict

French Defense Minister Rene Pleven, currently touring Cambodia, declined to predict what might happen at the Geneva conference. Asked if he thought Communist China might be tired of helping the Vietminh, Pleven said the west was up against a complete lack of information but sooner or later internal problems would force the Peiping regime to limit its actions outside its own frontiers.

On the Indochinese warfronts action today was confined largely to the continuing French air assaults on Vietminh troop and supply concentrations around the Red-encircled French fortress of Dien Bien Phu, in northwest Indochina.

Patrols moving out from that heavily fortified plain reported that for the third day they had failed to encounter any of the estimated 36,000 rebels believed entrenched in the surrounding hills.

The French said there also had been no further movement noted by the Vietminh division which last week moved the bulk of its forces to within 45 miles of the Laotion royal capital Luang Prabang. French officials began to believe the rebel force might pull back out of Laos—as they did last year—without an assault on the capital.

French Union forces continued their mopup of Vietminh units infiltrating the Red river delta around Hanoi and claimed 30 rebels killed and 35 captured.

Knight Says . . .

evening for a five-day vacation at the Smoke Tree ranch home of Paul H. Helms, Los Angeles bakery executive. Aides to Eisenhower indicated, however, that he is enjoying himself so much his stay may be extended beyond Monday.

The President tentatively scheduled a round of golf today at the popular Thunderbolt course after shooting a reported 87 for 18 holes at the exclusive Tamarisk Country Club yesterday.

Newsmen heard that Ben Hogan, one of golf's top notchers and Tamarisk's pro, fired a four under par 68 as Eisenhower's partner. They teamed up against Helms and Paul G. Hoffman, board chairman of the Studebaker Corporation and, with Helms, co-host to the Eisenhowers on this vacation.

Hogan and a gallery of several hundred persons got a big kick when the President, on the ninth hole at Tamarisk, pitched a tough approach shot 50 yards to within three feet of the pin, then dropped his putt for a par four. Hogan also had a four on that hole, the only one newsmen got a chance to watch.

Trucking Concern

would occupy other units of the plant.

Alterations Planned

Plans for alterations are now being prepared by Architect Augustus Schrowang and Novig said the terminal facilities would be in use before April 1, weather permitting. It is planned to provide housing facilities for at least twelve units in the Kingston terminal now and the terminal will be expanded later.

The main portion of the former cooperage plant is served by a siding from the West Shore Railroad and the main line of the railroad runs along the plant. The main building has a built-in sprinkler system.

A rapidly growing business in the Ulster county area prompted the Rupp company to acquire the Kingston property and the new facilities will give improved service in the Kingston area. The main office of Rupp Trucking is located at 82 Dolson avenue, Middletown, and President Novig now makes his home in Middletown.

Other Terminals

At present the Rupp company operates terminals in Port Jervis, Monticello, Paramus, N. J., and in New York at 722 Washington street in addition to the main terminal and service station in Middletown. Harold Rovner is vice-president of the concern which presently operates 119 trucking units of which 45 are operated from the Middletown terminal Vice-President Rovner stated yesterday an order had been placed for 12 new trailers to be delivered this month.

Opening of the Kingston terminal will increase the efficiency of the pickup and delivery service in the Hudson valley area. Presently Rupp maintains an office in Kingston but operates trucking business in the Kingston area from the Middletown office.

Novig pointed out that purchase of the former cooperage plant here gave the company a considerable parcel of land for future expansion and stated truck service facilities might later be included in the local program.

GOP Club Tables Paper Criticizing Condon for Visits

Yonkers, Feb. 19 (AP)—The 12th Ward Republican Club last night sidetracked a resolution that labeled as unsatisfactory State Sen. William F. Condon's explanation of his visits to labor racketeer Joe Fay in Sing Sing Prison.

The resolution was tabled by a voice vote.

Some weeks ago the club wrote Condon, Republican Senator from the 29th District, asking him to explain the visits.

In a reply Condon admitted visits to the prison, but said that on each occasion he took labor leaders to see the prisoner and did not talk to Fay.

Not Satisfactory

The resolution, offered by J. Kennard Bosee last night, said: "The 12th Ward Republican Club finds your (Condon's) answer to its request for an explanation of your visits to Joe Fay unsatisfactory, and therefore invites you to come to our March meeting to address the membership and clarify your answer."

The measure was supported by Robert Maclea, Robert Stewart, Sheldon Covell, Alphonse Avella and others

Among those who opposed it was Mrs. Edward S. Frochlich.

Charles Palmer, president of the club, and Mrs. Margaret Emory expressed the belief that the club should not take part in the controversy.

When the resolution was put to a voice vote it was tabled, but the club decided to invite Condon to its March meeting anyhow.

Mask, chest protector, shin guards — all are essential equipment for any budding young "backstop". But they won't do him any good if he forgets to put them on before the first ball is pitched.

Dependable insurance is like that, too. It's one thing you can't get when you need it most. After an accident or loss has occurred, it's too late to buy better insurance if the policy you have proves unsatisfactory.

Rochester Dump Open to Public

The Town of Rochester dump, situated on the lot recently purchased from the Accord Lime Works, is now open for use by residents of the town, it was announced today by Town Clerk Elsie E. Rider.

She said the portion to be used as a dump was the east end of the canal bed where the brush had been cut and that signs would be placed at the spot.

The town board has requested public cooperation in preventing an "unsightly appearance by careless use." The highway department will maintain the dump and cover the refuse periodically with dirt and shale, creating a new road bed over which vehicles can be driven to reach the newer dump areas, it was reported.

Filter Report Given

Chicago, Feb. 19 (AP) — An American Medical Assn. study indicated today that a cigarette holder using a second cigarette inside the cylinder as a filter is more effective in screening out nicotine and tars than four other filter type holders tested. Two of the holders tested used a metal trap like those found in many pipes, the third used a cylindrical paper filter and contained a number of small paper baffles, while the fourth was filled with granules of silica which filtered the smoke.

Think It Through

By EDWARD F. HUTTON

Some people resent the success of others. But the ladder to accomplishment is available to all, free. It has been a path used by valorous, venturesome and rugged men.

Mr. Hutton

Abraham Lincoln had some wise words to say about the spirit of a "ladder climber:"

"Property is the fruit of labor. Property is desirable. It is a positive good in the world.

"That some should be rich shows that others may become rich, and hence is just encouragement to industry and enterprise.

"Let not him who is houseless pull down the house of another, but let him work diligently and build one for himself, thus by example assuring that his own shall be safe from violence, when built."

Socialism will destroy the wisdom of Abraham Lincoln. Socialism is the control of ALL wealth, and will keep all people poor to make a government rich. Socialism is a barren fluid, which can only nourish a government in control.

In that case, of what further use will be "The Ladder?"

Bill to License Chiropractors Is Again Introduced

A bill to regulate the chiropractic profession and license chiropractors in New York state has been introduced in the state by State Senator Dutton S. Peterson, Odessa, Schuyler county and Assemblyman Leo B. Noonan, Farmersville Station, Cattaraugus county.

In a joint statement, Senator Peterson and Assemblyman Noonan said they were introducing this bill as a means of protecting the public.

"Most of the state's 3,000 chiropractors are well qualified," they declared. "But," they added, "there are a number who practice without sufficient training."

The two legislators pointed out that under the present no-license system the public has no way of determining in advance who is the trained chiropractor.

The legislators emphasized that 44 states have licensing legislation with educational standards so that New York becomes one of the few states where unqalified persons may practice without proper training.

Senator Peterson and Assemblyman Noonan said enactment of their proposal would assure people who desire chiropractic care that they can secure the services of a properly trained, licensed and supervised chiropractor.

"The responsibility," they stated, "rests upon the legislature to adopt legislation directing the Board of Regents and the Department of Education . . . to establish educational standards and provide for the examination and licensing of chiropractors."

The bill itself, entitled Article 132, would amend the state education law and set up a chiropractic licensing board of examiners.

It would require that any chiropractor applying for a license to practice in New York State would have to have a high school education or its equivalent and be a graduate of a four-year resident course at an approved chiropractice college.

Robert J. Levintan, local chiropractor, said this bill would protect both the public and the chiropractor.

He declared: "It is the firm desire of the chiropractic profession in New York state to establish adequate protection for the public from improperly trained persons."

He pointed out that the more than 1,000 members of the Chiropractic Association were qualified. "This Association," he said, "was established by the members of the profession to insure that the highest professional standards would be maintained for the public's health and welfare."

Assemblyman Noonan recalled the action taken last month by the New York State Young Republican Clubs, which have recently completed an investigation into the chiropractic profession They have issued a statement urging proper legislation in the public interest. Assemblyman Noonan read a statement from their resolution which said ". . . residents of the state should not be denied the opportunity of obtaining competent chiropractic ministrations and that they should be afforded the protection given by state regulation and licensing . . ."

Principles Are Favored

Chicago, Feb. 19 (AP)—The Journal of the American Medical Assn. said today the AMA favors the principles embodied in the Bricker amendment "because of the danger of socialization of medicine via international treaty." The Journal added, however, that the exact wording of a "suitable amendment" redefining existing treaty-making powers is "a matter for constitutional lawyers to determine, not for physicians."

Bill to License Chiropractors Is Again Introduced

A bill to regulate the chiropractic profession and license chiropractors in New York state has been introduced in the state by State Senator Dutton S. Peterson, Odessa, Schuyler county and Assemblyman Leo B. Noonan, Farmersville Station, Cattaraugus county.

In a joint statement, Senator Peterson and Assemblyman Noonan said they were introducing this bill as a means of protecting the public.

"Most of the state's 3,000 chiropractors are well qualified," they declared. "But," they added, "there are a number who practice without sufficient training."

The two legislators pointed out that under the present no-license system the public has no way of determining in advance who is the trained chiropractor.

The legislators emphasized that 44 states have licensing legislation with educational standards so that New York becomes one of the few states where unqalified persons may practice without proper training.

Senator Peterson and Assemblyman Noonan said enactment of their proposal would assure people who desire chiropractic care that they can secure the services of a properly trained, licensed and supervised chiropractor.

"The responsibility," they stated, "rests upon the legislature to adopt legislation directing the Board of Regents and the Department of Education . . . to establish educational standards and provide for the examination and licensing of chiropractors."

The bill itself, entitled Article 132, would amend the state education law and set up a chiropractic licensing board of examiners.

It would require that any chiropractor applying for a license to practice in New York State would have to have a high school education or its equivalent and be a graduate of a four-year resident course at an approved chiropractice college.

Robert J. Levintan, local chiropractor, said this bill would protect both the public and the chiropractor.

He declared: "It is the firm desire of the chiropractic profession in New York state to establish adequate protection for the public from improperly trained persons."

He pointed out that the more than 1,000 members of the Chiropractic Association were qualified.

"This Association," he said, "was established by the members of the profession to insure that the highest professional standards would be maintained for the public's health and welfare."

Assemblyman Noonan recalled the action taken last month by the New York State Young Republican Clubs, which have recently completed an investigation into the chiropractic profession They have issued a statement urging proper legislation in the public interest. Assemblyman Noonan read a statement from their resolution which said ". . . residents of the state should not be denied the opportunity of obtaining competent chiropractic ministrations and that they should be afforded the protection given by state regulation and licensing . . ."

Principles Are Favored

Chicago, Feb. 19 (AP)—The Journal of the American Medical Assn. said today the AMA favors the principles embodied in the Bricker amendment "because of the danger of socialization of medicine via international treaty." The Journal added, however, that the exact wording of a "suitable amendment" redefining existing treaty-making powers is "a matter for constitutional lawyers to determine, not for physicians."

RECONSTRUCT ROUTE 209

The movement to have Route 209 between Kingston and Port Jervis reconstructed, straightened and widened is receiving enthusiastic support from both individuals and organizations in communities of this area. The Kingston Rotary Club is one of the groups, which recently went on record as endorsing this project.

The committee, which is comprised of representatives from organizations in Kingston, Port Jervis, Ellenville, Summitville and Kerhonkson, points out that good roads are needed in order that those employed by industrial concerns along the route get to work and back home safely each day.

The industrial growth now underway in this area calls for immediate action on this important route.

The need for an adequate and safe highway is vital to the communities along and at the end of Route 209, because they are entirely dependent upon bus service. There is no railroad service between these communities.

A resolution adopted by Route 209 Association, which will be presented to the state superintendent of public works, emphasizes the following:

Route 209 is used by more than 150,000 vacationists between Memorial Day and Labor Day and by over 20,000 vacationists during the winter season.

The route is a key highway for school buses and is heavily used for transportation of farm produce to city markets.

It is a vital highway for rural fire departments under Mutual Aid plan and is designated as a "primary road" by civil defense authorities.

In its present condition this route, a vital highway for commercial and passenger traffic for vehicles from and to New England, Pennsylvania and New Jersey, is declared to be a contributing cause of many serious and fatal accidents.

Adequate highways are an important factor in the growth of an area. The drive to reconstruct Route 209 should receive the active support of all residents.

When our mechanical ability increases to the point where we can get the small screw out of the bottom of our cigarette lighter we may tackle that build-it-yourself automobile kit that was displayed at a New York motor show.

PLAN FOR EXPANSION

Full utilization of all property and especially those properties owned by the city and county and not on the tax rolls should be considered in the long-range planning to meet our industrial and business expansion.

In the establishment of an institution for the chronically ill at the old Alms House on Flatbush avenue, the authorities will use that existing property which has been idle for many years for a sound and practical purpose. There is a very large tract of land on this site and further use of it might be made with beneficial results to the city and county.

Carrying out this program, city and county officials would do well to make every possible use of non-producing public property when the contemplated new county building goes on the drawing boards. The return to the city in taxes and the enlargement of our business opportunities is important. There is no need for business to go elsewhere, provided we can offer the accommodations.

The municipal auditorium, which only has had limited use since the completion of the Kate Walton Field House, also should be given some thought.

The dictionaries reveal a new word with which to startle the family and friends. This is "edulcorate," meaning "sweeten." Strictly speaking, it is not a new word, as it goes back to the 17th century, but it will be strange to most people. Try this if you wish to create a sensation, "Do you edulcorate your coffee?" The answer, naturally, is, "First let's see the coffee."

An even disposition is the best insurance for avoiding the uneven crises which seem to come around every so often.

THE LINE OF SILENCE

I have before me a circular giving instructions to the enemies within our country to pursue the line of silence. Don't talk. Don't in particular talk to anybody connected with the FBI.

The circular ends with these slogans:

"Confront the F.B.I. with the working class dignity of Silence!

"Defend free speech by Silence to the police agents of the war-making, fascist-breeding monopolists!

"Silence to the class enemy and its agents is devotion to the working class and the democratic traditions of our country."

I wish that I could pursue the line of silence, particularly when the income tax forms come around. You and I are required by law to disclose all our affairs, our private deals, our income and some of our outgo, if we are self-employed and want deductions. The field man, who shows up a couple of years later, asks whether you bought that very pretty woman a lunch to get information for an article or just to show your friends that you can still be seen with a pretty one.

None of us enjoy the right of silence, not if we want a job and the personnel man insists upon knowing all about our lives, habits, foibles, marriage history and why we think that we are so good. You can accept the dignity of silence as a role in life, but you will never get the job.

The enemies within our country have issued 15 instructions to their slaves. The 15th instruction sums it all up:

"Remember this: the FBI agent has been sent out to bring back information. Conduct yourself in such a way that he will have to make this kind of report to his boss: 'I got absolutely nothing. Those people won't even open their mouths. They wouldn't even give me the right time!'"

They have a clear idea of how this agency works. It is in instruction 14:

"The FBI's pattern of spying is like a big jig saw puzzle. Every shred of information they get is fitted into place, helping them to complete that puzzle. There is no information which is not valuable to them. One small fact may not seem important—but it may lead them to another fact which is important."

This is quite correct and is the only method that produces results for the FBI or any other investigative agency. Conspirators do not provide information about their conspiracy. One of their principal activities is to cover up, to hide under assumed names, to avoid detection, to confuse the hunt, to allay suspicion. Most conspirators and spies have a cover-up and a front, so that should their work be exposed, it will be very difficult to put a finger on the actual culprit and his favored accomplices. A smaller person is caught; the top man gets away. Such top conspirators as George Mink and Gerhart Eisler got away; a small guy who signed petitions and joined front organizations is caught.

An investigative agency therefore picks up every little item and eliminates nothing. The raw files seem to be filled with rumor, gossip, small talk, even spite talk. When all these data are added to well-substantiated data, a mosaic appears on which is a well-designed pattern that points directly at the offender. In due course, he may be exposed. Whether he can be indicted is another matter; so many laws are written to aid the enemies of our country. Every investigation is a fishing expedition whether it is for a murderer, a kidnaper or a spy.

Item 5 says:

"Remember that FBI men are trained and skilled operators. And their skill consists in one thing—their ability to make you talk. If you don't talk—their skill and training is for naught!"

Human beings cannot live down their pasts, which pop up to plague them at the wrong time. The pattern may be one of irresponsibility, of lechery, of selling one's soul for money, or of treachery.

A conspirator rarely is without some index to his character which shows a pattern of misdeeds. It is possible to find in his past an index to his present conduct. That is why, in Congressional Investigations, it is so essential to go back many years, often to student days, to reconstruct the character of a man whose wickedness is inherent in the work he has chosen for himself.

That Body of Yours

ATOMIC ENERGY BENEFIT TO MANKIND

No one ever wants war; just to think of war's tragedies makes us feel that no good could ever come from war. However, with war has come the discovery of how to split the atom and with this great power now available, medical and dental research workers are now better equipped than ever before to fight disease.

In a News Release of the American Dental Association, we learn that atomic energy has provided new tools of research that point the way to vast new knowledge of tooth structure, dental disease and dental treatment.

There are five reports on new dental uses of radioactive materials in the current issue of the Journal of the American Dental Association which points out that research projects in the field have been completed or are in process in 17 institutions, including dental schools, the National Institute of Dental Research and institutions of the Armed Forces. Some 21 radioactive compounds have been used in investigations. "So many and varied are these new discoveries about atom energy that dental institutions will need to establish radioisotope equipment (instruments to study atomic and X-ray energy) in laboratories where graduate students can be trained in the use of these new tools of dental science."

In one of these studies reported in The Journal, dental X-rays have been taken experimentally without the use of X-ray machine. Research workers of State University, Columbia, have found radioisotopes which act as sources of radiation similar to that produced by the dental X-ray equipment.

The source of X-ray power comes from the small central part (nucleus) of certain atoms. "No vacuum tube is required and no high voltage is necessary. These nuclei, of their own accord and without any outside help whatsoever, cause the emission of X-rays whose intensity is directly proportionate to the number of nuclei present."

The scientists said that the radioactive X-ray emitters are so small they may be placed in many parts of the body, thus making it possible to obtain clearer photographs than might be obtained by the usual X-rays and to obtain photographs of portions of the body heretofore considered inaccessible for X-ray detection.

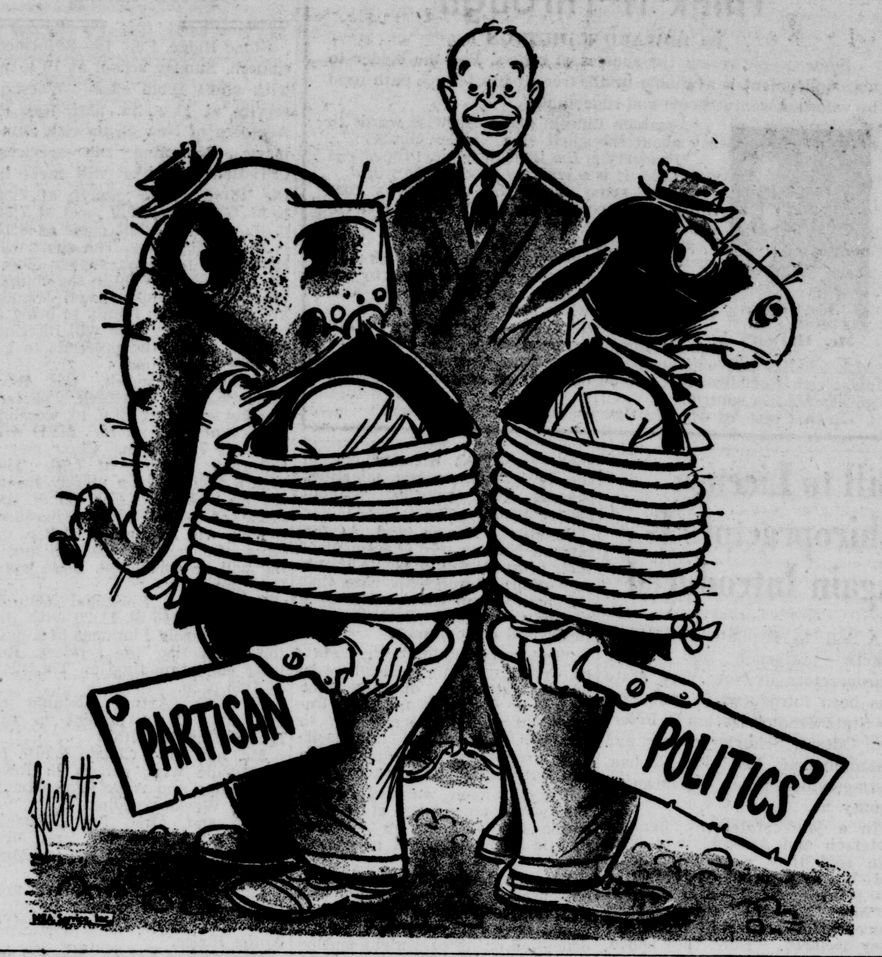

With research workers studying atomic energy for use in medicine and dentistry in all these institutions, and medical and dental schools, we can look forward to real benefits to mankind from sources which first had in mind the use of atom energy in warfare, that is, the destruction of mankind.

"All Right, Boys---Just the Facts, at Twenty Paces"

Edson's Washington News Notebook

Washington—(NEA)—To anyone getting U. S. Savings Bonds bearing the signature of "John W. Snyder" as Secretary of the Treasury, it should be explained that they're still good, even though that official has been out of office for more than a year. What happened was that the departing Democrats, in one of the neatest little political accidents of last year, left behind them some 30 million pieces of E-bond paper, all printed up with Secretary Snyder's signature.

To have destroyed these bonds would have been wasteful. The Republican Secretary of the Treasury George M. Humphrey had to issue an order validating the Snyder bonds for continued sale. But Secretary Humphrey had been in office only three days when he put the Bureau of Printing and Engraving to work on bonds bearing his own signature. Many of them are in circulation now.

Out of Everything

Secretary of Agriculture Ezra Taft Benson, illustrating the importance of water in the western plains states from which he himself comes, told this story to a Columbus, Neb., audience the other day:

"A thirsty traveler, passing this way early in the history of Nebraska, saw a house and went over to get water. The house was deserted. But there was a well nearby with a bucket and windlass. The traveler let down the bucket. He brought it up empty. He tried again—same result. Then he noticed a sign on the house. It read:

"'This Claim for Sale. Four miles to the nearest neighbor. Seven miles to the nearest schoolhouse. Fourteen miles to the nearest town. Two hundred feet down to the nearest water. God bless our home.'"

Ticks and Chiggers

Supreme Court Justice William O. Douglas has turned up as one of the principal opponents to plans for building a memorial highway from Washington to Cumberland, Md., along the route of George Washington's old Ohio Canal, which follows the Potomac river. Opposition to this project comes from people who want to keep the area an undeveloped country for hikers and campers. They think a road would spoil it. To promote this idea, Justice Douglas has offered to lead a hiking expedition over the 100-mile trail.

There's a catch in this offer, however. Justice Douglas insists that it must be made early in the year. Later in the summer, the ticks and the chiggers along the canal bed are so thick that humans can scarcely get out of it alive.

Rare Steak Dinner

Buffalo and elk steaks, each identified by a small label on every plate, were served to congressmen, Secretary of the Interior Douglas McKay and other officials at a dinner given by the American Automobile Assn. and its president, Ralph Thomas. The meat was donated by the state of South Dakota. The tags enabled the guests to decide which they liked better.

Main purpose of the gathering, aside from the free food, was to enable A.A.A. President Thomas to put over the idea that U. S. National Parks were in poor condition for tourists. In reply, Secretary McKay insisted that, "There's nothing wrong with our parks that money can't fix," but that the defense and economy budgets had to come first.

Plugging the UN

Ambassador Henry Cabot Lodge, Jr., head of the American mission to the United Nations, has made a special point of accepting invitations to make speeches in cities which are supposed to be the centers of opposition to the UN. These are reportedly Los Angeles, Dallas, Houston and Chicago. Ambassador Lodge has spoken in the first three and will hit Chicago early in March.

At every one of these appearances, Ambassador Lodge is challenging the leading opponents of the UN to come in and debate him on its worth. At Los Angeles the invitation went to Gerald L. K. Smith. In Texas it went to H. L. Hunt, the multimillionaire oilman, who is one of the leading sponsors of "Facts Forum." Neither showed up.

Parade Led by Army

While racial segregation is rapidly being eliminated from all U. S. armed forces, it is the Army that is leading the parade against discrimination. The Pentagon reveals that 12.5 per cent of the Army troops are Negroes. The Air Force has 7.3 per cent. In the Navy and Marine Corps, it's three per cent.

President Criticized for Restricting Freedom of Speech for Government Officials

By DAVID LAWRENCE

Washington, Feb. 19—Freedom of speech for government officials has been dealt another crushing blow—this time by President Eisenhower himself, who ordered Clarence Manion, chairman of the commission on intergovernmental relations, dismissed without a hearing and without specifying any cause of removal. But it was leaked in some news dispatches about three weeks ago that the White House didn't like Mr. Manion's views on the proposed Bricker amendment and was planning to "fire" him.

Only three months ago the President was telling his press conference that government employes would not be dismissed without a chance to confront their accusers and that he would not put the stigma of dismissal on anyone until there had been ample opportunity for the accused to know the charges made against him.

But Clarence Manion, former dean of the law school of Notre Dame, was given no such opportunity. He was called to the White House by Sherman Adams, presidential assistant, on February 12 and told that he ought to resign. When pressed for reasons, Mr. Adams said the matter had already been decided and there was no use going into that subject. It was intimated that some of the members of the commission were dissatisfied and wanted action taken, but no particulars as to the identity of these persons were given.

When Mr. Manion returned to the commission for its regular meeting on Wednesday of this week and told the members what had happened, several expressed indignation and a resolution was unanimously adopted which expressed confidence in Mr. Manion and regret that he had resigned.

Mr. Manion, who was for 25 years professor of constitutional law at Notre Dame University, was appointed last August to be chairman of the commission to study federal and state and municipal relations. He told the President he would have to keep some speaking engagements during the term of his service. Mr. Manion's views on the Bricker amendment were well known at the time, as he was one of the originators of the movement to amend the constitution to prevent abuse of the treaty-making power. He has since continued to express his views, but he engaged in no other activities, such as contacting senators or making speeches on the Bricker amendment, which in any way were related to his work on the intergovernmental commission. The commission's work is largely of a legal research nature.

Mr. Manion is conviced an attempt was made to punish him solely for the views he expressed on the Bricker amendment. It's a form of "thought control" which many "liberals" have been inveighing against as they argue that dissent has been frowned on by government and that a man is penalized nowadays for honest expressions of opinion. Certainly it seems on its face to be a palable attempt to secure "conformity" of thought, which lately has been denounced by "liberal" spokesmen as a phase of dictatorship.

But, because Mr. Manion happens to favor the Bricker amendment, it is doubtful whether the so-called "liberals" on Capitol Hill will take up his cause and harass the President. To give details, as they have been urging in connection with the demand for data on the 2,200 security risks separated from government service.

What makes the case of professor Manion so deplorable is that the White House knew his viewpoint before he was appointed and knew also of his papers and addresses on legal aspects of the constitution. There are 25 members of the Intergovernmental Commission of which he was chairman, and they were selected, in accordance with an act of Congress, on a bipartisan basis. Mr. Manion was appointed as part of the Democratic party group, though he voted for Mr. Eisenhower in the last election.

On the same commission, for example, are Senator Schoepel, of Kansas, Republican, an outspoken supporter of the Bricker amendment, and Senator Humphrey, Democrat, of Minnesota, an opponent of the amendment. There are other members of Congress on the commission. It is to be presumed that they are not to express their views on questions outside the purview of the Intergovernmental Commission's work. There are on the commission Governor Shivers of Texas and ex-Governor Battle of Virginia. Would they be disqualified from membership if they spoke before bar associations on the problem of States' Rights and Limitations of the Federal Constitution?

It is being said that the President has a right to expect harmonious expressions and active support from members of the executive branch of the government. But the many special commissions being appointed are temporary bodies to which are delegated specific tasks of gathering information. They are in no sense part of the policy-making departments of the executive branch of the government. It will be a sorry day for the White House if every time a person accepts membership on a governmental commission he must consider himself gagged from expressing any views on all other subjects in which there is a public interest.

Mr. Manion is one of the leading exponents of States' Rights in the country and, when he was appointed last year, he said on leaving the White House that he was delighted that the President was interested in revitalizing the Constitutional rights of the states.

If Mr. Manion's views of States' Rights in any way embarrassed the White House, this should have been taken into account when he was first appointed and, if this was the reason for dismissal, ordinary courtesy should require that he be told that reason frankly.

Mr. Eisenhower hitherto has not seemed the kind of man who would "fire" a government employe without a hearing. An explanation of all the facts would seem logical, lest many persons in both parties who agree with Mr. Manion's views begin to believe the administration's sincerity has been challenged.

AS PEGLER SEES IT

By WESTBROOK PEGLER

New York, Feb. 18—Charles Porter, one of those journalistic G.A.R.'s of the Denver days, has suggested that someone on the order of Bob Casey should do a book of memoirs on the quaint characters who then and there adorned our trade. This refers to the gallus days of Damon Runyon and of Damon's roomie, Hamish McLaurin, an almost fictitious person who was brought into this world by the doctor who had killed a member of the Jesse James gang in the Northfield raid and had claimed the cadaver for his studies at Ann Arbor; whose Uncle Dan was murdered by Sitting Bull and who, after leaving Denver, became a great reporter in New York, a whodunnit fictioneer and a savant on Esoteric Oriental cults.

Mr. Porter was in and out of Denver then and is one of the few surviving authorities on a ribald crew of gangling scamps whose weekly pay-days were always at least two days too far apart. Bob Casey already has done such a book on a wider canvas called "Such Interesting People" and Gene Fowler's "Timberline" is a credible treatment of the absolutely incredible tammen and bonfils, a honkatonk bartender and a West Pointer, who ran the Denver Post and Denver, too, according to a free-style set of ethics improvised from hour to hour.

As of now, Clark Kinnaird is compiling material for a book restricted to Damon's career, but with embellishing antics of contemporaries who, in the Denver phase, revolved, a word I use advisedly, around the police station and the press club. I doubt me that Mr. Kinnaird's work will do justice to Denver journalism as a whole for Damon was not the whole of it but only one picturesque figure in a weird parade. Thinking further on it, I am struck by the idea that here is a man casting about for an author to do a book who is the very one best qualified of all the known survivors to do that very book.

Mr. Porter's lore is lurid and lavish, he writes with genial cynicism flavored with affection and now that George Creel is gone who was always a torch-bearer, anyway, and hadn't the humor to go soaping windows for fun, nobody alive has the treasure of incidents that Charlie Porter has. Incidentally, he insists that this late in his life I have frustrated his secret ambition of many years to become president of the anti-saloon league, by my unfeeling reference to the night he overindulged in chocolate nut sundaes in Salt Lake City and was unable to write his own fearless denunciation of a mockery between Fireman Jim Flynn and Tony Capone at the burlesque theatre.

I recently asked Mr. Porter about the pay that reporters got in Denver, recalling that in Minneapolis there was a time when one of the best hands in the whole country was down to $18 a week with the Cloverleaf Daily News, and with three children to support. That was Arthur James Pegler.

"That was a lot of money then," Mr. Porter writes. "I was head of the copy desk and assistant managing editor of the New York Press about 1913 for $30 a week. Munsey was letting it die. It had been a good sheet owned by a millionaire whose name, I believe, was Einstein. He is the guy who described (a histric theatrical producer) as 'a man who would dig his mother's bones from the grave and sell them to buy flowers for a harlot.' That editorial raised hell.

"I jumped from the Press to the Old Herald but only after committing my second assassination of a reigning monarch, Willie Locke, late secretary of the Pirates, and I were on the Pittsburgh Chronicle-Telegraph. We were going out to lunch when he was called back.

RECONSTRUCT ROUTE 209

The movement to have Route 209 between Kingston and Port Jervis reconstructed, straightened and widened is receiving enthusiastic support from both individuals and organizations in communities of this area. The Kingston Rotary Club is one of the groups, which recently went on record as endorsing this project.

The committee, which is comprised of representatives from organizations in Kingston, Port Jervis, Ellenville, Summitville and Kerhonkson, points out that good roads are needed in order that those employed by industrial concerns along the route get to work and back home safely each day.

The industrial growth now underway in this area calls for immediate action on this important route.

The need for an adequate and safe highway is vital to the communities along and at the end of Route 209, because they are entirely dependent upon bus service. There is no railroad service between these communities.

A resolution adopted by Route 209 Association, which will be presented to the state superintendent of public works, emphasizes the following:

Route 209 is used by more than 150,000 vacationists between Memorial Day and Labor Day and by over 20,000 vacationists during the winter season.

The route is a key highway for school buses and is heavily used for transportation of farm produce to city markets.

It is a vital highway for rural fire departments under Mutual Aid plan and is designated as a "primary road" by civil defense authorities.

In its present condition this route, a vital highway for commercial and passenger traffic for vehicles from and to New England, Pennsylvania and New Jersey, is declared to be a contributing cause of many serious and fatal accidents.

Adequate highways are an important factor in the growth of an area. The drive to reconstruct Route 209 should receive the active support of all residents.

When our mechanical ability increases to the point where we can get the small screw out of the bottom of our cigarette lighter we may tackle that build-it-yourself automobile kit that was displayed at a New York motor show.

PLAN FOR EXPANSION

Full utilization of all property and especially those properties owned by the city and county and not on the tax rolls should be considered in the long-range planning to meet our industrial and business expansion.

In the establishment of an institution for the chronically ill at the old Alms House on Flatbush avenue, the authorities will use that existing property which has been idle for many years for a sound and practical purpose. There is a very large tract of land on this site and further use of it might be made with beneficial results to the city and county.

Carrying out this program, city and county officials would do well to make every possible use of non-producing public property when the contemplated new county building goes on the drawing boards. The return to the city in taxes and the enlargement of our business opportunities is important. There is no need for business to go elsewhere, provided we can offer the accommodations.

The municipal auditorium, which only has had limited use since the completion of the Kate Walton Field House, also should be given some thought.

The dictionaries reveal a new word with which to startle the family and friends. This is "edulcorate," meaning "sweeten." Strictly speaking, it is not a new word, as it goes back to the 17th century, but it will be strange to most people. Try this if you wish to create a sensation, "Do you edulcorate your coffee?" The answer, naturally,, is, "First let's see the coffee."

An even disposition is the best insurance for avoiding the uneven crises which seem to come around every so often.

'These Days'

By GEORGE SOKOLSKY

THE LINE OF SILENCE

I have before me a circular giving instructions to the enemies within our country to pursue the line of silence. Don't talk. Don't in particular talk to anybody connected with the FBI.

The circular ends with these slogans:

"Confront the F.B.I. with the working class dignity of Silence!

"Defend free speech by Silence to the police agents of the war-making, fascist-breeding monopolists!

"Silence to the class enemy and its agents is devotion to the working class and the democratic traditions of our country."

I wish that I could pursue the line of silence, particularly when the income tax forms come around. You and I are required by law to disclose all our affairs, our private deals, our income and some of our outgo, if we are self-employed and want deductions. The field man, who shows up a couple of years later, asks whether you bought that very pretty woman a lunch to get information for an article or just to show your friends that you can still be seen with a pretty one.

None of us enjoy the right of silence, not if we want a job and the personnel man insists upon knowing all about our lives, habits, foibles, marriage history and why we think that we are so good. You can accept the dignity of silence as a role in life, but you will never get the job.

The enemies within our country have issued 15 instructions to their slaves. The 15th instruction sums it all up:

"Remember this: the FBI agent has been sent out to bring back information. Conduct yourself in such a way that he will have to make this kind of report to his boss: 'I got absolutely nothing. Those people won't even open their mouths. They wouldn't even give me the right time!'"

They have a clear idea of how this agency works. It is in instruction 14:

"The FBI's pattern of spying is like a big jig saw puzzle. Every shred of information they get is fitted into place, helping them to complete that puzzle. There is no information which is not valuable to them. One small fact may not seem important—but it may lead them to another fact which is important."

This is quite correct and is the only method that produces results for the FBI or any other investigative agency. Conspirators do not provide information about their conspiracy. One of their principal activities is to cover up, to hide under assumed names, to avoid detection, to confuse the hunt, to allay suspicion. Most conspirators and spies have a cover-up and a front, so that should their work be exposed, it will be very difficult to put a finger on the actual culprit and his favored accomplices. A smaller person is caught; the top man gets away. Such top conspirators as George Mink and Gerhart Eisler got away; a small guy who signed petitions and joined front organizations is caught.

An investigative agency therefore picks up every little item and eliminates nothing. The raw files seem to be filled with rumor, gossip, small talk, even spite talk. When all these data are added to well-substantiated data, a mosaic appears on which is a well-designed pattern that points directly at the offender. In due course, he may be exposed. Whether he can be indicted is another matter; so many laws are written to aid the enemies of our country. Every investigation is a fishing expedition whether it is for a murderer, a kidnaper or a spy.

Item 5 says:

"Remember that FBI men are trained and skilled operators. And their skill consists in one thing—their ability to make you talk. If you don't talk—their skill and training is for naught!"

Human beings cannot live down their pasts, which pop up to plague them at the wrong time. The pattern may be one of irresponsibility, of lechery, of selling one's soul for money, or of treachery.

A conspirator rarely is without some index to his character which shows a pattern of misdeeds. It is possible to find in his past an index to his present conduct. That is why, in Congressional Investigations, it is so essential to go back many years, often to student days, to reconstruct the character of a man whose wickedness is inherent in the work he has chosen for himself.

That Body of Yours

By JAMES W. BARTON, M.D.

ATOMIC ENERGY BENEFIT TO MANKIND

No one ever wants war; just to think of war's tragedies makes us feel that no good could ever come from war. However, with war has come the discovery of how to split the atom and with this great power now available, medical and dental research workers are now better equipped than ever before to fight disease.

In a News Release of the American Dental Association, we learn that atomic energy has provided new tools of research that point the way to vast new knowledge of tooth structure, dental disease and dental treatment.

There are five reports on new dental uses of radioactive materials in the current issue of the Journal of the American Dental Association which points out that research projects in the field have been completed or are in process in 17 institutions, including dental schools, the National Institute of Dental Research and institutions of the Armed Forces. Some 21 radioactive compounds have been used in investigations. "So many and varied are these new discoveries about atom energy that dental institutions will need to establish radioisotope equipment (instruments to study atomic and X-ray energy) in laboratories where graduate students can be trained in the use of these new tools of dental science."

In one of these studies reported in The Journal, dental X-rays have been taken experimentally without the use of X-ray machine. Research workers of State University, Columbia, have found radioisotopes which act as sources of radiation similar to that produced by the dental X-ray equipment.

The source of X-ray power comes from the small central part (nucleus) of certain atoms. "No vacuum tube is required and no high voltage is necessary. These nuclei, of their own accord and without any outside help whatsoever, cause the emission of X-rays whose intensity is directly proportionate to the number of nuclei present."

The scientists said that the radioactive X-ray emitters are so small they may be placed in many parts of the body, thus making it possible to obtain clearer photographs than might be obtained by the usual X-rays and to obtain photographs of portions of the body heretofore considered inaccessible for X-ray detection.

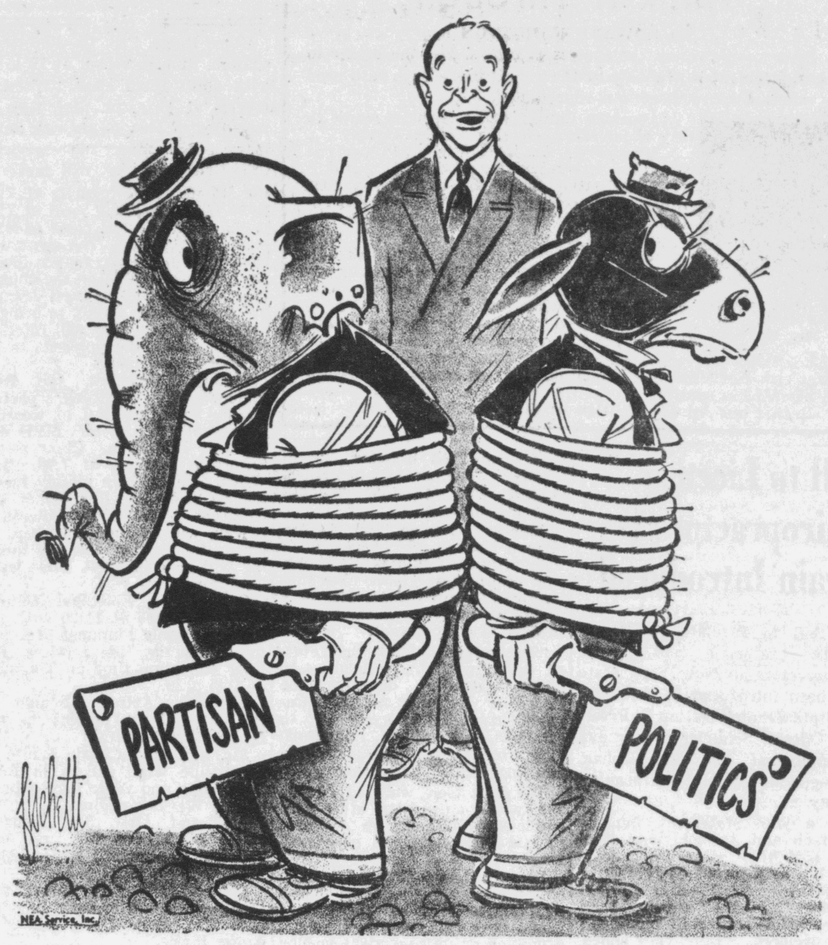

With research workers studying atomic energy for use in medicine and dentistry in all these institutions, and medical and dental schools, we can look forward to real benefits to mankind from sources which first had in mind the use of atom energy in warfare, that is, the destruction of mankind.

Edson's Washington News Notebook

Washington—(NEA)—To anyone getting U. S. Savings Bonds bearing the signature of "John W. Snyder" as Secretary of the Treasury, it should be explained that they're still good, even though that official has been out of office for more than a year. What happened was that the departing Democrats, in one of the neatest little political accidents of last year, left behind them some 30 million pieces of E-bond paper, all printed up with Secretary Snyder's signature.

To have destroyed these bonds would have been wasteful. The Republican Secretary of the Treasury George M. Humphrey had to issue an order validating the Snyder bonds for continued sale. But Secretary Humphrey had been in office only three days when he put the Bureau of Printing and Engraving to work on bonds bearing his own signature. Many of them are in circulation now.

Out of Everything

Secretary of Agriculture Ezra Taft Benson, illustrating the importance of water in the western plains states from which he himself comes, told this story to a Columbus, Neb., audience the other day:

"A thirsty traveler, passing this way early in the history of Nebraska, saw a house and went over to get water. The house was deserted. But there was a well nearby with a bucket and windlass. The traveler let down the bucket. He brought it up empty. He tried again—same result. Then he noticed a sign on the house. It read:

"'This Claim for Sale. Four miles to the nearest neighbor. Seven miles to the nearest schoolhouse. Fourteen miles to the nearest town. Two hundred feet down to the nearest water. God bless our home.'"

Ticks and Chiggers

Supreme Court Justice William O. Douglas has turned up as one of the principal opponents to plans for building a memorial highway from Washington to Cumberland, Md., along the route of George Washington's old Ohio Canal, which follows the Potomac river. Opposition to this project comes from people who want to keep the area an undeveloped country for hikers and campers. They think a road would spoil it. To promote this idea, Justice Douglas has offered to lead a hiking expedition over the 100-mile trail.

There's a catch in this offer, however. Justice Douglas insists that it must be made early in the year. Later in the summer, the ticks and the chiggers along the canal bed are so thick that humans can scarcely get out of it alive.

Rare Steak Dinner

Buffalo and elk steaks, each identified by a small label on every plate, were served to congressmen, Secretary of the Interior Douglas McKay and other officials at a dinner given by the American Automobile Assn. and its president, Ralph Thomas. The meat was donated by the state of South Dakota. The tags enabled the guests to decide which they liked better.

Main purpose of the gathering, aside from the free food, was to enable A.A.A. President Thomas to put over the idea that U. S. National Parks were in poor condition for tourists. In reply, Secretary McKay insisted that, "There's nothing wrong with our parks that money can't fix," but that the defense and economy budgets had to come first.

Plugging the UN

Ambassador Henry Cabot Lodge, Jr., head of the American mission to the United Nations, has made a special point of accepting invitations to make speeches in cities which are supposed to be the centers of opposition to the UN. These are reportedly Los Angeles, Dallas, Houston and Chicago. Ambassador Lodge has spoken in the first three and will hit Chicago early in March.

At every one of these appearances, Ambassador Lodge is challenging the leading opponents of the UN to come in and debate him on its worth. At Los Angeles the invitation went to Gerald L. K. Smith. In Texas it went to H. L. Hunt, the multimillionaire oilman, who is one of the leading sponsors of "Facts Forum." Neither showed up.

Parade Led by Army

While racial segregation is rapidly being eliminated from all U. S. armed forces, it is the Army that is leading the parade against discrimination. The Pentagon reveals that 12.5 per cent of the Army troops are Negroes. The Air Force has 7.3 per cent. In the Navy and Marine Corps, it's three per cent.

Today in Washington

President Criticized for Restricting Freedom of Speech for Government Officials

By DAVID LAWRENCE

Washington, Feb. 19—Freedom of speech for government officials has been dealt another crushing blow—this time by President Eisenhower himself, who ordered Clarence Manion, chairman of the commission on intergovernmental relations, dismissed without a hearing and without specifying any cause of removal. But it was leaked in some news dispatches about three weeks ago that the White House didn't like Mr. Manion's views on the proposed Bricker amendment and was planning to "fire" him.

Only three months ago the President was telling his press conference that government employes would not be dismissed without a chance to confront their accusers and that he would not put the stigma of dismissal on anyone until there had been ample opportunity for the accused to know the charges made against him.

But Clarence Manion, former dean of the law school of Notre Dame, was given no such opportunity. He was called to the White House by Sherman Adams, presidential assistant, on February 12 and told that he ought to resign. When pressed for reasons, Mr. Adams said the matter had already been decided and there was no use going into that subject. It was intimated that some of the members of the commission were dissatisfied and wanted action taken, but no particulars as to the identity of these persons were given.

When Mr. Manion returned to the commission for its regular meeting on Wednesday of this week and told the members what had happened, several expressed indignation and a resolution was unanimously adopted which expressed confidence in Mr. Manion and regret that he had resigned.

Mr. Manion, who was for 25 years professor of constitutional law at Notre Dame University, was appointed last August to be chairman of the commission to study federal and state and municipal relations. He told the President he would have to keep some speaking engagements during the term of his service. Mr. Manion's views on the Bricker amendment were well known at the time, as he was one of the originators of the movement to amend the constitution to prevent abuse of the treaty-making power. He has since continued to express his views, but he engaged in no other activities, such as contacting senators or making speeches on the Bricker amendment, which in any way were related to his work on the intergovernmental commission. The commission's work is largely of a legal research nature.

Mr. Manion is conviced an attempt was made to punish him solely for the views he expressed on the Bricker amendment. It's a form of "thought control" which many "liberals" have been inveighing against as they argue that dissent has been frowned on by government and that a man is penalized nowadays for honest expressions of opinion. Certainly it seems on its face to be a palable attempt to secure "conformity" of thought, which lately has been denounced by "liberal" spokesmen as a phase of dictatorship.

But, because Mr. Manion happens to favor the Bricker amendment, it is doubtful whether the so-called "liberals" on Capitol Hill will take up his cause and harass the President. To give details, as they have been urging in connection with the demand for data on the 2,200 security risks separated from government service.

What makes the case of professor Manion so deplorable is that the White House knew his viewpoint before he was appointed and knew also of his papers and addresses on legal aspects of the constitution. There are 25 members of the Intergovernmental Commission of which he was chairman, and they were selected, in accordance with an act of Congress, on a bipartisan basis. Mr. Manion was appointed as part of the Democratic party group, though he voted for Mr. Eisenhower in the last election.

On the same commission, for example, are Senator Schoepel, of Kansas, Republican, an outspoken supporter of the Bricker amendment, and Senator Humphrey, Democrat, of Minnesota, an opponent of the amendment. There are other members of Congress on the commission. It is to be presumed that they are not to express their views on questions outside the purview of the Intergovernmental Commission's work. There are on the commission Governor Shivers of Texas and ex-Governor Battle of Virginia. Would they be disqualified from membership if they spoke before bar associations on the problem of States' Rights and Limitations of the Federal Constitution?

It is being said that the President has a right to expect harmonious expressions and active support from members of the executive branch of the government. But the many special commissions being appointed are temporary bodies to which are delegated specific tasks of gathering information. They are in no sense part of the policy-making departments of the executive branch of the government. It will be a sorry day for the White House if every time a person accepts membership on a governmental commission he must consider himself gagged from expressing any views on all other subjects in which there is a public interest.

Mr. Manion is one of the leading exponents of States' Rights in the country and, when he was appointed last year, he said on leaving the White House that he was delighted that the President was interested in revitalizing the Constitutional rights of the states.

If Mr. Manion's views of States' Rights in any way embarrassed the White House, this should have been taken into account when he was first appointed and, if this was the reason for dismissal, ordinary courtesy should require that he be told that reason frankly.

Mr. Eisenhower hitherto has not seemed the kind of man who would "fire" a government employe without a hearing. An explanation of all the facts would seem logical, lest many persons in both parties who agree with Mr. Manion's views begin to believe the administration's sincerity has been challenged.

I recently asked Mr. Porter about the pay that reporters got in Denver, recalling that in Minneapolis there was a time when one of the best hands in the whole country was down to $18 a week with the Cloverleaf Daily News, and with three children to support. That was Arthur James Pegler.

"That was a lot of money then," Mr. Porter writes. "I was head of the copy desk and assistant managing editor of the New York Press about 1913 for $30 a week. Munsey was letting it die. It had been a good sheet owned by a millionaire whose name, I believe, was Einstein. He is the guy who described (a histric theatrical producer) as 'a man who would dig his mother's bones from the grave and sell them to buy flowers for a harlot.' That editorial raised hell.

"I jumped from the Press to the Old Herald but only after committing my second assassination of a reigning monarch, Willie Locke, late secretary of the Pirates, and I were on the Pittsburgh Chronicle-Telegraph. We were going out to lunch when he was called back.

Bley Declares He WasBroken,Signed False Confession

Washington, Feb. 19 (AP)—Maj. Roy Bley testified today he was "mentally and physically broken" by his Communist captors in Korea when he signed a false confession to engaging in germ warfare operations.

Bley, 40, appeared at his own request as a witness in the Marine Corps Court of Inquiry which is determining whether his fellow officer, Col. Frank H. Schwable, should face a court martial for a similar false confession.

Bley was named "an interested party" to the inquiry yesterday after Schwable's counsel, Col. Paul Sherman, told Bley he was "suspected" of improper dealings with the enemy after Schwable and Bley were captured July 8, 1952.

The marine corps decided overnight to confine the current inquiry to Schwable rather than investigate Bley's conduct at the same time.

Set Up Court Martial

The army, meanwhile, prepared to set up a court martial for one of its men, Cpl. Edward S. Dickenson, who at first decided to remain with the Communists who captured him in Korea but later elected to return home.

Some of the accusations against Dickensen are applicable only in time of war and this may raise a legal problem: was the fighting in Korea a war?

For the marine corps, the issue is whether its two officers broke military law by making the false confessions under extreme pressure.

Bley said he signed the false confession after five sleepless nights under threat of removal to Communist China for execution as a war criminal.

After Solitary Jail

This period followed months of solitary confinement, frequent brutal mistreatment and near starvation, the Santa Ana, Calif., officer declared. He said he also suffered badly from wounds and from nervous afflictions so severe that he had to crawl on hands and knees.

"After five nights I was mentally and physically broken," Bley said, speaking in a low monotone.

Bley said he was kicked 40 or 50 times by Communist interrogators or guards and was struck "numerous times" with a rifle butt. In addition, he said, he sometimes was deprived of food for as long as five days when he refused to give the interrogators the military information they asked for.

"They had no scruples about using anything that would assist their brain washing procedures," Bley said.

26 Quarts a Day

Averaging 26 quarts daily, Nuway Dehishe Ormsby Hilma, a registered Holstein owned by Ridgely Farms of Stone Ridge, has completed an official Herd Improvement Registry production record totaling 19,083 pounds of milk and 717 pounds of butterfat in 347 days. Testing was supervised by Cornell University in cooperation with the Holstein-Friesian Association of America. Milked two times daily, the cow was four years, eight months of age when her test began. Her total was about three and three-quarters times the production of the average U. S. cow.

Dust Storm Reported

Garden City, Kan., Feb. 19 (AP)—A severe dust storm reduced visibility sharply in western Kansas today, forcing the closing of rural schools and hampering highway travel in some areas. At Garden City, visibility was listed as zero. The wind, gauged by the Civil Aeronautics Station at 60 to 65 miles an hour, piled up silt on streets and sidewalks here. Several businessmen shoveled dirt from sidewalks, much like they do during snowstorms. Traffic on highways in this section was at a standstill. One resident reported it took him 15 minutes to go three blocks.

Warned to Move Along

Clinton Gardiner, 41, who police said, has no home, was warned to get moving out of town or be faced with a suspended sentence, when he appeared befor City Judge Raymond J. Mino the other day. He apparently didn't get going. Gardiner faced the judge again today on a public intoxication charge and was sentenced to 180 days in jail. He was found lying on the tracks near Greenkill avenue when arrested the other day. Yesterday afternoon he was picked up by Officers Louis Sapp, Jr., and Harold DeGraff on Broadway. It was his 59th arrest here.

Owl Spreads Fire

Beloit, Kan., Feb. 19 (AP)—An owl spread a fire which burned an estimated 700 acres of pasture. Burning weeds set a tree afire on the Emery Watson farm. The owl, nesting in the tree, flew nearly half a mile with its wings aflame and dropped on the Delmont Jones farm, starting a new fire. The second fire spread to five other farms.

York Won't Run On Saugerties Political Ticket

Trustee Henry York, who has served on the Saugerties village board for 15 years, declined to be re-nominated for the office on the Citizens Protective Party and at the caucus of the party held Thursday evening David S. Cunningham was named along with Trustees Roy Helsmoortel and Joseph Vozdik, who were designated by the party to succeed themselves.

Daniel Lamb was re-nominated for the office of police justice.

What the nomination of Cunningham will bring about in the opposing Independent Party is still in doubt. It had been rumored that should York be renominated along with Helsmoortel and Vizdik, the Independents would offer no opposition but since York declined to run again the action of the Independents may hinge on what happens when Mayor George Holmes returns from Florida.

Desires 'Rest'

The action of York came as a bombshell to the Protectives only a few days ago when he wrote a letter to Chairman Arthur F. Simmons stating he desired a "rest" from political office. In his letter he indicated he intended to remain active in village affairs but sought rest after fifteen yars of service as a trustee.

Cunningham, a teacher in the Saugerties school system, was a candidate last year but was defeated by 22 votes. The village election will be held on March 16. The meeting of the Protectives was held at the Saugerties Municipal building Thursday evening at 7 o'clock. There was approximately 25 members of the party at the meeting.

Astronomer Says Other Planets Are Favorable to Life

By ALTON L. BLAKESLEE
(AP Science Reporter)

New York, Feb. 19 (AP)—We are not alone in the universe, for there are probably 100 million other planets suitable for high forms of life, says famous Harvard astronomer, Dr. Harlow Shapley.

The life on some of them may surpass our own, with beings superior to humans, he writes in a new book "Climatic Change," published today (Harvard University Press, $6).

Dr. Shapley is cautious when it comes to estimating just how many planets may support life. He figures it this way:

Suppose only one star or sun in a million has any planets at all.

And suppose only one in a thousand of those families of planets has the conditions "suitable for the life experiment." That means a near-circular orbit, proper distance from a warmth-giving star, proper mass, atmosphere, and rotation period for night and day.

That would mean only one life-bearing planet for every billion stars.

Still being skeptical, suppose that life went on to higher forms on only one of every thousand of these planets. On the others, something could have happened to end life.

Leaves 100 Million

That still leaves 100 million planets as life-theaters because there are so many thousands of billions of stars in the universe. Our milky way alone, to which we belong, has 100 billion stars, and there are billions of milky ways or galaxies.

Dr. Shapley is editor of, and writes the introduction for the book giving views of more than 20 different scientific specialists on the causes of great climatic changes on earth, and the effects upon life.

Slight variations in the sun's heat and radiations are one main possibility of changes which produced ice ages and warm periods. Others are dust from volcanoes and the rising of continents and mountains re-directing air currents.

The 23rd child, a girl, arrived yesterday in St. Anne's Hospital, Fall River. The infant was the eighth girl in succession and is one of 17 surviving Demello children, the eldest 23 years old. All the children were born separately to the 40-year-old Mrs. Demello who was a bride at 15. The first born lived only until two years old and five others died at birth.

Dead Vet's Father Victim of Hoax

Camden, N. J., Feb. 19—A five-day dream that his soldier son might still be alive was ended today for Walter Tartar, 64-year-old shipyard worker.

Tartar conceded early this morning as he went to bed that he had been a victim of a vicious hoax in being led to believe that the son killed in Korea 11 months ago was still alive.

The father received a telegram last Saturday with the words "Hello Pop. Will be home on Thursday. Dick." It was sent from New York city.

His son, Pvt. Richard Tartar, 21, was reported by the army to have been killed in action in Korea. A sealed coffin and his personal papers arrived here last summer.

With only a father's hope, the elder Tartar waited up past midnight before sadly shaking his head and telling a group of reporters and photographers who kept the vigil with him:

"I won't be satisfied until the one who did it goes to jail."

repairs to the bridge. At 3 p. m., February 10, the date set for opening the bids, it was found that no bids had been submitted.

Agitation continued, however, against abandoning plans for preserving Perrine's Bridge, and although the next step has not been decided, Supervisor Edward Eckert of the town of Esopus revealed today that he and Supervisor Andrew J. Snyder of the town of Rosendale are working on plans for some type of project to keep the bridge from collapsing.

To Present Plans

Supervisors Eckert and Snyder intend to present these plans to Highway Superintendent Green, Eckert said, and will continue their efforts until an acceptable solution is found.

Since June 11, 1940, the county highway superintendent has been charged with maintenance and preservation of the bridge for traffic "other than vehicular," in accordance with a resolution adopted that date by the Board of Supervisors on motion of Raymond Howe, then supervisor from the town of Esopus.

Built in 1850

Built in 1850, when the Wallkill valley was the chief means of overland access from the Catskills to New York city, Perrine's bridge spans the Wallkill river a short distance from the hamlet of Rifton, connecting the townships of Rosendale and Esopus.

Officially known as County Bridge 141, the structure got its more familiar name from the Perrine family which settled near the future site of the bridge about 1800. It is pronounced with a long "i."

At the time the bridge was built, the vicinity was buzzing with the activity of sawmills and gristmills near the dam just downstream. The Dimmick Carpet Mills, which survived into the early Twentieth Century, was another famous early industry of the area.

In Use Until '30s

Continuing in use until the 1930s, Perrine's Bridge was replaced by a new steel bridge a short distance upstream when Route 32 was relocated.

The old bridge fell into disrepair until 1938, when the Rosendale Township Association began a movement to preserve it as a historical monument and tourist attraction.

Efforts of this association, joined by other groups, resulted in the adoption of a resolution by the Ulster County Board of Supervisors on June 11, 1940, making the county highway department responsible for the maintenance and preservation of the bridge for traffic "other than vehicular."

140-Foot Deck

The bridge has a span of 136.5 feet, and deck length of 140 feet. Its road width is 15 feet, and overall width, 20.4 feet. Its deck is from 15 to 16 feet above the stream bed at center channel.

A favorite subject for photographers and artists, Perrine's Bridge has been illustrated on Ulster-Greene Counties Vacationland publicity folders, usually with the notation, "New York State's Oldest Covered Bridge."

At least one authority has backed up this claim. Richard Sanders Allen of Round Lake, in an article on wooden bridges which appeared in "Highway Topics" in 1943, terms the bridge the "oldest known covered structure" in the state.

A historical marker erected on the site by the New York State Education Department is more conservative in its claim, stating simply that Perrine's Bridge is "one of the few old covered bridges still standing in New York state."

Two Are Arrested

the accident today, pleaded guilty when he appeared before City Judge Raymond J. Mino later this morning. He was sentenced to pay a fine of $75 or serve 75 days in jail and his license was revoked. It was indicated that he would pay the fine.

Homer DeWitt, 59, of 214 Glen street, was arrested on charges of driving while intoxicated and leaving the scene of an accident after the mishap on Washington avenue yesterday. Through attorney Frank Martocci he pleaded innocent to both charges today. Bail was fixed at $50 on each and the case was put over to Feb. 26. Attorney S. James Matthews appeared for the district attorney's office.

A police report on the accident at 5:54 p. m., yesterday said that DeWitt operating a sedan owned by Mae DeWitt, of 214 Glen street, had struck the patrol car when it was parked at the curb in front of 159 Washington avenue facing south.

Chase Is Given

Officers Louis Sapp, Jr., and Harold DeGraff gave chase, it said, and apprehended DeWitt on Washington avenue near Linderman. The police car, they said, was damaged on the left rear fender and door and rear bumper, and the DeWitt sedan was damaged on its right side.

Sgt. Hoehing noted calling Dr. Peter D. Corsones, and Dr. Alfred W. Harder, who recently submitted their resignations to the police board as police physicians, but they refused and said they were through examining intoxicated drivers for this department." Three other doctors were called and refused, and others called were not at home, Hoehing said. DeWitt, he said, was confined to jail to await hearing.

Struck Light Pole

The Broadway accident was reported at 3:20 a. m., and the police blotter noted that Officers William Norton, Benjamin Osterhoudt, Harold Bowers, Joseph Kivlin and Crawford Millham were dispatched to the scene, apparently because of the hazard to traffic.

Ahl's car, they said, was headed south on Broadway, when it struck a light pole, continued on and struck the stone wall on the west side of Broadway.

The pole struck was badly damaged and the collision caused a wire to snap. A second pole was damaged and a globe on a third pole was broken, the report said. Light service in the area was cut off and the Central Hudson Gas & Electric Corp. was notified. One pole fell across the sidewalk and against the wall. The car was removed by wrecker.

William Avery, 24, of 88 Broadway, who suffered cuts and bruises about the face, and Ahl, who suffered slight lacerations of the chin were taken to Kingston Hospital for treatment. Ahl was later taken to the county jail. He was arrested by Officers Norton and Osterhoudt. Avery also left the hospital following treatment.

Dividend Declared

The board of directors of the Central Hudson Gas & Electric Corporation, at its monthly meeting held at its South Road office, Poughkeepsie, today declared a dividend of $1.12½ per share on its 4½ per cent cumulative preferred stock; $1.18¾ per share on its 4.75 per cent cumulative preferred stock; and $1.31¼ per share on its 5.25 per cent cumulative preferred stock, 1951 series; payable April 1 to holders of record on March 10, 1954.

Parents Warned

the city have reliable public liability insurance on the property in an adequate amount "and forget about" fencing it.

Hallinan noted that a cyclone fence "extends along the top of the escarpment at Hasbrouck Park near the pavilion." This, he said, would be a protection from "an inadvertent entry," but, he said, it is possible to walk around this fence and reach the cliffs. He suggested a sign warning the public of the hazard at that point.

Fence Cost $21,000

No fence exists along the High Road (East Union street) which has 3,000 feet of frontage along the area, he said, and a cyclone fence there would cost $21,000, with no guarantee that there could not be access through, under, or around the ends.

A point near the junction of the High Road and Hasbrouck avenue has three or four paths or routes to the cliff area. A cyclone fence here at a cost of $1,500 would probably discourage travel on these paths, but would only prevent direct access, he said.

Signs Erected

Mayor Stang described the area as an "attractive nuisance," and he noted a trend to lessen the liability of municipalities where such nuisances exist.

"I think the fact that one boy fell into a crevice and almost lost his life might act as a deterrent to others," the mayor said. Police have been instructed to patrol the area regularly and signs have been erected, he said. This, plus general watchfulness in the neighborhood, he felt should help in keeping children out of the abandoned quarry.

State Will Spend

proved lighting. Alderman Arthur Smith, eighth ward, asked for improved lighting on Wells street. Edwin Radel, third ward, asked that an "ancient light" on Stephan street, near Farrelly be replaced with a new type light and that a study be made of lights on Stephan street between Farrelly street and Foxhall avenue to determine if they are "up to the city's standard." He also asked for a light on Florence street extension between Stephan street and the dead end.

Requests Approved

The board approved a request by Alderman Robert C. Cullum, 12th Ward for a sign on the Washington avenue viaduct directing west-bound traffic to travel slowly. A request for a barricade on Abeel street near the railroad bridge is to be fulfilled, Steuding said. Plans are also in progress to repair a cave-in on Dock street, as was requested by Seventh Ward Alderman Harry R. Brandt. Smith's request for repairs on Rogers street and Brandt's dealing with snow plowing on Ravine street, and a water condition on Spruce street were referred to Steuding.

On recommendation of City Engineer Hallinan the board voted to pay sums retained for contract work to Joseph Gruner. One was $143.28 for money retained on a sanitary sewer project on Gross street, $285.13 was for a storm sewer project on Miller's Lane and $238.97 was for a Colonial Gardens project.

Beeson Confirmed After Bitter Fight On NLRB Issue

Washington, Feb. 19 (AP)—Democratic leaders in the Senate were quietly jubilant today, despite a 45-42 defeat of their campaign against confirmation of Albert C. Beeson to the National Labor Relations Board (NLRB).

Sen. Hill (D.-Ala.), who took a leading part in the floor fight against Beeson yesterday, said the outcome would "give the Democrats a clear-cut issue which we will undoubtedly raise from time to time" before next November's election.

Beeson was confirmed after bitter debate. Accused by some Democrats of making "false and misleading" statements during his confirmation hearing, he was given a vote of confidence by all but one of the Republicans present. Republicans said his integrity stood unquestioned and that nothing brought out in lengthy hearings before the Senate Labor Committee had impaired "his reputation for truth and veracity." Some said that he became confused during his testimony but had no intention not to tell the truth.

Join 42 Republicans

Three Democrats joined 42 Republicans in confirming Beeson. On the losing side were 40 Democrats, Sen. Langer (R.-N.D.) and Sen. Morse (Ind.-Ore.).

Hill said in an interview the outcome "showed that the Democrats can stick together on a clear-cut issue of this kind." Northern and southern wings of the party often disagree. The three Democrats voting for Beeson, all southerners, were Sens. Byrd (Va.), Holland (Fla.) and Eastland (Miss).

Before the question of Beeson's veracity was raised, some Democrats had opposed his appointment on the ground his active career as a management executive in labor relations would cause him to be prejudiced. Beeson said he was certain he would have no bias.

Sen. Ives (R-NY), a member of the Labor Committee, said during the Senate debate that "if this were a five-year appointment I might feel differently about it." Voicing confidence that Beeson would "lean over backwards" to do a good job, he said "next year I shall vote against any continuance of Mr. Beeson in office if he falls down."

Ethics for Journalists

United Nations, Feb. 19 (AP)—A world conference to draw up a code of ethics for all media of information is being proposed in the United States. Salvador P. Lopez, UN rapporteur on freedom of information, said today the proposal will be pushed at a meeting of the Economic and Social Council March 30. Lopez said the conference should be "of journalists, by journalists, and for journalists" and not on a governmental basis. He said it could draw up a code of ethics and a declaration on freedom of information. Such a declaration presumably would get around U. S. opposition to a convention on freedom of information or a convention on human rights. The United States opposes such conventions as having an undesirable legal status.

Reappoints Christenberry

Albany, N. Y., Feb. 19 (AP)—Gov. Dewey today reappointed Robert K. Christenberry as a member of the State Athletic Commission. The renomination, for a full three-year term expiring Jan. 1, 1957, was sent to the Senate for expected confirmation. The governor's office said that Dewey would continue Christenberry as chairman of the commission, a post he has held since Sept. 25, 1951. As chairman, Christenberry, a New York hotel president, recevies a base salary of $12,000 a year.

Conspirators May Go to Prison or Leave for Russia

Detroit, Feb. 19 (AP)—Six Michigan Communists, convicted of conspiracy against the government today were given the choice of prison sentences ranging from four to five years, or going to Russia.

In addition, Federal Judge Frank A. Picard fined each of the defendants $10,000.

A jammed courtroom heard Judge Picard deliver a scathing criticism of the defendants in passing sentence.

The defendants, Saul Wellman, 48; Mrs. Helen Winter, 45; Nat Ganley, 48; Thomas B. Dennis, Jr., 35; Philip Schatz, 39, and William Allan, 46, expressed no emotion as Judge Picard delivered the sentence.

Mrs. Winter and Allan were sentenced to four-year terms; Ganley, five years; Dennis, four years, six months; Wellman, four years and eight months, and Schatz, four years and four months.

Bley Declares He WasBroken,Signed False Confession

Washington, Feb. 19 (AP)—Maj. Roy Bley testified today he was "mentally and physically broken" by his Communist captors in Korea when he signed a false confession to engaging in germ warfare operations.

Bley, 40, appeared at his own request as a witness in the Marine Corps Court of Inquiry which is determining whether his fellow officer, Col. Frank H. Schwable, should face a court martial for a similar false confession.

Bley was named "an interested party" to the inquiry yesterday after Schwable's counsel, Col. Paul Sherman, told Bley he was "suspected" of improper dealings with the enemy after Schwable and Bley were captured July 8, 1952.

The marine corps decided overnight to confine the current inquiry to Schwable rather than investigate Bley's conduct at the same time.

Set Up Court Martial

The army, meanwhile, prepared to set up a court martial for one of its men, Cpl. Edward S. Dickenson, who at first decided to remain with the Communists who captured him in Korea but later elected to return home.

Some of the accusations against Dickensen are applicable only in time of war and this may raise a legal problem: was the fighting in Korea a war?

For the marine corps, the issue is whether its two officers broke military law by making the false confessions under extreme pressure.

Bley said he signed the false confession after five sleepless nights under threat of removal to Communist China for execution as a war criminal.

After Solitary Jail

This period followed months of solitary confinement, frequent brutal mistreatment and near starvation, the Santa Ana, Calif., officer declared. He said he also suffered badly from wounds and from nervous afflictions so severe that he had to crawl on hands and knees.

"After five nights I was mentally and physically broken," Bley said, speaking in a low monotone.

Bley said he was kicked 40 or 50 times by Communist interrogators or guards and was struck "numerous times" with a rifle butt. In addition, he said, he sometimes was deprived of food for as long as five days when he refused to give the interrogators the military information they asked for.

"They had no scruples about using anything that would assist their brain washing procedures," Bley said.

26 Quarts a Day

Averaging 26 quarts daily, Nuway Dehishe Ormsby Hilma, a registered Holstein owned by Ridgely Farms of Stone Ridge, has completed an official Herd Improvement Registry production record totaling 19,083 pounds of milk and 717 pounds of butterfat in 347 days. Testing was supervised by Cornell University in cooperation with the Holstein-Friesian Association of America. Milked two times daily, the cow was four years, eight months of age when her test began. Her total was about three and three-quarters times the production of the average U. S. cow.

Dust Storm Reported

Garden City, Kan., Feb. 19 (AP)—A severe dust storm reduced visibility sharply in western Kansas today, forcing the closing of rural schools and hampering highway travel in some areas. At Garden City, visibility was listed as zero. The wind, gauged by the Civil Aeronautics Station at 60 to 65 miles an hour, piled up silt on streets and sidewalks here. Several businessmen shoveled dirt from sidewalks, much like they do during snowstorms. Traffic on highways in this section was at a standstill. One resident reported it took him 15 minutes to go three blocks.

Warned to Move Along

Clinton Gardiner, 41, who police said, has no home, was warned to get moving out of town or be faced with a suspended sentence, when he appeared before City Judge Raymond J. Mino the other day. He apparently didn't get going. Gardiner faced the judge again today on a public intoxication charge and was sentenced to 180 days in jail. He was found lying on the tracks near Greenkill avenue when arrested the other day. Yesterday afternoon he was picked up by Officers Louis Sapp, Jr., and Harold DeGraff on Broadway. It was his 59th arrest here.

Owl Spreads Fire

Beloit, Kan., Feb. 19 (AP)—An owl spread a fire which burned an estimated 700 acres of pasture. Burning weeds set a tree afire on the Emery Watson farm. The owl, nesting in the tree, flew nearly half a mile with its wings aflame and dropped on the Delmont Jones farm, starting a new fire. The second fire spread to five other farms.

York Won't Run On Saugerties Political Ticket

Trustee Henry York, who has served on the Saugerties village board for 15 years, declined to be re-nominated for the office on the Citizens Protective Party and at the caucus of the party held Thursday evening David S. Cunningham was named along with Trustees Roy Helsmoortel and Joseph Vozdik, who were designated by the party to succeed themselves.

Daniel Lamb was re-nominated for the office of police justice.

What the nomination of Cunningham will bring about in the opposing Independent Party is still in doubt. It had been rumored that should York be renominated along with Helsmoortel and Vizdik, the Independents would offer no opposition but since York declined to run again the action of the Independents may hinge on what happens when Mayor George Holmes returns from Florida.

Desires 'Rest'

The action of York came as a bombshell to the Protectives only a few days ago when he wrote a letter to Chairman Arthur F. Simmons stating he desired a "rest" from political office. In his letter he indicated he intended to remain active in village affairs but sought rest after fifteen yars of service as a trustee.

Cunningham, a teacher in the Saugerties school system, was a candidate last year but was defeated by 22 votes. The village election will be held on March 16. The meeting of the Protectives was held at the Saugerties Municipal building Thursday evening at 7 o'clock. There was approximately 25 members of the party at the meeting.

Astronomer Says Other Planets Are Favorable to Life

By ALTON L. BLAKESLEE
(AP Science Reporter)

New York, Feb. 19 (AP)—We are not alone in the universe, for there are probably 100 million other planets suitable for high forms of life, says famous Harvard astronomer, Dr. Harlow Shapley.

The life on some of them may surpass our own, with beings superior to humans, he writes in a new book "Climatic Change," published today (Harvard University Press, $6).

Dr. Shapley is cautious when it comes to estimating just how many planets may support life. He figures it this way:

Suppose only one star or sun in a million has any planets at all.

And suppose only one in a thousand of those families of planets has the conditions "suitable for the life experiment." That means a near-circular orbit, proper distance from a warmth-giving star, proper mass, atmosphere, and rotation period for night and day.

That would mean only one life-bearing planet for every billion stars.

Still being skeptical, suppose that life went on to higher forms on only one of every thousand of these planets. On the others, something could have happened to end life.

Leaves 100 Million

That still leaves 100 million planets as life-theaters because there are so many thousands of billions of stars in the universe. Our milky way alone, to which we belong, has 100 billion stars, and there are billions of milky ways or galaxies.

Dr. Shapley is editor of, and writes the introduction for the book giving views of more than 20 different scientific specialists on the causes of great climatic changes on earth, and the effects upon life.

Slight variations in the sun's heat and radiations are one main possibility of changes which produced ice ages and warm periods. Others are dust from volcanoes and the rising of continents and mountains re-directing air currents.

Tiverton, R. I., Feb. 19 (AP)—For the 23rd time in 25 years of marriage, Mrs. Irene Demello, wife of an unemployed farmer, has become a mother. The 23rd child, a girl, arrived yesterday in St. Anne's Hospital, Fall River. The infant was the eighth girl in succession and is one of 17 surviving Demello children, the eldest 23 years old. All the children were born separately to the 40-year-old Mrs. Demello who was a bride at 15. The first born lived only until two years old and five others died at birth.

Dead Vet's Father Victim of Hoax

Camden, N. J., Feb. 19—A five-day dream that his soldier son might still be alive was ended today for Walter Tartar, 64-year-old shipyard worker.

Tartar conceded early this morning as he went to bed that he had been a victim of a vicious hoax in being led to believe that the son killed in Korea 11 months ago was still alive.

The father received a telegram last Saturday with the words "Hello Pop. Will be home on Thursday. Dick." It was sent from New York city.

His son, Pvt. Richard Tartar, 21, was reported by the army to have been killed in action in Korea. A sealed coffin and his personal papers arrived here last summer.

With only a father's hope, the elder Tartar waited up past midnight before sadly shaking his head and telling a group of reporters and photographers who kept the vigil with him:

"I won't be satisfied until the one who did it goes to jail."

repairs to the bridge. At 3 p. m., February 10, the date set for opening the bids, it was found that no bids had been submitted.

Agitation continued, however, against abandoning plans for preserving Perrine's Bridge, and although the next step has not been decided, Supervisor Edward Eckert of the town of Esopus revealed today that he and Supervisor Andrew J. Snyder of the town of Rosendale are working on plans for some type of project to keep the bridge from collapsing.

To Present Plans

Supervisors Eckert and Snyder intend to present these plans to Highway Superintendent Green, Eckert said, and will continue their efforts until an acceptable solution is found.

Since June 11, 1940, the county highway superintendent has been charged with maintenance and preservation of the bridge for traffic "other than vehicular," in accordance with a resolution adopted that date by the Board of Supervisors on motion of Raymond Howe, then supervisor from the town of Esopus.

Built in 1850

Built in 1850, when the Wallkill valley was the chief means of overland access from the Catskills to New York city, Perrine's bridge spans the Wallkill river a short distance from the hamlet of Rifton, connecting the townships of Rosendale and Esopus.

Officially known as County Bridge 141, the structure got its more familiar name from the Perrine family which settled near the future site of the bridge about 1800. It is pronounced with a long "i."

At the time the bridge was built, the vicinity was buzzing with the activity of sawmills and gristmills near the dam just downstream. The Dimmick Carpet Mills, which survived into the early Twentieth Century, was another famous early industry of the area.

In Use Until '30s

Continuing in use until the 1930s, Perrine's Bridge was replaced by a new steel bridge a short distance upstream when Route 32 was relocated.

The old bridge fell into disrepair until 1938, when the Rosendale Township Association began a movement to preserve it as a historical monument and tourist attraction.

Efforts of this association, joined by other groups, resulted in the adoption of a resolution by the Ulster County Board of Supervisors on June 11, 1940, making the county highway department responsible for the maintenance and preservation of the bridge for traffic "other than vehicular."

140-Foot Deck

The bridge has a span of 136.5 feet, and deck length of 140 feet. Its road width is 15 feet, and overall width, 20.4 feet. Its deck is from 15 to 16 feet above the stream bed at center channel.

A favorite subject for photographers and artists, Perrine's Bridge has been illustrated on Ulster-Greene Counties Vacationland publicity folders, usually with the notation, "New York State's Oldest Covered Bridge."

At least one authority has backed up this claim. Richard Sanders Allen of Round Lake, in an article on wooden bridges which appeared in "Highway Topics" in 1943, terms the bridge the "oldest known covered structure" in the state.

A historical marker erected on the site by the New York State Education Department is more conservative in its claim, stating simply that Perrine's Bridge is "one of the few old covered bridges still standing in New York state."

Two Are Arrested

the accident today, pleaded guilty when he appeared before City Judge Raymond J. Mino later this morning. He was sentenced to pay a fine of $75 or serve 75 days in jail and his license was revoked. It was indicated that he would pay the fine.

Homer DeWitt, 59, of 214 Glen street, was arrested on charges of driving while intoxicated and leaving the scene of an accident after the mishap on Washington avenue yesterday. Through attorney Frank Martocci he pleaded innocent to both charges today. Bail was fixed at $50 on each and the case was put over to Feb. 26. Attorney S. James Matthews appeared for the district attorney's office.

A police report on the accident at 5:54 p. m., yesterday said that DeWitt operating a sedan owned by Mae DeWitt, of 214 Glen street, had struck the patrol car when it was parked at the curb in front of 159 Washington avenue facing south.

Chase Is Given

Officers Louis Sapp, Jr., and Harold DeGraff gave chase, it said, and apprehended DeWitt on Washington avenue near Linderman. The police car, they said, was damaged on the left rear fender and door and rear bumper, and the DeWitt sedan was damaged on its right side.

Sgt. Hoehing noted calling Dr. Peter D. Corsones, and Dr. Alfred W. Harder, who recently submitted their resignations to the police board as police physicians, but they refused and said they were through examining intoxicated drivers for this department." Three other doctors were called and refused, and others called were not at home, Hoehing said. DeWitt, he said, was confined to jail to await hearing.

Struck Light Pole

The Broadway accident was reported at 3:20 a. m., and the police blotter noted that Officers William Norton, Benjamin Osterhoudt, Harold Bowers, Joseph Kivlin and Crawford Millham were dispatched to the scene, apparently because of the hazard to traffic.

Ahl's car, they said, was headed south on Broadway, when it struck a light pole, continued on and struck the stone wall on the west side of Broadway.

The pole struck was badly damaged and the collision caused a wire to snap. A second pole was damaged and a globe on a third pole was broken, the report said. Light service in the area was cut off and the Central Hudson Gas & Electric Corp. was notified. One pole fell across the sidewalk and against the wall. The car was removed by wrecker.

William Avery, 24, of 88 Broadway, who suffered cuts and bruises about the face, and Ahl, who suffered slight lacerations of the chin were taken to Kingston Hospital for treatment. Ahl was later taken to the county jail. He was arrested by Officers Norton and Osterhoudt. Avery also left the hospital following treatment.

Dividend Declared

The board of directors of the Central Hudson Gas & Electric Corporation, at its monthly meeting held at its South Road office, Poughkeepsie, today declared a dividend of $1.12½ per share on its 4½ per cent cumulative preferred stock; $1.18¾ per share on its 4.75 per cent cumulative preferred stock; and $1.31¼ per share on its 5.25 per cent cumulative preferred stock, 1951 series; payable April 1 to holders of record on March 10, 1954.

Parents Warned

the city have reliable public liability insurance on the property in an adequate amount "and forget about" fencing it.

Hallinan noted that a cyclone fence "extends along the top of the escarpment at Hasbrouck Park near the pavilion." This, he said, would be a protection from "an inadvertent entry," but, he said, it is possible to walk around this fence and reach the cliffs. He suggested a sign warning the public of the hazard at that point.

Fence Cost $21,000

No fence exists along the High Road (East Union street) which has 3,000 feet of frontage along the area, he said, and a cyclone fence there would cost $21,000, with no guarantee that there could not be access through, under, or around the ends.

A point near the junction of the High Road and Hasbrouck avenue has three or four paths or routes to the cliff area. A cyclone fence here at a cost of $1,500 would probably discourage travel on these paths, but would only prevent direct access, he said.

Signs Erected

Mayor Stang described the area as an "attractive nuisance," and he noted a trend to lessen the liability of municipalities where such nuisances exist.

"I think the fact that one boy fell into a crevice and almost lost his life might act as a deterrent to others," the mayor said. Police have been instructed to patrol the area regularly and signs have been erected, he said. This, plus general watchfulness in the neighborhood, he felt should help in keeping children out of the abandoned quarry.

State Will Spend

proved lighting. Alderman Arthur Smith, eighth ward, asked for improved lighting on Wells street. Edwin Radel, third ward, asked that an "ancient light" on Stephan street, near Farrelly be replaced with a new type light and that a study be made of lights on Stephan street between Farrelly street and Foxhall avenue to determine if they are "up to the city's standard." He also asked for a light on Florence street extension between Stephan street and the dead end.

Requests Approved

The board approved a request by Alderman Robert C. Cullum, 12th Ward for a sign on the Washington avenue viaduct directing west-bound traffic to travel slowly. A request for a barricade on Abeel street near the railroad bridge is to be fulfilled, Steuding said. Plans are also in progress to repair a cave-in on Dock street, as was requested by Seventh Ward Alderman Harry R. Brandt. Smith's request for repairs on Rogers street and Brandt's dealing with snow plowing on Ravine street, and a water condition on Spruce street were referred to Steuding.

On recommendation of City Engineer Hallinan the board voted to pay sums retained for contract work to Joseph Gruner. One was $143.28 for money retained on a sanitary sewer project on Gross street, $285.13 was for a storm sewer project on Miller's Lane and $238.97 was for a Colonial Gardens project.

Beeson Confirmed After Bitter Fight On NLRB Issue

Washington, Feb. 19 (AP)—Democratic leaders in the Senate were quietly jubilant today, despite a 45-42 defeat of their campaign against confirmation of Albert C. Beeson to the National Labor Relations Board (NLRB).

Sen. Hill (D.-Ala.), who took a leading part in the floor fight against Beeson yesterday, said the outcome would "give the Democrats a clear-cut issue which we will undoubtedly raise from time to time" before next November's election.

Beeson was confirmed after bitter debate. Accused by some Democrats of making "false and misleading" statements during his confirmation hearing, he was given a vote of confidence by all but one of the Republicans present. Republicans said his integrity stood unquestioned and that nothing brought out in lengthy hearings before the Senate Labor Committee had impaired "his reputation for truth and veracity." Some said that he became confused during his testimony but had no intention not to tell the truth.

Join 42 Republicans

Three Democrats joined 42 Republicans in confirming Beeson. On the losing side were 40 Democrats, Sen. Langer (R.-N.D.) and Sen. Morse (Ind.-Ore.).

Hill said in an interview the outcome "showed that the Democrats can stick together on a clear-cut issue of this kind." Northern and southern wings of the party often disagree. The three Democrats voting for Beeson, all southerners, were Sens. Byrd (Va.), Holland (Fla.) and Eastland (Miss).

Before the question of Beeson's veracity was raised, some Democrats had opposed his appointment on the ground his active career as a management executive in labor relations would cause him to be prejudiced. Beeson said he was certain he would have no bias.

Sen. Ives (R-NY), a member of the Labor Committee, said during the Senate debate that "if this were a five-year appointment I might feel differently about it." Voicing confidence that Beeson would "lean over backwards" to do a good job, he said "next year I shall vote against any continuance of Mr. Beeson in office if he falls down."

Ethics for Journalists

United Nations, Feb. 19 (AP)—A world conference to draw up a code of ethics for all media of information is being proposed in the United States. Salvador P. Lopez, UN rapporteur on freedom of information, said today the proposal will be pushed at a meeting of the Economic and Social Council March 30. Lopez said the conference should be "of journalists, by journalists, and for journalists" and not on a governmental basis. He said it could draw up a code of ethics and a declaration on freedom of information. Such a declaration presumably would get around U. S. opposition to a convention on freedom of information or a convention on human rights. The United States opposes such conventions as having an undesirable legal status.

Reappoints Christenberry

Albany, N. Y., Feb. 19 (AP)—Gov. Dewey today reappointed Robert K. Christenberry as a member of the State Athletic Commission. The renomination, for a full three-year term expiring Jan. 1, 1957, was sent to the Senate for expected confirmation. The governor's office said that Dewey would continue Christenberry as chairman of the commission, a post he has held since Sept. 25, 1951. As chairman, Christenberry, a New York hotel president, recevies a base salary of $12,000 a year.

Conspirators May Go to Prison or Leave for Russia

Detroit, Feb. 19 (AP)—Six Michigan Communists, convicted of conspiracy against the government today were given the choice of prison sentences ranging from four to five years, or going to Russia.

In addition, Federal Judge Frank A. Picard fined each of the defendants $10,000.

A jammed courtroom heard Judge Picard deliver a scathing criticism of the defendants in passing sentence.

The defendants, Saul Wellman, 48; Mrs. Helen Winter, 45; Nat Ganley, 48; Thomas B. Dennis, Jr., 35; Philip Schatz, 39, and William Allan, 46, expressed no emotion as Judge Picard delivered the sentence.

Mrs. Winter and Allan were sentenced to four-year terms; Ganley, five years; Dennis, four years, six months; Wellman, four years and eight months, and Schatz, four years and four months.

On Telling Jokes

If you can't remember them,
Don't dismember them.

Ralph—I suppose you've heard the joke about the roof?
Horace—No, can't say I have.
Ralph—That's just as well. It's over your head.

The wise girl remembers to iron her slips crosswise instead of up and down. This helps to prevent the slip from showing below the skirt line.

Policeman—I think we've found your missing wife, sir.
Man—So? What does she say?
Policeman—Nothing, sir.
Man—That's not my wife.

Lawyers are always afraid of the ad lib statement, even from their own witnesses. An attorney in Wichita, Kansas, swooned when he heard one of his character witnesses in a murder trial.
Witness—What's Bill's reputation? I'd say he's always been a straight shooter.

Rugged is Marshall E. Olds, of Granby, Mass. He plowed ten acres of land several weeks ago and then, the day he reached the age of 80, split up a maple tree nearly four feet in diameter.

Though you first learn of the three R's in school, they run all through life. At 17 it's romance, at 37 it's rent and at 67 it's rheumatism.

How many numbers can you find which can be divided evenly by two, three, four, five, six, seven, eight, and nine? No. 2520 can be divided in such a manner.

PITCHING HORSESHOES

By BILLY ROSE

Ahunka Apaka

A fellow wearing a corduroy jacket dropped in to see me a few days ago. He introduced himself as Abner Balch.

"I'm going to give you a chance to make a million dollars," he said.

"That's right neighborly of you," I told him.

"I said a million," Abner went on. "It might just as easily be a billion."

"To make that kind of money," I said, "I suppose I'd have to work weekends."

"I'm serious," said the man in corduroy. "Did you ever hear the story of the gent who walked into the office of the president of Lucky Strikes, waved a piece of folded paper at him, and said he wanted a million dollars for the two words written on it? The words were, 'It's Toasted,' and next day the company paid him his million."

"Last time I heard that wowser," I said, "it was Camels and the words were, 'I'd Walk A Mile For.'"

"It so happens," said Abner, "that I, too, have a piece of paper. Only all I'm asking is a thousand dollars."

"Suppose I only like it seventy-nine cents worth?" I said.

"The words on my piece of paper," said Abner, "are the key to the greatest money-making scheme since the dawn of time. Care to look at them?"

I took the paper and unfolded it. On it was scribbled, "Ahunka apounda akana abuncha aduzna akwarta alofa aparka abara."

"Maxwell Bodenheim wrote poems like that," I said, "and look what happened to him."

"You're not very quick on the uptake," said Abner. "You have in your hand a list of trade names which you could copyright for a few dollars. It includes most of the necessities of life, and once you legally owned these words, you would control the commerce of the world."

"What do the words mean?" I asked.

Abner handed me another piece of paper. On it was penciled the following:

Alofa (bread)
Abotla (milk)
Aduzna (eggs)
Abara (soap)
Akana (beer)
Abaga (doughnuts)
Apaka (cigarettes)
Abuka (matches)
Arola (aluminum foil)

"Get it?" said Abner. "Every hour of the day, people by the millions are saying, 'Alofa bread, please,' or 'abotla milk, mister.' According to law, the storekeeper has to give them exactly what they ask for. Well, all you have to do is package and distribute a line of staples with my names on the labels. And, unless people specifically asked for one of the standard brands, the storekeeper would be committing a crime if he sold them any brand but yours."

"As a man of conscience," I said, "I can't give you a thousand dollars for this idea. It's worth at least a million, and I advise you to hold out for that. . . ."

When the door closed behind my visitor, I sank back in my chair and sighed. "Why does every crackpot pick on me?" But as I listened to my voice, I found no conviction in it.

Today, 72 hours after Abner's unsettling visit, I find myself as jittery as a bug on a stove. This morning at breakfast I reached for the loaf of bread with trembling fingers, half expecting to find an "Alofa" label on it. And a few minutes later when I opened a pack of cigarettes, I examined the wrapper nervously, looking for the word "Apaka."

If I owned stocks in General Foods or National Biscuit, I would sell them like a shot. Long ago, I learned never to underrate a man who wears a corduroy jacket.

Home-Style Almonds

You can make delicious salted almonds at home. First blanch the almonds and dry on a towel. Place the blanched almonds in a shallow pan, adding a teaspoon of butter or margarine for each cup of nutmeats. Toast in a slow oven for 25 to 30 minutes, stirring occasionally. Turn the almonds out on paper toweling, sprinkle lightly with salt at once, and allow to cool. Store in tightly covered container.

Visual Memory

The "eye memory" of Australian aborigines makes them good geographers and they can draw fairly reliable sketch maps in sand, despite their cultural status being perhaps the lowest in the world.

Arola (aluminum foil)

"Get it?" said Abner. "Every hour of the day, people by the millions are saying, 'Alofa bread, please,' or 'abotla milk, mister.' According to law, the storekeeper has to give them exactly what they ask for. Well, all you have to do is package and distribute a line of staples with my names on the labels. And, unless people specifically asked for one of the standard brands, the storekeeper would be committing a crime if he sold them any brand but yours."

"As a man of conscience," I said, "I can't give you a thousand dollars for this idea. It's worth at least a million, and I advise you to hold out for that. . . ."

When the door closed behind my visitor, I sank back in my chair and sighed. "Why does every crackpot pick on me?" But as I listened to my voice, I found no conviction in it.

Today, 72 hours after Abner's unsettling visit, I find myself as jittery as a bug on a stove. This morning at breakfast I reached for the loaf of bread with trembling fingers, half expecting to find an "Alofa" label on it. And a few minutes later when I opened a pack of cigarettes, I examined the wrapper nervously, looking for the word "Apaka."

If I owned stocks in General Foods or National Biscuit, I would sell them like a shot. Long ago, I learned never to underrate a man who wears a corduroy jacket.

Love's in the Window

San Bernardino, Calif. (AP)—Every day a pooch takes up his all-day vigil watching a lady dog in a window. Paul Gregory reports that his little puppy will moan and howl unless released from the yard. "Or else he digs under the fence to get out, just to go watch that dog in a pet store." The owner of the lady cocker spaniel, Mrs. Adelaide Noga, says that so far, it's only a "looking romance."

Home-Style Almonds

You can make delicious salted almonds at home. First blanch the almonds and dry on a towel. Place the blanched almonds in a shallow pan, adding a teaspoon of butter or margarine for each cup of nutmeats. Toast in a slow oven for 25 to 30 minutes, stirring occasionally. Turn the almonds out on paper toweling, sprinkle lightly with salt at once, and allow to cool. Store in tightly covered container.

Community Concert Board of Directors Plan New Programs

A lengthy discussion of artists for the Community Concert Series next season took place at the annual meeting of the board of directors Wednesday night at the Governor Clinton Hotel. Announcement of the program will be made during the campaign week.

While making plans for next year, it was noted that the local association is currently completing its 25th season of bringing concerts through the organized audience plan to Kingston. Membership campaign week will begin May 2. Subscriptions for membership in the association for next year will be available to anyone during that one week only as is the custom of the association. Mrs. Reynolds B. Carr and Mrs. Bernard Forst will be co-chairmen of the drive. Mrs. Marion Sistare who met with the group Wednesday night, will represent the New York office to assist the workers during the week.

All officers of the local group were unanimously elected for another year in view of the fact that this season is one of the most successful the association has ever experienced. Lloyd R. LeFever is president; Mrs. Herbert I. Bloom, Leonard Stine, vice presidents; Mrs. Louis Kegler, secretary; and Joseph Craig, treasurer.

Thomas Plunket Is Guest Speaker AtDemocraticMeeting

Thomas Plunket, chairman of the Ulster County Democratic Committee, met with Democratic women from various parts of the county at a luncheon, Thursday, at Leherb's restaurant in Kingston. Plans for a county-wide Day of Political Education for women to be held in Kingston in May, were made by the group.

In a talk before the group Thursday, Plunket spoke of the values of the May event. "The ever-increasing interest in Democratic party activity throughout the county and the many local Democratic clubs that have grown up within the past two years provide the impetus for women party workers to learn and work together on a larger scale." Plunket said.

Mrs. Harriet Allen Kerr, New Paltz, formerly with the Women's Division of the Democratic National Committee, arranged the meeting. She explained that the Political Education Day would be patterned after a similar event sponsored by the Women's Division of the State Committee in New York last year. Mrs. Kerr discussed the event with members of the state committee in New York last week.

"Another planning meeting, which it is hoped that representatives from every township in the county can attend, has been set for Saturday, Mar. 20", she said.

"We hope that every Democratic woman in Ulster county who is interested in helping her party will take the opportunity to hear of the things that will make successful campaigns and healthy party organizations in her area," Mrs. Kerr said.

Those who attended the Thursday meeting were: Mrs. Lillian Courter, Modena; Mrs. Elsie Carpenter, Kingston; Mrs. Helen Coy, Modena; Miss Ruth Dawes, Plattekill; Mrs. Elizabeth E. Shay, Highland; Mrs. Jane Canino, Highland; Mrs. Lorania Haver, Ashokan; Mrs. Shirley Swain, New Paltz; Mrs. Margaret Morris, New Paltz; Mrs. Rosalind d'Albis, Woodstock; Mrs. Patricia Boswell, Woodstock; Mrs. Virginia Hubbell, Kingston; Mrs. Goldie McAndrews, Kingston; Mrs. Marguerite Roach, Kingston; Mrs. Marie Koenig, Kingston; Mrs. Ida Pietrobelli, Cottekill; Mrs. Amy Elmendorf, Stone Ridge; Mrs. Rose Hogan, Kingston; Mrs. Kerr and Mrs. Plunkett.

Miss Jean G. Mower, Leonard Paul Sinnott United in Marriage

Saugerties, Feb. 19—Miss Jean Gladys Mower, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Percy Mower of Cedar Grove became the bride of Leonard Paul Sinnott, son of Mr. and Mrs. E. Leonard Sinnott of Cementon on Sunday, Feb. 14, at 1 p. m. in St. Mary's Church. The double ring ceremony was performed by the Rev. Matthew F. Mulloy, assistant pastor of St. Mary's.

Mrs. William Plimley played the traditional wedding music and accompanied Mrs. John Nau who sang, Ave Maria and Panis Angelicus. The altar was adorned with white and red gladioli.

The bride, given in marriage by her father, was attired in a waltz length gown of skinner satin featuring peplums on each side of the skirt of satin and Chantilly lace. The bodice was of Chantilly lace with scalloped illusion neck line and long finger-tip sleeves. The bonnet-shaped headpiece with seed pearls supported a fingertip veil with lace inserts. She carried a heart shaped bouquet of white roses with a white orchid center and white sweet pea streamers.

Sister of the bride, Virginia Mower, served as maid of honor and was attired in a yellow ballerina length gown with full taffeta skirt and matching head piece. The bodice was of fitted velvet with a scalloped illusion neckline. She carried a heart shaped bouquet of Talisman roses.

The bridesmaids were Miss Ann Sinnott, sister of the bridegroom and Miss Blanche Stankovich of Alsen. They wore blue ballerina length gowns with full taffeta skirt and matching head pieces. The bodice of each was of fitted velvet with scalloped illusion neckline. They each carried a heart shaped bouquet of pink roses.

Jeannine Ricketson, cousin of the bride, served as flower girl and was attired in a gown of pink velvet with taffeta tiered skirt and a pink flowered band head piece. She carried a basket of pink roses and white carnations topped with a large pink bow.

Brother of the groom, Joseph Sinnott of West Camp served as best man. The ushers were Robert Mower, brother of the bride of Kingston and Frank Sinnott, brother of the bridegroom of Glasco.

The reception for 100 guests was held at the Flamingo Restaurant on the Saugerties-Kingston Road. The cake was oppropriately adorned with two simulated wedding rings and the traditional miniature bride and groom. Guests were in attendance from Catskill, Kingston, Albany and Jersey City.

For the wedding journey through the south and Florida the bride chose for her traveling ensemble a pink suit with navy trim, a grey spring coat with pink collar and navy accessories. She wore a white orchid corsage.

The bride is a graduate of Saugerties High School, class of '48 and is employed with the New York Telephone Company in Saugerties.

The bridegroom, also a graduate of Saugerties High School, class of '48, served two years with the U. S. Army, 14 months of which was spent in Austria. Mr. Sinnott is employed with the Alpha Portland Cement Company of Cementon.

The newlyweds will live with the bride's parents in Cedar Grove until their new home in Cedar Grove is completed.

Ford Foundation Head Moderates Student Panel at Onteora

Sheppard Stone, director of the Ford Foundation appeared before an interested crowd of approximately 250 persons in the auditorium of the Onteora Central School last Tuesday evening.

Mr. Stone acted as a moderator of a panel discussion composed of nine Onteora students under the supervision of Frank Andreone, senior high school social studies teacher. Members of the panel were: Albert Parsons, Martin and Joan Warnes, William Frankle, Mary Osborne, Margaret Halstead, Ingrid Allerman, Joan Watson and Dan Purfield.

Mr. Stone answered questions primarily concerning the concepts and theories of communism, the Indochina question on whether Communist China should be allowed to join the UN, the possibilities of World War 3, McCarthyism, problems of east and west Germany, the explusion of Russia from the UN, the effects of the Marshall Plan on Italy, the outlawing of the Communist party in the U. S., St. Lawrence seaway question, the status of Premier Nehru.

Most of his remarks were made off the record but he did say that he felt the possibilities of World War 3 were not imminent and there would not be another world war for some time to come. He stated, "Communism confronts us with an insidious fight that will go on for years."

He felt everything possible should be done to detach Communist China from Russia; East and West Germany would not be unified in the next few years and the present political conferences being held in Berlin are proving this point.

A great many questions were raised by the audience and the opinions presented by Mr. Stone indicated he had a wide background and grasp of present international affairs.

Herbert Epstein, president of the Onteora Parent-Teacher Association, presided at the meeting.

Community Concert Board of Directors Plan New Programs

A lengthy discussion of artists for the Community Concert Series next season took place at the annual meeting of the board of directors Wednesday night at the Governor Clinton Hotel. Announcement of the program will be made during the campaign week.

While making plans for next year, it was noted that the local association is currently completing its 25th season of bringing concerts through the organized audience plan to Kingston. One program remains in the series this year, Musical Americana, the newest dance-song group in the concert field, scheduled for May 1. Eugene Conley, Metropolitan tenor, and the Buffalo Philharmonic with Theodore Lettvin, piano soloist, were presented last fall.

Membership campaign week will begin May 2. Subscriptions for membership in the association for next year will be available to anyone during that one week only as is the custom of the association. Mrs. Reynolds B. Carr and Mrs. Bernard Forst will be co-chairmen of the drive. Mrs. Marion Sistare who met with the group Wednesday night, will represent the New York office to assist the workers during the week.

All officers of the local group were unanimously elected for another year in view of the fact that this season is one of the most successful the association has ever experienced. Lloyd R. LeFever is president; Mrs. Herbert I. Bloom, Leonard Stine, vice presidents; Mrs. Louis Kegler, secretary; and Joseph Craig, treasurer.

Democratic Women's Club Have Luncheon at Leherb's

A meeting of Democratic women from Ulster county was held Thursday at Leherb's restaurant, with Thomas Plunket as guest speaker. Part of the group attending were, front row, (l-r) Mrs. Virginia Hubbell, Kingston; Mrs. Marie Koenig, Kingston; Mrs. Harriet Allen Kerr, New Paltz; and Mrs. Lillian Courter; in the back row, same order, Mrs. Amy Elmendorf, Stone Ridge; Mrs. Jane Canino, Highland; Mrs. Lorania Haver, Ashokan; Mrs. Goldie McAndrews, Kingston; and Mrs. Elsie Carpenter, Kingston. (Freeman photo)

Thomas Plunket Is Guest Speaker AtDemocraticMeeting

Thomas Plunket, chairman of the Ulster County Democratic Committee, met with Democratic women from various parts of the county at a luncheon, Thursday, at Leherb's restaurant in Kingston. Plans for a county-wide Day of Political Education for women to be held in Kingston in May, were made by the group.

In a talk before the group Thursday, Plunket spoke of the values of the May event. "The ever-increasing interest in Democratic party activity throughout the county and the many local Democratic clubs that have grown up within the past two years provide the impetus for women party workers to learn and work together on a larger scale." Plunket said.

Mrs. Harriet Allen Kerr, New Paltz, formerly with the Women's Division of the Democratic National Committee, arranged the meeting. She explained that the Political Education Day would be patterned after a similar event sponsored by the Women's Division of the State Committee in New York last year. Mrs. Kerr discussed the event with members of the state committee in New York last week.

"Another planning meeting, which it is hoped that representatives from every township in the county can attend, has been set for Saturday, Mar. 20", she said.

"We hope that every Democratic woman in Ulster county who is interested in helping her party will take the opportunity to hear of the things that will make successful campaigns and healthy party organizations in her area," Mrs. Kerr said.

Those who attended the Thursday meeting were: Mrs. Lillian Courter, Modena; Mrs. Elsie Carpenter, Kingston; Mrs. Helen Coy, Modena; Miss Ruth Dawes, Plattekill; Mrs. Elizabeth E. Shay, Highland; Mrs. Jane Canino, Highland; Mrs. Lorania Haver, Ashokan; Mrs. Shirley Swain, New Paltz; Mrs. Margaret Morris, New Paltz; Mrs. Rosalind d'Albis, Woodstock; Mrs. Patricia Boswell, Woodstock; Mrs. Virginia Hubbell, Kingston; Mrs. Goldie McAndrews, Kingston; Mrs. Marguerite Roach, Kingston; Mrs. Marie Koenig, Kingston; Mrs. Ida Pietrobelli, Cottekill; Mrs. Amy Elmendorf, Stone Ridge; Mrs. Rose Hogan, Kingston; Mrs. Kerr and Mrs. Plunkett.

Miss Jean G. Mower, Leonard Paul Sinnott United in Marriage

Saugerties, Feb. 19—Miss Jean Gladys Mower, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Percy Mower of Cedar Grove became the bride of Leonard Paul Sinnott, son of Mr. and Mrs. E. Leonard Sinnott of Cemeton on Sunday, Feb. 14, at 1 p. m. in St. Mary's Church. The double ring ceremony was performed by the Rev. Matthew F. Mulloy, assistant pastor of St. Mary's.

Mrs. William Plimley played the traditional wedding music and accompanied Mrs. John Nau who sang, Ave Maria and Panis Angelicus. The altar was adorned with white and red gladioli.

The bride, given in marriage by her father, was attired in a waltz length gown of skinner satin featuring peplums on each side of the skirt of satin and Chantilly lace. The bodice was of Chantilly lace with scalloped illusion neck line and long finger-tip sleeves. The bonnet-shaped headpiece with seed pearls supported a fingertip veil with lace inserts. She carried a heart shaped bouquet of white roses with a white orchid center and white sweet pea streamers.

Sister of the bride, Virginia Mower, served as maid of honor and was attired in a yellow ballerina length gown with full taffeta skirt and matching head piece. The bodice was of fitted velvet with a scalloped illusion neckline. She carried a heart shaped bouquet of Talisman roses.

The bridesmaids were Miss Ann Sinnott, sister of the bridegroom and Miss Blanche Stankovich of Alsen. They wore blue ballerina length gowns with full taffeta skirt and matching head pieces. The bodice of each was of fitted velvet with scalloped illusion neckline. They each carried a heart shaped bouquet of pink roses.

Jeannine Ricketson, cousin of the bride, served as flower girl and was attired in a gown of pink velvet with taffeta tiered skirt and a pink flowered band head piece. She carried a basket of pink roses and white carnations topped with a large pink bow.

Brother of the groom, Joseph Sinnott of West Camp served as best man. The ushers were Robert Mower, brother of the bride of Kingston and Frank Sinnott, brother of the bridegroom of Glasco.

The reception for 100 guests was held at the Flamingo Restaurant on the Saugerties-Kingston Road. The cake was oppropriately adorned with two simulated wedding rings and the traditional miniature bride and groom. Guests were in attendance from Catskill, Kingston, Albany and Jersey City.

For the wedding journey through the south and Florida the bride chose for her traveling ensemble a pink suit with navy trim, a grey spring coat with pink collar and navy accessories. She wore a white orchid corsage.

The bride is a graduate of Saugerties High School, class of '48 and is employed with the New York Telephone Company in Saugerties.

The bridegroom, also a graduate of Saugerties High School, class of '48, served two years with the U. S. Army, 14 months of which was spent in Austria. Mr. Sinnott is employed with the Alpha Portland Cement Company of Cementon.

The newlyweds will live with the bride's parents in Cedar Grove until their new home in Cedar Grove is completed.

Ford Foundation Head Moderates Student Panel at Onteora

Sheppard Stone, director of the Ford Foundation appeared before an interested crowd of approximately 250 persons in the auditorium of the Onteora Central School last Tuesday evening.

Mr. Stone acted as a moderator of a panel discussion composed of nine Onteora students under the supervision of Frank Andreone, senior high school social studies teacher. Members of the panel were: Albert Parsons, Martin and Joan Warnes, William Frankle, Mary Osborne, Margaret Halstead, Ingrid Allerman, Joan Watson and Dan Purfield.

Mr. Stone answered questions primarily concerning the concepts and theories of communism, the Indochina question on whether Communist China should be allowed to join the UN, the possibilities of World War 3, McCarthyism, problems of east and west Germany, the explusion of Russia from the UN, the effects of the Marshall Plan on Italy, the outlawing of the Communist party in the U. S., St. Lawrence seaway question, the status of Premier Nehru.

Most of his remarks were made off the record but he did say that he felt the possibilities of World War 3 were not imminent and there would not be another world war for some time to come. He stated, "Communism confronts us with an insidious fight that will go on for years."

He felt everything possible should be done to detach Communist China from Russia; East and West Germany would not be unified in the next few years and the present political conferences being held in Berlin are proving this point.

A great many questions were raised by the audience and the opinions presented by Mr. Stone indicated he had a wide background and grasp of present international affairs.

Herbert Epstein, president of the Onteora Parent-Teacher Association, presided at the meeting.

IBM Band Will Play At Country Club For Third Social

Albert M. Davids will conduct the full 40-piece IBM Band Saturday evening at a concert to be presented in the IBM Country Club. The band is one of the local industrial plant's four musical organizations participating in a series of social evenings being sponsored by the country club board of governors throughout the winter months.

The concert will commence at 8:15 p. m. and be followed by dancing. The IBM orchestra will provide music.

This is the third in a series of five social evenings scheduled. IBM plant members and their families are encouraged to invite friends outside of the organization to attend.

The band is the oldest organized musical group within the IBM organization and had its early beginnings when it was formed by Thomas J. Watson at Endicott in 1915. Mr. Watson is presently celebrating his fortieth year of leadership with the company having joined it in 1914. Other musical organizations active in the local plant include the orchestra, male chorus, mixed chorus, and concert ensemble.

On March 29, the mixed chorus will present a concert which will also be followed by dancing. On April 17, a combined concert of the four musical organizations will be heard.

DUPLICATE PRESENT

A letter from a recent bride tells me: "I have just received a belated wedding present from an out-of-town relative. It is an electric toaster, and the second one which I have received. The first one has already been put to use and, therefore, cannot be exchanged. I would like to know if it would be proper when writing my thanks to these relatives to say that I have a toaster and ask them if they will please exchange it for something else. My mother thinks it would be wrong to say anything about it and that I should just keep it. I think it's ridiculous to keep it when there are so many other things we can use in its place. What do you say about this?"

If it were bought in your own town and you could take it back to the store yourself that would be one thing, but to send it back to the giver and ask that it be exchanged for something else would not do at all. After all, toasters do wear out and you can surely find use for this one in time.

Velvet in April

Dear Mrs. Post: I am going to be married in April and would like to have two of my sisters take part in my wedding. These same two sisters took part in another sister's wedding in November. Their dresses were very pretty and also quite expensive. I would like them to wear these same dresses at my wedding, if possible, to save them the expense of buying new ones. Here is the problem, however. The bodice of both dresses is made of velvet; the skirt is net with a taffeta slip underneath. I was wondering if the velvet top would make them unsuitable for an April wedding.

Answer: Since your address is in the North, velvet—if of a light color—could very well be worn as late as April.

Out of Season

Dear Mrs. Post: Here it is February and I am still receiving mail with Christmas seals on the envelope. I have quite a few seals left over myself but always thought it was improper to use them except on Christmas cards. Will you please tell me if this is correct?

Answer: Although their use is properly limited to the Christmas season, their helpful purpose would excuse their later appearance.

The Mature Parent

'Preparation' Steals Childs's Experience in Real Wonder

By MRS. MURIEL LAWRENCE

A great American critic, Stuart Sherman, once said this about imagination: "Tranquility is restored only when . . . our lawless imagination yields to the sway of . . . the representative of reason."

The wise Greeks agreed with him. They symbolized imagination in a winged horse, beautiful, but so unruly that only the bravest man could bridle him and make him obedient.

This column is for a six-year-old boy's parents who make a practice of over-stimulating his beautiful, but unruly faculty of imagination.

For example, they recently learned that the circus was coming to their city. As John had never seen one, they bought tickets, eager to enjoy his reactions to it. Then they set themselves to "preparing" him for the great experience.

Every evening, John's father would tell him about the feats of dancing elephants, lion tamers and seals which juggle balls, and he would draw crayon pictures of clowns in baggy pants walking on stilts.

Suddenly inspired, his mother would cry, "But we've forgotten the trapeze performers, Bill!" And while she interrupted herself to remind John to drink his milk, she would describe how the aerialists would swing over his head in beautiful clothes that sparked like diamonds.

John did not enjoy the circus. He was too exhausted to react to it at all. The night before, he got no sleep and at breakfast, could keep no food in his stomach.

No reality he saw at the circus could give him joyous wonder. For as John had no reason by which to bridle his lawless imagination, it had already produced a circus for him with which no circus on earth could compete.

So if we are planning a first party, visit to the zoo, rodeo or circus —any new experience in real wonder—let's keep our "preparation" to the merest sketch of what's coming.

They will make fabulous stuff of practically everything we say, without any encouragement from us. What John made out of the tales of dancing elephants and flying people in diamond clothes, heaven only knows. We mortals can only understand why his poor stomach had to reject the reality as it approached.

I hope we see that we stole John's experience in real wonder from him. I hope we won't do it again. For it's just as unfair as though we ate his ice cream or opened his Christmas presents for him.

Soprano Soloist Will Sing at Both Brotherhood Services

MISS EDWINA DIVERS

Brotherhood Sunday will be observed this Sunday with union services between the Old Dutch Church and the Franklin Street AME Zion Church. The services, at 8:45 and 10:50 a. m., will be held at the Old Dutch Church, with messages delivered by the Rev. Sampson Greene, and the Rev. Arthur E. Oudemool, and with music rendered by the combined choirs with Edwina Divers, guest soloist.

Miss Divers, who has been soloist in several of the leading churches in New York, and is presently at the Riverside Church, has given recitals in New York, Birmingham, Ala., Jackson, Miss., Albany, and other musical centers. The New York Times reported of her singing: ". . . She has sympathy, sincerity and a nice sense of the beauty of a long flowing line." The New York Herald Tribune stated that "most of the practices that singers work so hard to master, such as coloring, breath-control, and well scaled dynamic emphasis, seem to belong to Miss Divers by nature."

This Sunday morning she will sing two solos, "Little David" and "Trampin'," at the early service. At the second service she will sing "Honor, Honor" and "Sometimes I Feel Like a Motherless Child" as her two solos, and will join the choirs in the R. Nathaniel Dett arrangement of "Somebody's Knocking at Your Door." The choirs will also sing "Let Us Break Bread Together," "Steal Away," and "Go Tell It on the Mountain." The musical program will be directed by Donald Romme, Minister of Music, and Mrs. William Rylance will be the organist.

Following the second service of the morning, the entire congregation and choirs are invited to a reception and coffee hour to be held in Bethany Hall to honor Miss Divers and exchange greetings.

BABSON on BUSINESS

Babson Park, Mass., Feb. 18—While so many forecasts for 1954 are discouraging, I give four more reasons why I cannot be so fearful as are many economic writers. Take a look at them and have faith in your country and your future.

In the first place, people have money to buy. I repeat what I have said before—"the top 50% of our families have readily convertible savings amounting to a staggering $97 billions." 95% of all families probably have more money in savings accounts than ever before. It is true that installment debts on cars, refrigerators, and television sets have increased during the past twelve months; but these are now being reduced. Moreover, money invested in these durables cannot be written off as "gone." Homes are always a good investment. So long as one is employed, money invested in a home may be as good a reserve as cash in a bank. In short, potential buying power never was greater.

Second, our swiftly rising population—with a record four million births in 1953—is creating a vast number of new wants that must be satisfied. Ten years from now we may have forty million more in our population than we did at the end of World War 2. Take all the wants and needs of one individual and multiply by forty million and you will get some idea of what a staggering impact the increase in population alone can have on our economy for some time to come, provided it is of good character. Population alone is not enough; people must have good habits, sound faith, and useful intelligence.

Liberalized Thinking

Third, the liberalizing of the thinking of our present administration should help hold our economy high. For example, it has reversed itself on its hard-money policy; credit has been eased. Tax relief for both the individual and business is already under way. This administration is prepared to go further with higher minimum wages, reasonable aid to the farmer, useful public works projects, and broader social security benefits.

Fourth, the millions of warning words and the current skepticism of the future may furnish a considerable element of psychological strength. There is a little question but what skepticism has kept many a businessman and consumer from overstepping with regard to future commitments. The pessimistic forecasts may themselves prevent real trouble.

Comparing 1954 With 1929

During the past few weeks I have been reading the newspapers and magazine articles published in 1928-1929, preceding the last depression. I find very few warnings. Herbert Hoover had just been elected President and he had chosen an able "businessman's" cabinet. In fact, directly after his election the stock market shot up 20 points. Nearly all the business and financial prophets were then bullish.

Hence, people were not then on their guard. Yet, they should have been warned before it was too late. If warning had been given in 1929 as it has now been given, the great 1930-33 declines in building, textiles, clothing, leather, and automobiles would not have been so severe.

Recall Your History

After every war, our country has had a letdown. This was true after World War I. Earlier, the same pattern had followed the Spanish-American War. An even more severe reaction set in after the Civil War. Yet, most economists say that it is now nearly ten years since World War II and we have had no readjustment of our continued prosperity.

But, is World War II at an end? Or, may we now be in World War III? What is the economic difference between a "hot war" and a "cold war"? I do not pretend to know all the answers, but I do ask these pertinent questions. After every period of inefficiency, waste, and unrighteousness, there must always be unemployment to punish us for our sins. But has this time come yet? Business and employment for the first half of 1954 could still be at a high level. So—take courage! The "boom" may not continue, but the future is still bright for families who will work hard and use any idle time to study and to build up physical and spiritual health.

Miss Adele Friedman Wed in New York To Lee J. Neuringer

Miss Adele Friedman, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Milton Friedman of 83 Andrew street, became the bride of Lee J. Neuringer, son of Mrs. Louis Neuringer of Brooklyn and the late Mr. Neuringer in a ceremony held Sunday, Jan. 10, at Congregation B'nai Jacob, Eastern Parkway, Brooklyn.

North's jump to six-no-trump may seem like a stab in the dark, but it is actually simple and logical if you use the point count. South's opening bid of one no-trump shows a count of 16 to 18 points. North has 17 points, and therefore knows that the combined count is 33 to 35 points.

Since you usually need 33 points for a small slam and about 37 points for a grand slam, it is clear that this hand will provide a good play for a small slam but probably not much play for a grand slam.

When West opens the ten of clubs, it is immediately apparent to South that the contract depends on the proper management of the diamond suit. How would you play this suit if you couldn't see the cards held by the defenders?

The actual declarer, a fine technician, knew that the correct play of the diamonds depended on how the hearts broke. After winning the first club trick, therefore, he immediately took three rounds of hearts. Since the suit broke 3-3, declarer could count nine tricks outside of the diamonds. This meant that he needed only three diamond tricks to make the slam.

South then adopted the best line of play to make three diamond tricks. He began by cashing both the ace and king of diamonds. When the queen fell, South had his three tricks ready-made. If the queen had not dropped, South would have led a third diamond towards dummy's jack. This would produce a third diamond trick if West had the queen or if the suit was divided 3-3.

The reason for cashing the top hearts first was to find out how many diamond tricks he needed. If the hearts had broken badly, South would have needed four diamond tricks. In that case he would have taken the king of diamonds and then finessed dummy's jack in the hope that West had three diamonds to the queen.

Respond Quicker to Sound

Most people respond quicker to sounds than sights, averaging 15 hundredths of a second to respond to sound and 20 hundredths of a second respond to lights, experiments indicate.

The population of the United States was 161,200,000 at the end of 1953.

CONSTIPATED?

"I can't afford to lose any time at work. But when I was constipated, I just couldn't work because no laxative gave me the relief I wanted.

"Then a friend told me about Sal Hepatica. So I took some the next time I woke up with that headachy, logy feeling due to constipation. And, let me tell you, it was just what I was looking for. Why I felt like my old self again within about an hour!"

Yes, take sparkling Sal Hepatica before breakfast and feel fine again . . . usually within an hour. Or, take it in the evening one-half hour before supper and feel fine again by bedtime! Sweetens sour stomach, too! So keep Sal Hepatica handy in your medicine chest.

DUPLICATE PRESENT

A letter from a recent bride tells me: "I have just received a belated wedding present from an out-of-town relative. It is an electric toaster, and the second one which I have received. The first one has already been put to use and, therefore, cannot be exchanged. I would like to know if it would be proper when writing my thanks to these relatives to say that I have a toaster and ask them if they will please exchange it for something else. My mother thinks it would be wrong to say anything about it and that I should just keep it. I think it's ridiculous to keep it when there are so many other things we can use in its place. What do you say about this?"

If it were bought in your own town and you could take it back to the store yourself that would be one thing, but to send it back to the giver and ask that it be exchanged for something else would not do at all. After all, toasters do wear out and you can surely find use for this one in time.

Velvet in April

Dear Mrs. Post: I am going to be married in April and would like to have two of my sisters take part in my wedding. These same two sisters took part in another sister's wedding in November. Their dresses were very pretty and also quite expensive. I would like them to wear these same dresses at my wedding, if possible, to save them the expense of buying new ones. Here is the problem, however. The bodice of both dresses is made of velvet; the skirt is net with a taffeta slip underneath. I was wondering if the velvet top would make them unsuitable for an April wedding.

Answer: Since your address is in the North, velvet—if of a light color—could very well be worn as late as April.

Out of Season

Dear Mrs. Post: Here it is February and I am still receiving mail with Christmas seals on the envelope. I have quite a few seals left over myself but always thought it was improper to use them except on Christmas cards. Will you please tell me if this is correct?

Answer: Although their use is properly limited to the Christmas season, their helpful purpose would excuse their later appearance.

'Preparation' Steals Childs's Experience in Real Wonder

By MRS. MURIEL LAWRENCE

A great American critic, Stuart Sherman, once said this about imagination: "Tranquility is restored only when . . . our lawless imagination yields to the sway of . . . the representative of reason."

The wise Greeks agreed with him. They symbolized imagination in a winged horse, beautiful, but so unruly that only the bravest man could bridle him and make him obedient.

This column is for a six-year-old boy's parents who make a practice of over-stimulating his beautiful, but unruly faculty of imagination.

For example, they recently learned that the circus was coming to their city. As John had never seen one, they bought tickets, eager to enjoy his reactions to it. Then they set themselves to "preparing" him for the great experience.

Every evening, John's father would tell him about the feats of dancing elephants, lion tamers and seals which juggle balls, and he would draw crayon pictures of clowns in baggy pants walking on stilts.

Suddenly inspired, his mother would cry, "But we've forgotten the trapeze performers, Bill!" And while she interrupted herself to remind John to drink his milk, she would describe how the aerialists would swing over his head in beautiful clothes that sparked like diamonds.

John did not enjoy the circus. He was too exhausted to react to it at all. The night before, he got no sleep and at breakfast, could keep no food in his stomach.

No reality he saw at the circus could give him joyous wonder. For as John had no reason by which to bridle his lawless imagination, it had already produced a circus for him with which no circus on earth could compete.

So if we are planning a first party, visit to the zoo, rodeo or circus —any new experience in real wonder—let's keep our "preparation" to the merest sketch of what's coming.

They will make fabulous stuff of practically everything we say, without any encouragement from us. What John made out of the tales of dancing elephants and flying people in diamond clothes, heaven only knows. We mortals can only understand why his poor stomach had to reject the reality as it approached.

I hope we see that we stole John's experience in real wonder from him. I hope we won't do it again. For it's just as unfair as though we ate his ice cream or opened his Christmas presents for him.

Soprano Soloist Will Sing at Both Brotherhood Services

MISS EDWINA DIVERS

Brotherhood Sunday will be observed this Sunday with union services between the Old Dutch Church and the Franklin Street AME Zion Church. The services, at 8:45 and 10:30 a. m., will be held at the Old Dutch Church, with messages delivered by the Rev. Sampson Greene, and the Rev. Arthur E. Oudemool, and with music rendered by the combined choirs with Edwina Divers, guest soloist.

Miss Divers, who has been soloist in several of the leading churches in New York, and is presently at the Riverside Church, has given recitals in New York, Birmingham, Ala., Jackson, Miss., Albany, and other musical centers. The New York Times reported of her singing: ". . . She has sympathy, sincerity and a nice sense of the beauty of a long flowing line." The New York Herald Tribune stated that "most of the practices that singers work so hard to master, such as coloring, breath-control, and well scaled dynamic emphasis, seem to belong to Miss Divers by nature."

This Sunday morning she will sing two solos, "Little David" and "Trampin'," at the early service. At the second service she will sing "Honor, Honor" and "Sometimes I Feel Like a Motherless Child" as her two solos, and will join the choirs in the R. Nathaniel Dett arrangement of "Somebody's Knocking at Your Door." The choirs will also sing "Let Us Break Bread Together," "Steal Away," and "Go Tell It on the Mountain." The musical program will be directed by Donald Romme, Minister of Music, and Mrs. William Rylance will be the organist.

Following the second service of the morning, the entire congregation and choirs are invited to a reception and coffee hour to be held in Bethany Hall to honor Miss Divers and exchange greetings.

BABSON on BUSINESS

Babson Park, Mass., Feb. 18—While so many forecasts for 1954 are discouraging, I give four more reasons why I cannot be so fearful as are many economic writers. Take a look at them and have faith in your country and your future.

In the first place, people have money to buy. I repeat what I have said before—"the top 50% of our families have readily convertible savings amounting to a staggering $97 billions." 95% of all families probably have more money in savings accounts than ever before. It is true that installment debts on cars, refrigerators, and television sets have increased during the past twelve months; but these are now being reduced. Moreover, money invested in these durables cannot be written off as "gone." Homes are always a good investment. So long as one is employed, money invested in a home may be as good a reserve as cash in a bank. In short, potential buying power never was greater.

Second, our swiftly rising population—with a record four million births in 1953—is creating a vast number of new wants that must be satisfied. Ten years from now we may have forty million more in our population than we did at the end of World War 2. Take all the wants and needs of one individual and multiply by forty million and you will get some idea of what a staggering impact the increase in population alone can have on our economy for some time to come, provided it is of good character. Population alone is not enough; people must have good habits, sound faith, and useful intelligence.

Liberalized Thinking

Third, the liberalizing of the thinking of our present administration should help hold our economy high. For example, it has reversed itself on its hard-money policy; credit has been eased. Tax relief for both the individual and business is already under way. This administration is prepared to go further with higher minimum wages, reasonable aid to the farmer, useful public works projects, and broader social security benefits.

Fourth, the millions of warning words and the current skepticism of the future may furnish a considerable element of psychological strength. There is a little question but what skepticism has kept many a businessman and consumer from overstepping with regard to future commitments. The pessimistic forecasts may themselves prevent real trouble.

During the past few weeks I have been reading the newspapers and magazine articles published in 1928-1929, preceding the last depression. I find very few warnings. Herbert Hoover had just been elected President and he had chosen an able "businessman's" cabinet. In fact, directly after his election the stock market shot up 20 points. Nearly all the business and financial prophets were then bullish.

Hence, people were not then on their guard. Yet, they should have been warned before it was too late. If warning had been given in 1929 as it has now been given, the great 1930-33 declines in building, textiles, clothing, leather, and automobiles would not have been so severe.

Recall Your History

After every war, our country has had a letdown. This was true after World War I. Earlier, the same pattern had followed the Spanish-American War. An even more severe reaction set in after the Civil War. Yet, most economists say that it is now nearly ten years since World War II and we have had no readjustment of our continued prosperity.

But, is World War II at an end? Or, may we now be in World War III? What is the economic difference between a "hot war" and a "cold war"? I do not pretend to know all the answers, but I do ask these pertinent questions. After every period of inefficiency, waste, and unrighteousness, there must always be unemployment to punish us for our sins. But has this time come yet? Business and employment for the first half of 1954 could still be at a high level. So—take courage! The "boom" may not continue, but the future is still bright for families who will work hard and use any idle time to study and to build up physical and spiritual health.

North's jump to six-no-trump may seem like a stab in the dark, but it is actually simple and logical if you use the point count. South's opening bid of one no-trump shows a count of 16 to 18 points. North has 17 points, and therefore knows that the combined count is 33 to 35 points.

Since you usually need 33 points for a small slam and about 37 points for a grand slam, it is clear that this hand will provide a good play for a small slam but probably not much play for a grand slam.

When West opens the ten of clubs, it is immediately apparent to South that the contract depends on the proper management of the diamond suit. How would you play this suit if you couldn't see the cards held by the defenders?

The actual declarer, a fine technician, knew that the correct play of the diamonds depended on how the hearts broke. After winning the first club trick, therefore, he immediately took three rounds of hearts. Since the suit broke 3-3, declarer could count nine tricks outside of the diamonds. This meant that he needed only three diamond tricks to make the slam.

South then adopted the best line of play to make three diamond tricks. He began by cashing both the ace and king of diamonds. When the queen fell, South had his three tricks ready-made. If the queen had not dropped, South would have led a third diamond towards dummy's jack. This would produce a third diamond trick if West had the queen or if the suit was divided 3-3.

The reason for cashing the top hearts first was to find out how many diamond tricks he needed. If the hearts had broken badly, South would have needed four diamond tricks. In that case he would have taken the king of diamonds and then finessed dummy's jack in the hope that West had three diamonds to the queen.

CONSTIPATED?

"I can't afford to lose any time at work. But when I was constipated, I just couldn't work because no laxative gave me the relief I wanted.

"Then a friend told me about Sal Hepatica. So I took some the next time I woke up with that headachy, logy feeling due to constipation. And, let me tell you, it was just what I was looking for. Why I felt like my old self again within about an hour!"

Yes, take sparkling Sal Hepatica before breakfast and feel fine again . . . usually within an hour. Or, take it in the evening one-half hour before supper and feel fine again by bedtime! Sweetens sour stomach, too! So keep Sal Hepatica handy in your medicine chest.

High School Resumes Bid for DUSO Pennant Against Port Jervis

Tri-Staters Due At Field House With Strong Five

Tonight's Schedule
Port Jervis at Kingston
Poughkeepsie at Middletown
Monticello at Fallsburgh
Newburgh at Liberty
Ellenville (bye)

For all intents and purposes, the DUSQ League basketball season starts all over again for Kingston High tonight at the Kate Walton field house.

Their 13-game winning streak shattered Tuesday in the Poughkeepsie bandbox, the Maroons face an improved Port Jervis quintet that reeled off three straight victories before Liberty upset it, 51-40 Tuesday.

From here on out it's all work and no fun for the Kiasmen. They can't afford to lose a game and face rough road tests with Newburgh Academy and Monticello. The other remaining contests on the regular season slate is a Feb. 26 clash with Catskill at the field house.

Poughkeepsie's triumph Tuesday set up a three-cornered battle for the championship which will be intensified if the Goldbacks beat Poughkeepsie and Kingston. That could create a three-way deadlock with the top contenders each having lost two sets.

Kingston played well enough to beat any DUSO team anywhere but at Poughkeepsie this week and the highly charged Maroons will be bearing down all the way against the tri-staters.

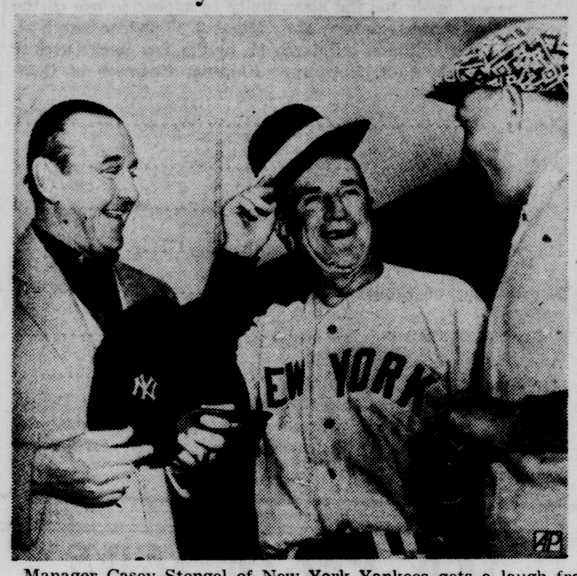

The locals won the first meeting between the clubs 65-43, on Jan. 15, breaking the game apart with a big third period in which they outscored the home team, 21-7, after leading 31-21 at halftime. Dick Bezemer and Skip Brodhead engineered that triumph with 24 and 19 points respectively.

Since then Kingston has developed another brilliant scorer in John Godwin and the Maroon's future hopes rest on the shooting of this powerful trio.

Port's two top operators are Dick Beams, a steady scoring forward and Jim Penczek, a sturdy guard.

Casey Has Some Fun

Referee and Judge Suspended After Controversial Call For Art Aragon Over Davey

Los Angeles, Feb. 19 (AP)—Controversial Art Aragon of Los Angeles held a decision over southpaw Chuck Davey today and two officials of the bout were under suspension as a result of the disputed decision.

Touching off an immediate roar of disbelief and disapproval from most of a turnaway crowd of 10,400 fans, Los Angeles' self-styled Golden Boy was awarded a split decision at the end of 10 rousing rounds at the Olympic Auditorium last night. The match was not televised.

Chairman Tony Entenza and Commissioners Everett Sanders and Norman Houston of the California Athletic Commission went into a hurried conference within a matter of minutes.

Soon after Sanders hustled down to Davey's dressing room and announced that the two officials who had voted for Aragon, Referee Mushy Callahan and Judge Joe Stone, had been suspended.

Called Worst Decision

"This is the worst decision I have ever seen in many years of attending fights," Sanders told Davey, newsmen and a room crammed with hangers-on.

Callahan, a former fighter and a veteran referee, scored the fight 56 points to 54 for Aragon. Stone scored it 55½-54½ for Aragon, under the California 11-point per round system.

Charlie Randolph, the other judge, called it for Davey, 58-52.

The Associated Press had it 56-54 for Davey, with the Michigan State College graduate winning six rounds, losing three and one even.

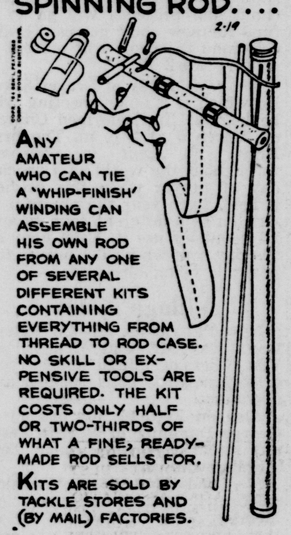

Aragon was a two-to-one betting favorite.

Sanders called for a hearing Feb. 24. He said it probably is impossible to reverse the decision, but he declared:

"We are going to cut out these bum decisions and the split decisions. We will not tolerate such a lack of uniformity."

Niagara Enters NIT Playoffs, Joining Duquesne, W. Kentucky

New York, Feb. 19 (AP)—The annual grabbing game between college basketball's big post season tournaments is on in earnest today with the National Invitation Tournament running up a 6-4 lead.

The national collegiate basketball championships gained some ground on the NIT yesterday, naming two teams to the one selected by the invitation group. The NCAA actually has an advantage, for 15 of its 24 berths go automatically to conference representatives. That confines the scrambling to its nine "at large" teams vs. the NIT's 12 teams.

The NIT reached the half-way point, naming Niagara immediately after the Purple Eagles put on a stylish display in whacking New York University 72-54 in Madison Square Garden.

Earlier in the day the NCAA announced that Oklahoma City would play Bradley at Peoria, Ill., March 9 in a first round game. The winner will meet the Big Seven champion, which draws a bye, in the second round. Colorado and Kansas currently are tied for the Big Seven lead.

Two in Top Ten

Yesterday's selections leave the NIT with two teams in the top ten of the latest Associated Press poll, two in the second ten and two unranked. The NCAA so far has one top tenner, one in the second ten and also two unranked.

Along with Niagara, the NIT has Duquesne, No. 1; Western Kentucky, No. 4; Wichita, No. 15, which trimmed St. Louis 79-73 last night; Dayton, No. 17, and Louisville.

The NCAA has Seattle, No. 7, Oklahoma City, No. 16, Bradley and Idaho State, champions of the Rocky Mountain Conference.

Kentucky, ranked just behind Duquesne, took another step toward the NCAA last night by turning back Tennessee 90-63 for its 20th victory without defeat. That makes the Wildcats 11-0 in the Southeastern Conference to Louisiana State's 9-0.

Hasty Road, favorite for the $139,600 Flamingo at Hialeah on Feb. 27, is named for a highway which bisects the Hasty House Farm near Toledo, Ohio.

Castellani 2-1 Over Durando

New York, Feb. 19 (AP)—Ernie Durando pits his vaunted right hand against the boxing skill of Rocky Castellani tonight and the boxer is a 2-1 favorite to win.

Castellani, the No. 1 middleweight contender from Cleveland, is risking a possible title shot in this third and "rubber" meeting with the power puncher from Bayonne, N. J.

They will have it out in a ten rounder in Madison Square Garden which will be broadcast (ABC) and telecast (NBC) coast to coast starting at 10 p. m., EST.

Jones Dairy Keglers Take Aim On '3500' in Heart Fund Tilt

Is the 3500 series within reach of Jones Dairy's powerful Hudson Valley League bowling combine?

The Dairymen hold the all-time Hudson Valley mark of 3414 and in Saturday's dramatic clash with Newburgh Tooheys with the HVBL lead at stake they will make their bid for the stratosphere.

The macth between the two tenpin powerhouses will be rolled as a benefit for the Heart Fund drive and pairs off several of the finest bowlers in the mid-Hudson area.

The Tooheys, leading the pack by a game and a half in a sensational race with Joneses and Poughkeepsie Cabs, have a 962.52 team average for 69 games.

Jones Dairy is the first 1000-average team in HVBL history with a 1001.21 mark for the same number of sets.

The Newburghers will bring to Kingston three topnotcher tossers in Wally Gerken (202.33), Nick Leoce (201.36), Tony Mack, all-time Hill City great, Bill Baker, Tommy Jones and veteran John Hopshe, who recently tossed a 745 series.

Ferraro Hitting 208

Assisting Ferraro in the Jones bid for their second HVBL title in succession are such worthies as Larry Weishaupt (200.39), Dick Howard (197.31), Harold Broskie (197.31) and Charlie Manfro (196.31).

How does Johnny Ferraro feel about the possibilities of a 3500 series Saturday night?

"I can't think of a better time or team to roll it against," he said today. "With a couple of breaks in tight spots we could have reached that total before. We'll give it a riffle Saturday night."

High School Resumes Bid for DUSO Pennant Against Port Jervis

Tonight's Schedule
Port Jervis at Kingston
Poughkeepsie at Middletown
Monticello at Fallsburgh
Newburgh at Liberty
Ellenville (bye)

For all intents and purposes, the DUSQ League basketball season starts all over again for Kingston High tonight at the Kate Walton field house.

Their 13-game winning streak shattered Tuesday in the Poughkeepsie bandbox, the Maroons face an improved Port Jervis quintet that reeled off three straight victories before Liberty upset it, 51-40 Tuesday.

From here on out it's all work and no fun for the Kiasmen. They can't afford to lose a game and face rough road tests with Newburgh Academy and Monticello. The other remaining contests on the regular season slate is a Feb. 26 clash with Catskill at the field house.

Poughkeepsie's triumph Tuesday set up a three-cornered battle for the championship which will be intensified if the Goldbacks beat Poughkeepsie and Kingston. That could create a three-way deadlock with the top contenders each having lost two sets.

Kingston played well enough to beat any DUSO team anywhere but at Poughkeepsie this week and the highly charged Maroons will be bearing down all the way against the tri-staters.

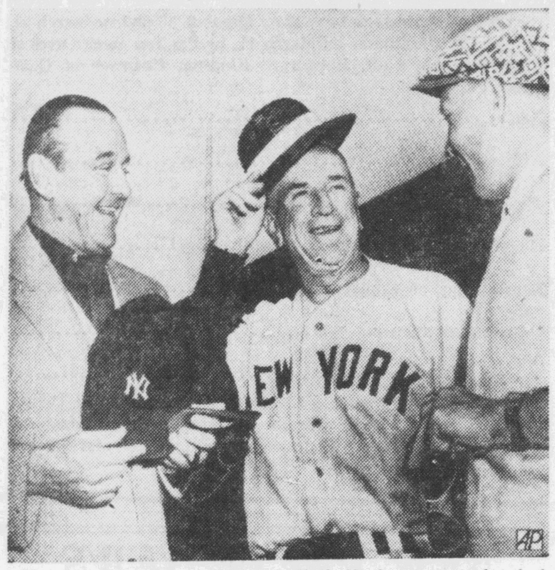

The locals won the first meeting between the clubs 65-43, on Jan. 15, breaking the game apart with a big third period in which they outscored the home team, 21-7, after leading 31-21 at halftime. Dick Bezemer and Skip Brodhead engineered that triumph with 24 and 19 points respectively.

Since then Kingston has developed another brilliant scorer in John Godwin and the Maroon's future hopes rest on the shooting of this powerful trio.

Port's two top operators are Dick Beams, a steady scoring forward and Jim Penczek, a sturdy guard.

Referee and Judge Suspended After Controversial Call For Art Aragon Over Davey

Los Angeles, Feb. 19 (AP)—Controversial Art Aragon of Los Angeles held a decision over southpaw Chuck Davey today and two officials of the bout were under suspension as a result of the disputed decision.

Touching off an immediate roar of disbelief and disapproval from most of a turnaway crowd of 10,400 fans, Los Angeles' self-styled Golden Boy was awarded a split decision at the end of 10 rousing rounds at the Olympic Auditorium last night. The match was not televised.

Chairman Tony Entenza and Commissioners Everett Sanders and Norman Houston of the California Athletic Commission went into a hurried conference within a matter of minutes.

Soon after Sanders hustled down to Davey's dressing room and announced that the two officials who had voted for Aragon, Referee Mushy Callahan and Judge Joe Stone, had been suspended.

Called Worst Decision

"This is the worst decision I have ever seen in many years of attending fights," Sanders told Davey, newsmen and a room crammed with hangers-on.

Callahan, a former fighter and a veteran referee, scored the fight 56 points to 54 for Aragon. Stone scored it 55½-54½ for Aragon, under the California 11-point per round system.

Charlie Randolph, the other judge, called it for Davey, 58-52.

The Associated Press had it 56-54 for Davey, with the Michigan State College graduate winning six rounds, losing three and one even.

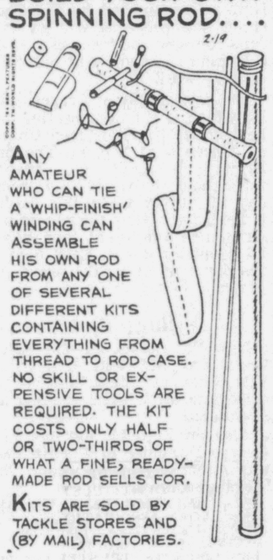

Aragon was a two-to-one betting favorite.

Sanders called for a hearing Feb. 24. He said it probably is impossible to reverse the decision, but he declared:

"We are going to cut out these bum decisions and the split decisions. We will not tolerate such a lack of uniformity."

Celtics Crack Laker Jinx

(By The Associated Press)

Nearly six "lean" years of frustration were ended for the Boston Celtics today, as they finally boasted an NBA victory over Minneapolis after 15 straight setbacks on the Lakers' home court.

The Celtics snapped the losing streak last night by downing the Western division leaders 105-92. They grabbed a 15 point lead in the second quarter and coasted in.

In other games, the New York Knickerbockers clung to their three game edge atop the Eastern division by whipping the Philadelphia Warriors 69-60 and the Syracuse Nationals trounced the Fort Wayne Pistons 91-77.

Topeka, Kan.—Dave Shade, 137½, Detroit, outpointed Bobby Bickle, 138½, Topeka, 10.

Niagara Enters NIT Playoffs, Joining Duquesne, W. Kentucky

New York, Feb. 19 (AP)—The annual grabbing game between college basketball's big post season tournaments is on in earnest today with the National Invitation Tournament running up a 6-4 lead.

The national collegiate basketball championships gained some ground on the NIT yesterday, naming two teams to the one selected by the invitation group. The NCAA actually has an advantage, for 15 of its 24 berths go automatically to conference representatives. That confines the scrambling to its nine "at large" teams vs. the NIT's 12 teams.

The NIT reached the half-way point, naming Niagara immediately after the Purple Eagles put on a stylish display in whacking New York University 72-54 in Madison Square Garden.

Earlier in the day the NCAA announced that Oklahoma City would play Bradley at Peoria, Ill., March 9 in a first round game. The winner will meet the Big Seven champion, which draws a bye, in the second round. Colorado and Kansas currently are tied for the Big Seven lead.

Two in Top Ten

Yesterday's selections leave the NIT with two teams in the top ten of the latest Associated Press poll, two in the second ten and two unranked. The NCAA so far has one top tenner, one in the second ten and also two unranked.

Along with Niagara, the NIT has Duquesne, No. 1; Western Kentucky, No. 4; Wichita, No. 15, which trimmed St. Louis 79-73 last night; Dayton, No. 17, and Louisville.

The NCAA has Seattle, No. 7, Oklahoma City, No. 16, Bradley and Idaho State, champions of the Rocky Mountain Conference.

Kentucky, ranked just behind Duquesne, took another step toward the NCAA last night by turning back Tennessee 90-63 for its 20th victory without defeat. That makes the Wildcats 11-0 in the Southeastern Conference to Louisiana State's 9-0.

Hasty Road, favorite for the $139,600 Flamingo at Hialeah on Feb. 27, is named for a highway which bisects the Hasty House Farm near Toledo, Ohio.

Castellani 2-1 Over Durando

New York, Feb. 19 (AP)—Ernie Durando pits his vaunted right hand against the boxing skill of Rocky Castellani tonight and the boxer is a 2-1 favorite to win.

Castellani, the No. 1 middleweight contender from Cleveland, is risking a possible title shot in this third and "rubber" meeting with the power puncher from Bayonne, N. J.

They will have it out in a ten rounder in Madison Square Garden which will be broadcast (ABC) and telecast (NBC) coast to coast starting at 10 p. m., EST.

Rhubarb might develop over choice of "neutral" court if Kingston and Poughkeepsie tie for the DUSO basketball crown. Sam Kalloch said to favor the NFA gym. Coach Kias of Kingston might hold out for a court outside the DUSO, maybe Goshen Central.

FLOTSAM AND JETSAM:

Coach George "Lanky" Masterson's comment after watching the Kingston - Poughkeepsie sizzler: "We (NFA) might not win the title, but we'll have a lot to say about who does." And the man's so right. George Palmateer's report of the game in the Poughkeepsie New Yorker was a masterpiece of objectivity. Albert E. Houghton of Schenectady, who was president of the Canadian-American League before it folded, has been named secretary-treasurer of the Little League Baseball, Inc. Houghton, a member of the Board since 1952 and prominently identified with Little League for the past five years, replaces Philip A. Benson of Glen Cove, who resigned in December. Houghton is presently on leave from his post as deputy controller of the U. S. Army Depot at Schenectady.

Houghton brings a wide background of baseball administrative experience to the Little League program. As president of the Can-Am circuit, he was recognized as one of the most able minor league executives. He was responsible for many reforms and helped organize the Umpires Advisory Committee for the National Association of Minor Leagues. The widely accepted umpires' farm system which produced such capable officials as Tom Gorman and Frank Dascoli of the National League staff, was an outgrowth of this committee's study.

THIS AND DATA:

John "Birdseye" Burns can't understand why his name didn't get into the bowling roundup. He said he rolled "100" on the nose and rested on his laurels, letting a sub take his place. He can't figure out how Ed Sohm made the headlines with a 592. It's much harder to roll 100 than 592, Burns insists. And any bowler will agree with him. Carl E. Stotz, commissioner and founder of Little League baseball has been cited by the American Veterans of World War 2 for the contribution of the Little League program to the welfare of the nation. This is quite in contrast with the blast against Little League made recently by the National Education Association. Proving the old adage that difference of opinions is what makes the world go around. Bill Brown, a Pawling, piscatorial expert, has developed a "cherry bobber" that will get a tryout by local fishermen during the shad run. It is the fluorescent lure that created such a sensation in the Northwest, where, according to reports, it has done a terrific job on migrating steelhead trout and big salmon during the spawning run. For years nobody out there used anything but fish eggs as bait, some successfully, others not. A few years ago the cherry bobber was introduced with such success that it is now used universally. The fish hit it consistently even when they won't touch fish eggs or other bait. What will it do on shad? The spring will tell the story.

Danny O'Connell, the new Milwaukee Brave second sacker, best pictured the dismal Pittsburgh situation. Informed of the swap taking him to the Braves, the Paterson, N. J. Irishman said hopefully: "They can't call it off, can they?" Joe Norris, one of the nation's greatest team bowlers, and the late Billy Knox of Philadelphia, first man to roll a perfect game in the American Bowling Congress championships were named to bowling's Hall of Fame last weekend. Of 47 votes cast by members of the Hall of Fame, ABC officials and bowling writers, Knox got 40, Norris 37. Runnerup to Norris in the "living candidates" group was Andy Varipapa of Hempstead, L. I., with 30 votes.

With the formation of the Ivy League freezing Army off the Penn football schedule, the Cadets definitely will invade the Southwest in 1956, with Texas A&M the probable opponent, Rice a possible alternate. Casey Stengel's winning formula in that strange doubletalk of his: "If you throw out a left-handed hitter, you can beat anybody. . . . Meaning, the middle men who make the double play on portside hitters insure pennants. Stick close to your TV set tonight. If the Castellani-Durando thing at Madison Square Garden tonight doesn't precipitate another scoring rhubarb it will be a miracle.

Canadiens and Leafs Tie for Second Place

(By The Associated Press)

The Montreal Canadiens were back in a second place tie with their arch rivals, the Toronto Maple Leafs, today. But the chances of Canada's National Hockey League clubs catching the leading Detroit Red Wings still appeared mighty slim.

The Canucks downed Detroit 4-2 last night, coming from behind with a pair of goals in each of the last two periods. Montreal and Toronto still are 10 points off the pace, however, with a litttle more than a month of play remaining.

Canadian Shoots Near-Record 61 In Texas Open

San Antonio, Tex., Feb. 19 (AP)—The so-called "unknowns" featuring Rudy Hovarth, Canadian with a wrestler's build but an easy touch with a golf club whose blazing 61 bested the field by a stroke, dominated the top paces as the $12,500 Texas Open moved into its second round.

Hovarth, stubby young man from Windsor, Ontario, made Brackenridge Park's par 71 a shambles yesterday in the first round and so did 90 other players in the greatest par-wrecking spree this ancient tournament ever saw.

The second round started with only a five-stroke difference from Horvath down to 11th place and with 18 golfers figuring in that spread. Among them were few of the "name" players on the winter tour and the leaders had quite a "foreign" look.

In a tie for sixth at 64 was Peter Thompson of Melbourne, Australia, and resting at 65 was Canadian Jerry Kesselring of Toronto.

Horvath was just one stroke over the all-time PGA record for 18 holes held by Al Brosch and Bill Nary, both shooting their 60 in Texas tournaments. The Canadian had an eagle in his round while Moore showed two, chipping in from 60 feet out for one of them. Moore missed a six-foot birdie putt by inches on eighteen or he would have tied Horvath.

Martin's Draft Status Spotlights Jerry Coleman

New York, Feb. 19 (AP) — The comeback of Jerry Coleman took on added significance for the New York Yankees today as the world champions were faced with the prospect of playing without Billy Martin, their star second baseman, for the next two seasons.

Coleman, who rejoined the Yankees last August after 16 months in the Marines, now figures to succeed his successor, particularly if he can regain the form which stamped him as one of the American League's best pivotmen.

Martin, the sparkplug in the 1953 World Series against Brooklyn, yesterday was notified by his Berkeley, Calif., draft board that his appeal of a 1-A classification has been turned down. He likely will be called up in March.

Billy, who claimed five dependents, said he wasn't certain whether he would again appeal.

Coleman, himself, is anxious to regain his old job. Already working out at St. Petersburg, Fla., in advance of the regular squad, Jerry is optimistic about his chances.

"All I know is I want to play every day," was the way he put it. "I can play second, short or third and I feel I can do a good job at any of those positions."

Duke's Lea Choice In Santa Anita

Arcadia, Calif., Feb. 19 (AP)—California's richest race for the 3-year-old division, the $100,000 Santa Anita Derby, comes off tomorrow with the familiar devil red and blue silks of Kentucky's Calumet Farm a threat to win the event for the third straight year.

Duke's Lea, a handsome bay son of Blenheim, is the big hope of Calumet's owner, Mrs. Gene Markey.

Zaharias Shares Lead With Three Old Pros

Miami Beach, Fla., Feb. 19 (AP)—The competition was rugged today as the country's best women professionals and a tough field of Amateurs teed off in the second 18-hole round of the $5,000 Serbin Invitational golf tournament.

Deadlocked in first place were four tough pros—Babe Zaharias, Betty Hicks, Patty Berg and Louise Suggs—and a formidable amateur, Vonnie Colby of Hollywood, Fla.

They shot 73s, one under women's par for the 6,282-yard Bayshore Municipal course, in yesterday's opening round.

Firearms Bill

February 19, 1954

Editor, The Freeman:

In my lifetime I have seen some crazy, foolish, bad and crackpot bills entered in the Legislature in Albany, but the one recently put in for enaction—Assembly Bill No. 793—is the worst one ever on record.

I do not know who introduced the bill but when the fellow who pays for his hunting license next fall starts out to do some hunting he is going to get the jolt of his life.

This bill would amend the town law permitting "first class towns" to prohibit the discharge of firearms within their territorial limits. Many of the towns cover extensive rural areas, entirely separate from the centers of population, comprising scores of farms and woodlots where hunting is carried on AND it would, of course, prevent even the land owner from shooting on his own property.

Under this contemplated law, a town, by prohibiting the discharge of firearms, could prohibit hunting as noted above, terminate organized target shooting, suppress the hunter-training and civilian markmanship, programs and even bar hunting on marshes and water.

Even the conscientious sportsman would be making an unintentional violation of this law—unknown to him at the time of his arrest.

The right to hunt would be seriously curtailed in the state as the hunter would not know where town lines are and would thereby make himself liable to arrest and fine.

So every one of you who like to hunt had better get busy at once and write your senator and assemblyman in Albany and protest in the strongest possible manner. Otherwise, there will be a lot of hunters who will regret that this small notice, I now am giving you, will be given you in vain.

Also write to the Speaker of the Assembly in Albany about this now. The time to act on this fool bill is now—don't wait until tomorrow for you may be too late.

Hendrick, who has been 26 years with the designing division of the water supply board, explained in detail the procedures used in controlling the composition and moisture content of earth used as fill in making the 2,500-foot long dam.

Also present as a guest at the meeting was Theodore R. Lee, counsel in charge of the Kingston office of the Board of Water Supply Law Department. Nine members of the Poughkeepsie Kiwanis Club attended as visitors.

Rhubarb might develop over choice of "neutral" court if Kingston and Poughkeepsie tie for the DUSO basketball crown. Sam Kalloch said to favor the NFA gym. Coach Kias of Kingston might hold out for a court outside the DUSO, maybe Goshen Central.

FLOTSAM AND JETSAM:

Coach George "Lanky" Masterson's comment after watching the Kingston - Poughkeepsie sizzler: "We (NFA) might not win the title, but we'll have a lot to say about who does." And the man's so right. George Palmateer's report of the game in the Poughkeepsie New Yorker was a masterpiece of objectivity. Albert E. Houghton of Schenectady, who was president of the Canadian-American League before it folded, has been named secretary-treasurer of the Little League Baseball, Inc. Houghton, a member of the Board since 1952 and prominently identified with Little League for the past five years, replaces Philip A. Benson of Glen Cove, who resigned in December. Houghton is presently on leave from his post as deputy controller of the U. S. Army Depot at Schenectady.

Houghton brings a wide background of baseball administrative experience to the Little League program. As president of the Can-Am circuit, he was recognized as one of the most able minor league executives. He was responsible for many reforms and helped organize the Umpires Advisory Committee for the National Association of Minor Leagues. The widely accepted umpires' farm system which produced such capable officials as Tom Gorman and Frank Dascoli of the National League staff, was an outgrowth of this committee's study.

THIS AND DATA:

John "Birdseye" Burns can't understand why his name didn't get into the bowling roundup. He said he rolled "100" on the nose and rested on his laurels, letting a sub take his place. He can't figure out how Ed Sohm made the headlines with a 592. It's much harder to roll 100 than 592, Burns insists. And any bowler will agree with him. Carl E. Stotz, commissioner and founder of Little League baseball has been cited by the American Veterans of World War 2 for the contribution of the Little League program to the welfare of the nation. This is quite in contrast with the blast against Little League made recently by the National Education Association. Proving the old adage that difference of opinions is what makes the world go around. Bill Brown, a Pawling, piscatorial expert, has developed a "cherry bobber" that will get a tryout by local fishermen during the shad run. It is the fluorescent lure that created such a sensation in the Northwest, where, according to reports, it has done a terrific job on migrating steelhead trout and big salmon during the spawning run. For years nobody out there used anything but fish eggs as bait, some successfully, others not. A few years ago the cherry bobber was introduced with such success that it is now used universally. The fish hit it consistently even when they won't touch fish eggs or other bait. What will it do on shad? The spring will tell the story.

Danny O'Connell, the new Milwaukee Brave second sacker, best pictured the dismal Pittsburgh situation. Informed of the swap taking him to the Braves, the Paterson, N. J. Irishman said hopefully: "They can't call it off, can they?" Joe Norris, one of the nation's greatest team bowlers, and the late Billy Knox of Philadelphia, first man to roll a perfect game in the American Bowling Congress championships were named to bowling's Hall of Fame last weekend. Of 47 votes cast by members of the Hall of Fame, ABC officials and bowling writers, Knox got 40, Norris 37. Runnerup to Norris in the "living candidates" group was Andy Varipapa of Hempstead, L. I., with 30 votes.

With the formation of the Ivy League freezing Army off the Penn football schedule, the Cadets definitely will invade the Southwest in 1956, with Texas A&M the probable opponent, Rice a possible alternate. Casey Stengel's winning formula in that strange doubletalk of his: "If you throw out a left-handed hitter, you can beat anybody. . . . Meaning, the middle men who make the double play on portside hitters insure pennants. Stick close to your TV set tonight. If the Castellani-Durando thing at Madison Square Garden tonight doesn't precipitate another scoring rhubarb it will be a miracle.

Canadiens and Leafs Tie for Second Place

(By The Associated Press)

The Montreal Canadiens were back in a second place tie with their arch rivals, the Toronto Maple Leafs, today. But the chances of Canada's National Hockey League clubs catching the leading Detroit Red Wings still appeared mighty slim.

The Canucks downed Detroit 4-2 last night, coming from behind with a pair of goals in each of the last two periods. Montreal and Toronto still are 10 points off the pace, however, with a litttle more than a month of play remaining.

Canadian Shoots Near-Record 61 In Texas Open

San Antonio, Tex., Feb. 19 (AP)—The so-called "unknowns" featuring Rudy Hovarth, Canadian with a wrestler's build but an easy touch with a golf club whose blazing 61 bested the field by a stroke, dominated the top paces as the $12,500 Texas Open moved into its second round.

Hovarth, stubby young man from Windsor, Ontario, made Brackenridge Park's par 71 a shambles yesterday in the first round and so did 90 other players in the greatest par-wrecking spree this ancient tournament ever saw.

The second round started with only a five-stroke difference from Horvath down to 11th place and with 18 golfers figuring in that spread. Among them were few of the "name" players on the winter tour and the leaders had quite a "foreign" look.

In a tie for sixth at 64 was Peter Thompson of Melbourne, Australia, and resting at 65 was Canadian Jerry Kesselring of Toronto.

Horvath was just one stroke over the all-time PGA record for 18 holes held by Al Brosch and Bill Nary, both shooting their 60 in Texas tournaments. The Canadian had an eagle in his round while Moore showed two, chipping in from 60 feet out for one of them. Moore missed a six-foot birdie putt by inches on eighteen or he would have tied Horvath.

Martin's Draft Status Spotlights Jerry Coleman

New York, Feb. 19 (AP) — The comeback of Jerry Coleman took on added significance for the New York Yankees today as the world champions were faced with the prospect of playing without Billy Martin, their star second baseman, for the next two seasons.

Coleman, who rejoined the Yankees last August after 16 months in the Marines, now figures to succeed his successor, particularly if he can regain the form which stamped him as one of the American League's best pivotmen.

Martin, the sparkplug in the 1953 World Series against Brooklyn, yesterday was notified by his Berkeley, Calif., draft board that his appeal of a 1-A classification has been turned down. He likely will be called up in March.

Billy, who claimed five dependents, said he wasn't certain whether he would again appeal.

Coleman, himself, is anxious to regain his old job. Already working out at St. Petersburg, Fla., in advance of the regular squad, Jerry is optimistic about his chances.

"All I know is I want to play every day," was the way he put it. "I can play second, short or third and I feel I can do a good job at any of those positions."

Duke's Lea Choice In Santa Anita

Arcadia, Calif., Feb. 19 (AP)—California's richest race for the 3-year-old division, the $100,000 Santa Anita Derby, comes off tomorrow with the familiar devil red and blue silks of Kentucky's Calumet Farm a threat to win the event for the third straight year.

Duke's Lea, a handsome bay son of Blenheim, is the big hope of Calumet's owner, Mrs. Gene Markey.

Zaharias Shares Lead With Three Old Pros

Miami Beach, Fla., Feb. 19 (AP)—The competition was rugged today as the country's best women professionals and a tough field of Amateurs teed off in the second 18-hole round of the $5,000 Serbin Invitational golf tournament.

Deadlocked in first place were four tough pros—Babe Zaharias, Betty Hicks, Patty Berg and Louise Suggs—and a formidable amateur, Vonnie Colby of Hollywood, Fla.

They shot 73s, one under women's par for the 6,282-yard Bayshore Municipal course, in yesterday's opening round.

Firearms Bill

Editor, The Freeman:

In my lifetime I have seen some crazy, foolish, bad and crackpot bills entered in the Legislature in Albany, but the one recently put in for enaction—Assembly Bill No. 793—is the worst one ever on record.

I do not know who introduced the bill but when the fellow who pays for his hunting license next fall starts out to do some hunting he is going to get the jolt of his life.

This bill would amend the town law permitting "first class towns" to prohibit the discharge of firearms within their territorial limits. Many of the towns cover extensive rural areas, entirely separate from the centers of population, comprising scores of farms and woodlots where hunting is carried on AND it would, of course, prevent even the land owner from shooting on his own property.

Under this contemplated law, a town, by prohibiting the discharge of firearms, could prohibit hunting as noted above, terminate organized target shooting, suppress the hunter-training and civilian markmanship, programs and even bar hunting on marshes and water.

Even the conscientious sportsman would be making an unintentional violation of this law—unknown to him at the time of his arrest.

The right to hunt would be seriously curtailed in the state as the hunter would not know where town lines are and would thereby make himself liable to arrest and fine.

So every one of you who like to hunt had better get busy at once and write your senator and assemblyman in Albany and protest in the strongest possible manner. Otherwise, there will be a lot of hunters who will regret that this small notice, I now am giving you, will be given you in vain.

Also write to the Speaker of the Assembly in Albany about this now. The time to act on this fool bill is now—don't wait until tomorrow for you may be too late.

Hendrick, who has been 26 years with the designing division of the water supply board, explained in detail the procedures used in controlling the composition and moisture content of earth used as fill in making the 2,500-foot long dam.

Also present as a guest at the meeting was Theodore R. Lee, counsel in charge of the Kingston office of the Board of Water Supply Law Department. Nine members of the Poughkeepsie Kiwanis Club attended as visitors.

Doctor Says Study Of Methods Held

Washington, Feb. 19 (AP)—A navy doctor said yesterday the heatstroke deaths of two marine officer candidates last summer has touched off a study of physical examination procedures to guard against similar tragedies in the future.

Cpt. Robert A. Bell told a House Armed Services subcommittee "we will have some advice from experts before the next hot season."

The officer was called by a group investigating circumstances of the deaths of William E. Malone Jr. of Pelham, N. Y., and Joseph J. Conwell of Greensburg, Pa., after training hikes at Quantico, Va., last July.

"We feel as badly as anyone else about this," said Bell.

Bell added that he believed the cases were "handled according to the best knowledge we had."

He testified that both men were declared "physically fit" for the 10-week training program when they checked into the base on July 9.

Following the death of Malone on July 22—two days after a 3-mile hike—Bell said an autopsy revealed the 22-year-old youth had an enlarged heart which hadn't been detected under routine examinations.

In the case of Conwell, Bell said, no autopsy was held in accordance with the youth's family wishes.

"It appears that certain individuals haven't the ability to meet stress conditions as well as average persons," he said.

29th Annual Washington Day Dinner at Old Dutch Church

Arthur Oudemool, pastor of the church; Clair Shaeffer, chairman of speaker's committee; Cameron Ralston, guest speaker; Maynard Mizel, president of Men's Club, and Herbert DeKay, vice president of the club. Speaker Warns Nation Spiritual Guideposts Must Be Restored

Warning that the "moral and spiritual fibre of the nation is rotting," Cameron Ralston, speaker at the Washington Day Dinner at the Old First Dutch Church Thursday night, called for the restoration of the "three landmarks" that guided the nation's first president: the decalogue, the golden rule, and the Constitution of the United States.

Ralston, now a professional lecturer who gained nation-wide notice as executive secretary of the Chicago Committee of One Hundred in its fight against gangsterism, had as his topic, "A Scotsman Looks at America."

The speaker was born in Paisley, Scotland, and came to this country in 1914.

He was amazed, he said, by the fact that while there are so many schools and colleges, churches of all faiths, service clubs and altruistic social agencies, still there is an increase in crime.

"I am concerned with the deterioration of democracy from within," he said.

Ralston asked for a return to the practices of economy and thrift such as shown by the Amish farmers near his home in York county, Pa., who "didn't have any Brannan to tell them what to grow and what not to grow."

He asked that proper respect be restored to the school room, and speaking of the teachers he said, "don't let those wonderful men and women down." He contended that the hardest job in education is that of teaching in the elementary grades.

The speaker noted a "tremendous aversion to work" in this country, stating that the aim of too many is for the "easy money and the big money."

Asking for a return to the practice of "thinking for ourselves," he stated that a "sense of direction is more important than a sense of speech," and decried the current trend toward "perverse, profane literature."

Suggesting that the home would be strengthened if we placed "woman back on her pedestal," he traced much of the evil in society to giving woman "the ballot, the barber shop and the bar." Mothers, he said, "are too busy running all around America today to rock the cradle."

Although the theme of Ralston's address was serious, he interspersed his talk with many humorous stories and incidents which drew much laughter from the capacity attendance of nearly 300.

Maynard Mizel, president of the Men's Club, which sponsored the dinner, welcomed the group. He pointed out that the Washington Day Dinner was a tradition in Kingston. It was founded in 1923 by the late Dr. Lucas Boeve, then pastor of the church, and continued annually except for two years during World War 2. Stuart Randall was general chairman of this year's dinner.

Clair S. Sheaffer, chairman of the speaker's committee, introduced Ralston. Edward DeWitt was ticket chairman, and G. Herbert DeKay, publicity chairman.

A turkey dinner was served under the direction of Women's Guild of the church.

Bills in Legislature

Albany, Feb. 19 (AP)—Construction of a 3-million-dollar state park at Old Forge for year-round use has been proposed in the legislature.

Sen. Walter Van Wiggeren, chairman of the Senate Conservation committee, introduced a measure that would allow the Whiteface Mountain Authority to develop the project.

The bill by the Herkimer Republican was among hundreds of measures that got in under the wire by Tuesday's deadline. Recording clerks in the Senate and the Assembly toiled to clear the bill jam. Legislation now may be submitted only by the Rules Committees of both Houses.

Other new proposals would broaden the statutes on absentee voting and shield personal income taxpayers against penalties for honest errors in figuring their returns.

Assemblyman Samuel Rabin, Queens Republican, submitted the bill to ease absentee voting requirements. It would authorize absentee ballots for voters who are ill, physically disabled, or out of the state on business.

A measure by Assemblyman Martin J. Knorr, Queens Republican, would provide in milk industry disputes affecting public health, that the governor shall call an inquiry board with power to halt any strike or lockout for 30 days.

Colao Will Receive Training in England

Sgt. Anthony Colao, son of Mr. and Mrs. Emanuel Colao, 157 Tammany street, who is now stationed with the 303rd Bombardment Wing at Davis-Montham Air Force Base, Tucson, Ariz., is expected to leave with this group next month for England to begin a 90-day training period. Sgt. Colao is married to the former Miss Joan Massa, this city.

Approximately 45 Boeing B-47s of the 303rd Wing will leave Arizona early next month for the overseas mobility training exercises at the USAF Base at Greenham Common, England. The 303rd is a strategic air command B-47 Stratojet Wing.

The deployment to England will be carried out over a period of several days with airlift support for personnel and cargo furnished aircraft of the MATS. The 600-mil-an-hour Stratojet will cover a distance of more than 4,500 miles from Arizona to England.

Promoted to Captain

Dr. Robert H. VanBuren, DDS, son of the late Mr. and Mrs. Huyler VanBuren, was promoted to the rank of captain in the U. S. Air Force, on February 5. He is stationed in Japan as dental surgeon with the 6110th Hospital Group. Dr. VanBuren was graduated with honors from Columbia University School of Oral and Dental Surgery in June, 1952, and immediately went on active duty with the Air Force. His present tour of duty in the Far East will be terminated in the near future at which time he expects to return to the United States.

Hand Now in Korea

Army Pvt. Samuel B. Hand, son of Mr. and Mrs. William Hand, Woodstock, recently arrived in Korea for duty with the 715th Transportation Truck Company. Hand is a truck driver in the company, which carries supplies and equipment from the railheads to units along the buffer zone. Before entering the army last June he was graduated from New York University where he was a member of Tau Epsilon Phi fraternity.

Adjustment Made

After selection of a jury in County Court an action for fraud and deceit brought by Louis Spinner and another against Gleason Tiffany and another, was adjusted. The action arose out of a contract to purchase property on the Rosendale road and alleged claims made as to availability of a water supply. Richter and Werbalowsky appeared for plaintiffs and John E. Egan for defendants.

As Pegler Sees It

I waited in the room where the wires came in. The operators had all gone out leaving the paper rolls still hitched to their typewriters. There were no teletypes then. To kill time, I batted out a lead:

"'Bangkok (Date). The King of Siam was assassinated here today.'

"Locke came along, we went to lunch, played a game of pool and started back to the office. At Fifth avenue and Smithfield street the newsboy was yelling: "Extra; Extra! The King of Siam assassinated!'

"There was our paper with an eight-col. line. I didn't tell even Locke what had happened. The office was busy digging up obit material and the AP was demanding where the story came from. There were riots in Bangkok and it was two days before anybody could get an official denial. I felt that the paper owed me a bonus for the scoop but never asked for it.

"My second murder was committed in the New York Press. I was head of the copy desk and also made up, putting Hank Wales (now of the Chicago Trib in Paris) in the slot when I went to the composing room. Frank Munsey would usually phone me on the deadline and insist that I read all the page 1 heads to him. Then he would rearrange them, just to make the paper look worse.

"Franz Joseph was very ill in Austria. A 2-col. obit was in type with a 2-col. head. Munsey called right on the deadline and I was a few minutes behind time. A make-up man whom I had told to 'fill up with anything' held out a couple of galleys. I told him to throw them in and away we went. The two galleys of course were the obit leading off with 'Emperor Franz Josef who died here today —'.

"I didn't get fired, probably because I got the story out of the next edition and no recent newspaper man would work for Munsey if he could tend bar anywhere else. However, I decided to jump and landed on the Herald under Dirty-shirt Burke, an ex-printer and, without doubt, one of the greatest M. E.'s the game has ever known. Read page proofs on every edition and never missed a press time."

The Franz Josef episode recalls a roaring reminscence of the late Gordon Mackay, of Philadelphia, who was in his many years everything from managing editor to press-agent for the fantastics of the hairy mounds of meat called wrestling shows. Mr. Mackay was no prig about alcoholic beverages himself and he attracted a sympathetic staff who normally would assay at least half a dozen black-eyes from bumping into doors.

There had been many trying errors.

One of the few page ads in a moribund morning paper had come out upside down and the client had quit. There had been a mixup of heads between a society item about a local belle and a schooner which was in drydock having her bottom scraped.

The climax came, however, when an office boy tossed Mr. Mackay's copy of the home edition on his desk at 2 a. m., and went whistling on his way.

Mr. Mackay bounded into the city room with an anguished bellow: "This has got to stop!"

"Somebody," he related, "had forgot to send down page one!"

Approximately 45 Boeing B-47s of the 303rd Wing will leave Arizona early next month for the overseas mobility training exercises at the USAF Base at Greenham Common, England. The 303rd is a strategic air command B-47 Stratojet Wing.

The deployment to England will be carried out over a period of several days with airlift support for personnel and cargo furnished aircraft of the MATS. The 600-mil-an-hour Stratojet will cover a distance of more than 4,500 miles from Arizona to England.

Promoted to Captain

Dr. Robert H. VanBuren, DDS, son of the late Mr. and Mrs. Huyler VanBuren, was promoted to the rank of captain in the U. S. Air Force, on February 5. He is stationed in Japan as dental surgeon with the 6110th Hospital Group. Dr. VanBuren was graduated with honors from Columbia University School of Oral and Dental Surgery in June, 1952, and immediately went on active duty with the Air Force. His present tour of duty in the Far East will be terminated in the near future at which time he expects to return to the United States.

Hand Now in Korea

Army Pvt. Samuel B. Hand, son of Mr. and Mrs. William Hand, Woodstock, recently arrived in Korea for duty with the 715th Transportation Truck Company. Hand is a truck driver in the company, which carries supplies and equipment from the railheads to units along the buffer zone. Before entering the army last June he was graduated from New York University where he was a member of Tau Epsilon Phi fraternity.

Adjustment Made

After selection of a jury in County Court an action for fraud and deceit brought by Louis Spinner and another against Gleason Tiffany and another, was adjusted. The action arose out of a contract to purchase property on the Rosendale road and alleged claims made as to availability of a water supply. Richter and Werbalowsky appeared for plaintiffs and John E. Egan for defendants.

As Pegler Sees It

I waited in the room where the wires came in. The operators had all gone out leaving the paper rolls still hitched to their typewriters. There were no teletypes then. To kill time, I batted out a lead:

"'Bangkok (Date). The King of Siam was assassinated here today.'

"Locke came along, we went to lunch, played a game of pool and started back to the office. At Fifth avenue and Smithfield street the newsboy was yelling: "Extra; Extra! The King of Siam assassinated!'

"There was our paper with an eight-col. line. I didn't tell even Locke what had happened. The office was busy digging up obit material and the AP was demanding where the story came from. There were riots in Bangkok and it was two days before anybody could get an official denial. I felt that the paper owed me a bonus for the scoop but never asked for it.

"My second murder was committed in the New York Press. I was head of the copy desk and also made up, putting Hank Wales (now of the Chicago Trib in Paris) in the slot when I went to the composing room. Frank Munsey would usually phone me on the deadline and insist that I read all the page 1 heads to him. Then he would rearrange them, just to make the paper look worse.

"Franz Joseph was very ill in Austria. A 2-col. obit was in type with a 2-col. head. Munsey called right on the deadline and I was a few minutes behind time. A make-up man whom I had told to 'fill up with anything' held out a couple of galleys. I told him to throw them in and away we went. The two galleys of course were the obit leading off with 'Emperor Franz Josef who died here today —'.

"I didn't get fired, probably because I got the story out of the next edition and no recent newspaper man would work for Munsey if he could tend bar anywhere else. However, I decided to jump and landed on the Herald under Dirty-shirt Burke, an ex-printer and, without doubt, one of the greatest M. E.'s the game has ever known. Read page proofs on every edition and never missed a press time."

The Franz Josef episode recalls a roaring reminscence of the late Gordon Mackay, of Philadelphia, who was in his many years everything from managing editor to press-agent for the fantastics of the hairy mounds of meat called wrestling shows. Mr. Mackay was no prig about alcoholic beverages himself and he attracted a sympathetic staff who normally would assay at least half a dozen blackeyes from bumping into doors.

There had been many trying errors.

One of the few page ads in a moribund morning paper had come out upside down and the client had quit. There had been a mixup of heads between a society item about a local belle and a schooner which was in drydock having her bottom scraped.

The climax came, however, when an office boy tossed Mr. Mackay's copy of the home edition on his desk at 2 a. m., and went whistling on his way.

Mr. Mackay bounded into the city room with an anguished bellow: "This has got to stop!"

Hasbrouck Vols Hold Annual Banquet Thursday

Sixty five members of Hasbrouck Engine Company No. 1, Inc., of Connelly, their wives and ladies of the Auxiliary attended the annual dinner Thursday night at the Yacht Club Restaurant on Abeel street, this city, after which there were speeches, entertainment and dancing.

Honored guest was John Vogt, oldest active member, who has been in the company more than 60 years, and recalled the days when the volunteers drew their old steamer to pump water for fires.

Good Fire Record

Chief Joseph L. Murphy took the occasion to compliment Hasbrouck Company for its fine record over the years, and complimented its fire prevention program, which he credited with saving the community from across the Rondout creek from experiencing any fires during the past year.

The chief, one of the active forces in mutual aid, said all volunteers in the county are rendering great service to their respective communities.

Bob Browning, local news commentator, a member of Hasbroucks, spoke in glowing terms of the Connelly fire fighters, punctuating his talk with humorous remarks.

Eckert Praises Volunteers

Edward Eckert, supervisor of the Town of Esopus, praised the engine company, and other volunteers from the area for their efforts to protect life and property.

Joseph Kelly, alderman-at-large of Kingston, also spoke, and Robert Scherer, recording secretary of the company acted as toastmaster. Peter Komosa was announcer for the entertainment program.

Introductions were given Chief Edward Maines of the Port Ewen Fire Department, a 25-year member of Hasbroucks, and William Maurer, formerly of Connelly, who is a past officer of the company.

Serving on the dinner committee were Frank Giles, chairman; Bruce Davis, Roger Meyer, John Alecca, Peter Komosa, Alfred Radel and Joseph Scherer.

Company Officers

Officers of the Ladies' Auxiliary: Mrs. G. Popowich, president; Mrs. B. Grosso, vice president; Mrs. H. Morrel, treasurer and Mrs. J. Sharot, secretary.

Music for dancing was by Pappy Deitz and his orchestra.

County Men Take Part in Annual Credit Meetings

Several Ulster county men took part at the joint Federal Land Bank of Springfield and stockholders meeting and Production Credit Association director's conference at the Hotel Kimball in Springfield, Mass., Feb. 16 and 17.

John L. Schoonmaker, Accord, president and director of the Farmers' Production Credit Association of Middletown, was among 13 Production Credit Association directors in the northeast who were honored at the banquet Tuesday night for 20 years service as directors. Schoonmaker was one of the original directors when the Middletown Production Credit Association was organized in 1934.

DuBois Is Named

During the two-day session, Fred H. DuBois, Jr. of New Paltz, vice-president and director of the Ulster National Farm Loan Association, was chosen as a member of the Land Bank Stockholders committee representing the Eastern New York and Long Island area of the First Farm Credit District. DuBois will serve on this committee for a one-year term. Tuesday afternoon, C. Chester DuMond, Jr., of Ulster Park, president and director of the Ulster National Farm Loan Association and member of the national committee of National Farm Loan Associations, took part in a four-member panel discussion on the subject, How Can Cooperative Farm Credit Better Serve Agriculture. A lively general discussion followed this panel presentation.

Nearly 400 farmer directors and secretary-treasurers from the Northeast attended the large meeting. Others attending from Ulster county were Michael Morello of New Paltz, director of the Ulster National Farm Loan Association and C. Kenneth Taber of Milton, secretary-treasurer.

Cities Opportunities

A highlight of the program was a talk by H. B. Munger, chairman of the newly-created Federal Farm Credit Board. Munger told of the activities of the new board and how it presented opportunities for greater farmer control and better credit service to the nation's farmers. Also a talk was given by Professor Van B. Hart of Cornell Uuniversity and first president of the Production Credit Corporation of Springfield. A report for the Land Bank was given by C. B. Hutchins, executive vice-president and for the Production Credit Corporation by V. A. Gilpatrick, executive vice-president.

This joint meeting was one of the largest farm credit meetings ever held in the Northeast and shows that farmers can successfully operate their own Credit Cooperatives in a business like manner and be of real service to the agricultural industry of the Northeast.

Marbletown Post Arranges Contest For School Essays

Marbletown Post 1512 voted at a meeting Thursday night to sponsor another American Legion essay contest this year for seventh and eighth grade pupils in schools of the Town of Marbletown.

Announcement of this was made today by Commander Mark Bryant, who noted that there were 34 entries last year from 40 eligible pupils in the town, who wrote on Americanism.

This year's subject is The Four Freedoms, Commander Bryant said, and advised that entry blanks would be available at the town schools in the near future.

"We arranged this contest at our local post," he said, "to give seventh and eighth graders a chance to write, because our high school students have an opportunity to compete in the Legion essay competition at Kingston High School."

Judges independent of the school system will pass on the essays, Commander Bryant advised, which are to be identified by numbers.

Alarm Sent Out For Man's Slayer

Union, N. J., Feb. 19 (AP)—A 13-state alarm was out today for one of three men charged with murder in connection with the slaying of Police Sgt. Clinton E. Bond during a dairy holdup last week.

Union county Prosecutor H. Russell Morss, Jr., identified the three men charged yesterday as Albert Wise, 23, of Roselle; a brother Harry Wise, 21, and Alfred E. Stokes, 21, of Elizabeth.

The Wise brothers were in custody and expected to be arraigned today, but Stokes was being sought by police.

Albert Wise and three other Negroes had been held since last weekend for questioning in connection with the slaying of the police sergeant. Two of the others —Reginald Stewart, 29, and Jesse Edwards, 32, both of Newark, were booked as material witnesses last night.

The third, Jerome Stevens, 24, Newark, was released after being cleared of any part in the killing.

Bond, married and the father of two children, was shot down last Friday in trying to halt three men who held up the Tuscan Dairy, Farms, Inc., for $3,150.

There were nearly four million births in the United States in 1953.

Hasbrouck Vols Hold Annual Banquet Thursday

Sixty five members of Hasbrouck Engine Company No. 1, Inc., of Connelly, their wives and ladies of the Auxiliary attended the annual dinner Thursday night at the Yacht Club Restaurant on Abeel street, this city, after which there were speeches, entertainment and dancing.

Honored guest was John Vogt, oldest active member, who has been in the company more than 60 years, and recalled the days when the volunteers drew their old steamer to pump water for fires.

Good Fire Record

Chief Joseph L. Murphy took the occasion to compliment Hasbrouck Company for its fine record over the years, and complimented its fire prevention program, which he credited with saving the community from across the Rondout creek from experiencing any fires during the past year.

The chief, one of the active forces in mutual aid, said all volunteers in the county are rendering great service to their respective communities.

Bob Browning, local news commentator, a member of Hasbroucks, spoke in glowing terms of the Connelly fire fighters, punctuating his talk with humorous remarks.

Eckert Praises Volunteers

Edward Eckert, supervisor of the Town of Esopus, praised the engine company, and other volunteers from the area for their efforts to protect life and property.

Joseph Kelly, alderman-at-large of Kingston, also spoke, and Robert Scherer, recording secretary of the company acted as toastmaster. Peter Komosa was announcer for the entertainment program.

Introductions were given Chief Edward Maines of the Port Ewen Fire Department, a 25-year member of Hasbroucks, and William Maurer, formerly of Connelly, who is a past officer of the company.

Serving on the dinner committee were Frank Giles, chairman; Bruce Davis, Roger Meyer, John Alecca, Peter Komosa, Alfred Radel and Joseph Scherer.

Company Officers

Officers of the Ladies' Auxiliary: Mrs. G. Popowich, president; Mrs. B. Grosso, vice president; Mrs. H. Morrel, treasurer and Mrs. J. Sharot, secretary.

Music for dancing was by Pappy Deitz and his orchestra.

County Men Take Part in Annual Credit Meetings

Several Ulster county men took part at the joint Federal Land Bank of Springfield and stockholders meeting and Production Credit Association director's conference at the Hotel Kimball in Springfield, Mass., Feb. 16 and 17.

John L. Schoonmaker, Accord, president and director of the Farmers' Production Credit Association of Middletown, was among 13 Production Credit Association directors in the northeast who were honored at the banquet Tuesday night for 20 years service as directors. Schoonmaker was one of the original directors when the Middletown Production Credit Association was organized in 1934.

DuBois Is Named

During the two-day session, Fred H. DuBois, Jr. of New Paltz, vice-president and director of the Ulster National Farm Loan Association, was chosen as a member of the Land Bank Stockholders committee representing the Eastern New York and Long Island area of the First Farm Credit District. DuBois will serve on this committee for a one-year term. Tuesday afternoon, C. Chester DuMond, Jr., of Ulster Park, president and director of the Ulster National Farm Loan Association and member of the national committee of National Farm Loan Associations, took part in a four-member panel discussion on the subject, How Can Cooperative Farm Credit Better Serve Agriculture. A lively general discussion followed this panel presentation.

Nearly 400 farmer directors and secretary-treasurers from the Northeast attended the large meeting. Others attending from Ulster county were Michael Morillo of New Paltz, director of the Ulster National Farm Loan Association and C. Kenneth Taber of Milton, secretary-treasurer.

Cities Opportunities

A highlight of the program was a talk by H. B. Munger, chairman of the newly-created Federal Farm Credit Board. Munger told of the activities of the new board and how it presented opportunities for greater farmer control and better credit service to the nation's farmers. Also a talk was given by Professor Van B. Hart of Cornell Uuniversity and first president of the Production Credit Corporation of Springfield. A report for the Land Bank was given by C. B. Hutchins, executive vice-president and for the Production Credit Corporation by V. A. Gilpatrick, executive vice-president.

This joint meeting was one of the largest farm credit meetings ever held in the Northeast and shows that farmers can successfully operate their own Credit Cooperatives in a business like manner and be of real service to the agricultural industry of the Northeast.

BEAUTY

Something delightful to the eye might be termed as being beautiful. The word beauty, though, is derived from beau—or someone suitable to be escorted.

Marbletown Post Arranges Contest For School Essays

Marbletown Post 1512 voted at a meeting Thursday night to sponsor another American Legion essay contest this year for seventh and eighth grade pupils in schools of the Town of Marbletown.

Announcement of this was made today by Commander Mark Bryant, who noted that there were 34 entries last year from 40 eligible pupils in the town, who wrote on Americanism.

This year's subject is The Four Freedoms, Commander Bryant said, and advised that entry blanks would be available at the town schools in the near future.

"We arranged this contest at our local post," he said, "to give seventh and eighth graders a chance to write, because our high school students have an opportunity to compete in the Legion essay competition at Kingston High School."

Judges independent of the school system will pass on the essays, Commander Bryant advised, which are to be identified by numbers.

12-Year Cycles

Several Oriental countries name their years in 12-year cycles starting with the Year of the Rat followed by the Years of the Ox, Tiger, Rabbit, Dragon, Snake, Horse, Shep, Monkey, Fowl, Dog and Pig.

Alarm Sent Out For Man's Slayer

Union, N. J., Feb. 19 (AP)—A 13-state alarm was out today for one of three men charged with murder in connection with the slaying of Police Sgt. Clinton E. Bond during a dairy holdup last week.

Union county Prosecutor H. Russell Morss, Jr., identified the three men charged yesterday as Albert Wise, 23, of Roselle; a brother Harry Wise, 21, and Alfred E. Stokes, 21, of Elizabeth.

The Wise brothers were in custody and expected to be arraigned today, but Stokes was being sought by police.

Albert Wise and three other Negroes had been held since last weekend for questioning in connection with the slaying of the police sergeant. Two of the others—Reginald Stewart, 29, and Jesse Edwards, 32, both of Newark, were booked as material witnesses last night.

The third, Jerome Stevens, 24, Newark, was released after being cleared of any part in the killing.

Bond, married and the father of two children, was shot down last Friday in trying to halt three men who held up the Tuscan Dairy, Farms, Inc., for $3,150.

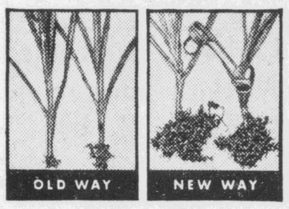

There were nearly four million births in the United States in 1953.
